CLASS ODE.

Words by NELLIE L. WHITE. Music by ORMAN B. HUMPHREY.

As classmates, we are gathered here
To sing our parting song,
For now we break the mystic band
That's held our hearts so long;
For in the past we've shared our joys,
Together with our pain;
But now alone we tread the path
Across life's varied plain.

From hence we walk in separate lines,
With hopes of lasting joy;
New duties will our thoughts engage,
New tasks our hands employ.
And if we ever faithful be
And move in virtue's way,
We'll meet upon that happy shore
Where shines eternal day.

Now as we sing our last farewell
To friends and teachers dear,
The saddening heart gives forth a sigh,
The anxious eye a tear;
And as we mark our future course
O'er life's uncertain sea,
Oh! Spirit of dear "Eighty-six,"
Our guardian angel be.

BENEDICTION.
