WORDS BY MARY M'R. FARNHAM.

MUSIC BY ALFRED VEAZIE BLISS.

Teachers, friends, beloved classmates,
Now our glad school days are done;
But our course o'er life's broad waters,
Is indeed but just begun.

We have spent in toil together,
Four long happy, blithesome years,
Not one here can think of parting,
Without tender, sorrowing tears.

And whatever lands we traverse,
While the light of life shall shine,
Shall our thoughts for e'er returning,
Seek with pleasure this sweet time.

May our lives now just beginning,
Be as pure as radiant light,
And our hearts with love o'erflowing,
Guide us ever in the right.

When this course of life is over,
When for us our Lord shall send,
May we find of peace and glory,
"The beginning, not the end."
