Student Councils—Awake!

The Bangor High School Student Council of 1973 has come out of its closet. Too often students consider their student government to be alien from their wants and needs. But this year we have tried to close the gap between students and their chosen representatives.

With the powers delegated to a student council, the group cannot sit back, relax, and take the year as it comes. The council has a responsibility to search out the problem areas and solve them. Failure to accomplish this is unforgivable!

Hopefully, closer contact with the student body will help us to provide the leadership and action necessary to satisfy their demands. But closer contact with you is only possible through your cooperation with the representatives. They cannot provide adequate governing without your help. Become involved in extracurricular activities and see how you benefit from it. Not only in high school is this helpful toward making a whole person, but you will soon be voters and responsible for getting involved in our country's government. Only then can you be well represented.

If necessary, fight "city hall" until you have what you think is right. They'll love you for it! "Remember the parking lot!"

Peter Parker

Student Council President

A.F.S.

The American Field Service this year brought to a very fortunate Bangor High School the willingly shared wits, personalities, and understanding of Franziska Gerster from Switzerland and Tamaki Chekai of Japan. Because of the desire to give as much to our two foreign friends as they gave to us, the club strove to involve a larger portion of the student body in the far-reaching A.F.S. experience. There was a new-improved Penny Day, brought with funsome and truly different gimmicks, once or twice a month. And, we received much appreciated assistance from the generosity of the Student Council, Senior Class Council, and student body as a whole. A.F.S. enjoyed a rewarding year, a year of sharing. We thank you Franziska and Tamaki—for you.

Ram Band

This year's band is one of the largest and best in its history. Fun, work, and participation form the core of our functioning band. After a very successful football season in which the band performed half time shows at all of the home and away games, they turned their attention to concert music and boosting spirit at the home basketball games.

Being a band member is not only a chance for extra-curricular activity and getting together with your friends, but is also considered an academic course for which one receives a full credit each year.

R.O.T.C.

Success has marked the first year of a completely voluntary JROTC program. Enthusiasm is the trademark of all of the brigade activities, both in and out of class.

The Stetson Rifles are continuing their growth, both in numbers and skill. Their drill is a fine example of what concentration and work can do.

The work of the Stetsonettes is also progressing, with fine participation and a high degree of precision.

Special activities, such as campouts, are being stepped up, with trips more frequent and a greater number of cadets participating.

The Honor Guard is continuing in their fine tradition of performance at military funerals in the area. This group is the only active military funeral escort in the state of Maine.

For the first time in its long history at Bangor High School, girls are now permitted to enroll in JROTC and many have taken this opportunity. Most have shown a genuine interest in the program and have proven to be a worthy asset. A smart uniform for girls will be available in school year 1973-1974.

The Army Junior ROTC curriculum has been developed in response to changing educational philosophies and concepts. The curriculum is designed to support the JROTC objectives which are to develop in each student: Good citizenship, self-reliance, leadership, responsiveness to constituted authority, a knowledge of basic military skills, an appreciation of the role of the U.S. Army in support of national objectives, and the ability to communicate effectively both orally and in writing. The JROTC program is an excellent vehicle for demonstrating practical applications of leadership and citizenship.

Girl's Basketball

A high-contrast, black and white graphic featuring two hands. The hands are rendered in a stark, almost stencil-like style, with the palms and fingers appearing as bright white shapes against a solid black background. The hands are positioned as if they are about to clasp or are in the process of shaking. The lighting is dramatic, creating deep shadows and bright highlights that emphasize the contours of the hands. The overall composition is minimalist and powerful.

FACULTY

Business

The Business Department offers all of its courses on an elective basis. Students may elect to take courses as their personal interests dictate, or they may be business majors taking the whole gamut of the business courses. The basic philosophy of the Business Education Department is to offer training for immediate employment after graduation. The business courses help to develop initiative, self-discipline, good working habits, good attitudes, and proper skills that are necessary in both the business world and everyday living.

Library

This year the library has undergone several policy changes. Students are permitted to come to the library any time they do not have a class. Perhaps the greatest step forward is that there are no more fines on overdue books. Books now have a longer time for circulation. The art collection is growing and is on display at all times. Micro-film and magazines are easily available besides the wide and varied number of books. Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. Brown are ready and willing to help students in their continuous pursuit for cultural and intellectual advancement.

English

Mr. Woodcock

Mr. MacDonald

The English program this year represents a compromise between the radical departure from traditional norms that characterized the program three years ago.

Meeting their English classes for three forty-five minute periods a week in regular class sessions and in two additional lab sessions, the teachers discovered that much could be accomplished that had previously been impossible. The new program insured that the English teachers would be dealing only with their own students.

Morale has been high this year. Teachers and students both agree that this year's compromise is better than anything tried before.

Science

The Science Department has undergone some interesting changes, notably in Chemistry and Biology II. Under a Title III "mini-grant" much work has been done with 35mm slides and audio tapes to supplement our non-technical Chemistry program. We meet our students in one Large and one Small Group each week and have introduced a Chemistry II course.

Biology II students spend the fall and spring quarters working in Marine Biology. Six field trips are scheduled each year to explore different marine environments. We have worked with Mr. Ervin, Environment Specialist, in setting up a program to study the insect life of the Kenduskeag. Since our enrollment is increasing, we must be doing something right.

WE INVITE YOU ALL TO COME TAKE A COURSE IN SCIENCE; WHERE THE ACTION IS!

