MARION L. BURTON

Music by H. DENNIS O'NEIL

Ah, High School Days! so bright and gay,
But soon a golden dream!
The little battles fought today
Will then in brightness gleam!
At this glad time our memories dwell
On all the past that pleased us well.
The ties that bind us, loosed must be;
For school days over, this we see,
That wandering path and devious way
Will lead the closest friends astray—
That wandering path and devious way
Will lead the closest friends astray.

Oh happy days! so pleasant made
In paths we heedless trod
Where we so happily did play,
So earnestly did plod!
When teachers and our schoolmates dear
Again shall meet together here,
When others shall to them be friends,
May all the battles each day sends
Be bravely fought, be bravely won,
Till golden dream 's again begun—
Be bravely fought, be bravely won,
Till golden dream 's again begun.