Courses in industrial arts are offered on an elective basis for both boys and girls. These courses can "broaden your horizons and provide a foundation for specific occupational and educational opportunities." Courses range from drafting to printing to aviation and everything in between. Many students build furniture for their homes in the wood shop. Also popular is the automobile shop, where auto repair and mechanics are discussed and practiced. Students are realizing that skill in creating and implementing their own environment is an important part of daily living.

Foreign Languages

The varied offerings of foreign languages span the globe. Teachers are bilingual, or bicultural in background, or have lived on other continents. This diversity results in languages being taught as a dynamic means of communication.

Language study opens doors. New vistas of learning are made available to the student. "El espanol" makes Central and South America more meaningful. "Das Deutsch" creates a gateway to Germany. "Le Francais" acquaints the student with the French culture and Latin enables one to learn of the "grandeur that was Rome."

This year, French students will again relive a BHS tradition—the trip to Quebec. We would like to wish them a "Bon Voyage."

Home Economics

"Definitely individualized" is the word from the Home Economics Department this year. The wide variety of subjects taught are practical and worthwhile for both boys and girls. Classes in contemporary clothing and textiles give the student a chance to be creative while learning about fabrics. Projects are arranged according to ability and experience.

Mrs. Mahaney

Foods and Nutrition encourages good consumer practices, planning meals, and self-evaluation. Many prepare complete dinners and entertain their company as part of the course. Students in Housing, Marriage and Family, and Human Growth and Development have the opportunity for field trips into the community to go along with their studies. The newest course, Personal Awareness, is designed to construct a self-image of confidence and poise.

Miss Nolan

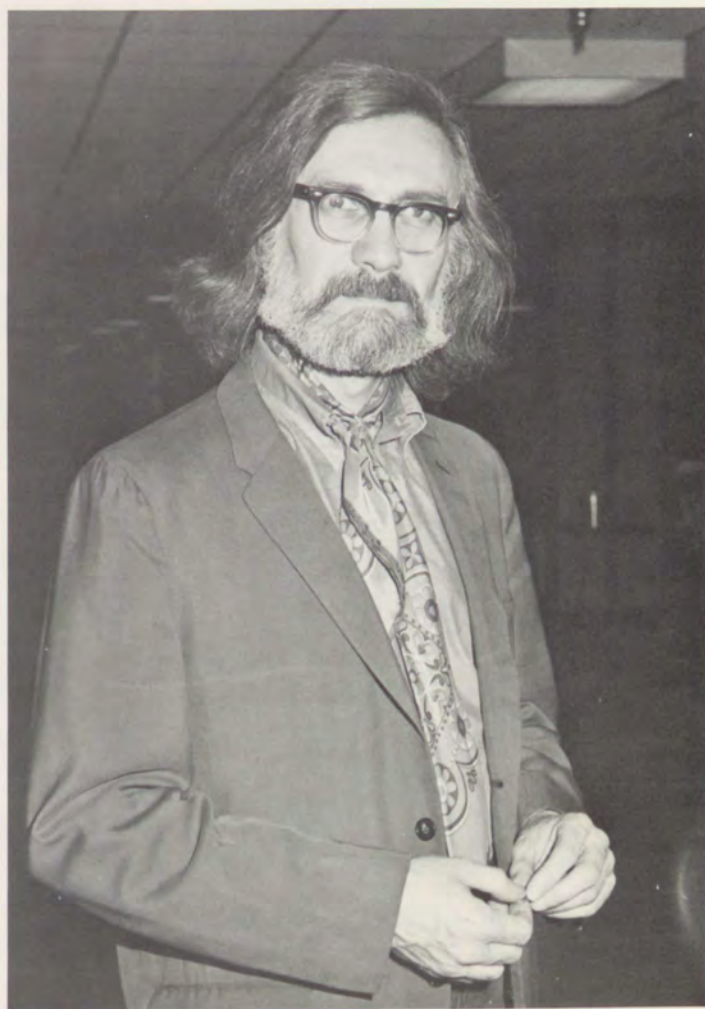

Fine Arts

Creativity is the key word in the Fine Arts Department. Besides providing a safe, secure sanctuary from the mad world outside, this department continues it's ever popular courses in art, speech and interpretation, theater, and music. The congenial staff are ready to bring out the best of the talented students of BHS.

Math Department

The Math Department strives for individualism, through independent study by each student. Being a very personal subject, fit to the students needs, tests may be taken when he feels he is ready after completing the chapter. Tapes, lectures, and other materials are available anytime, thanks to the enthusiastic and ambitious teachers: Students are allowed to complete their courses in different time periods, depending on the student, the type of course, and the level of achievement the student hopes to achieve. Contact between the faculty and the students is increased through the mods of Math Lab without lectures.

Physical Education

The Health, Fitness, and Recreation program offers the student a variety of activities from which to choose. Senior students spend a semester studying several community-related health problems through various group and individual projects. In physical education there is a strong emphasis on independent study and recreational activities. Community facilities are utilized for such activities as bowling, golf, swimming, and ice skating. Two new offerings, independent study and student involvement in elementary physical education, permit students to receive credit for activities carried on outside the regular school program. Students and teachers alike enjoy the variety of co-educational, recreational, and team sports which are offered on a student elected basis.

The Department of Vocational Work Experience is continuing its program designed to aid students in entering the world of work.

Academic subjects, such as Career Education, Job Orientation and Social Studies emphasize positive attitudes and work habits that would aid in a successful career. Communication skills, replacing the traditional English requirement seeks to enhance the student's self image, thus making him aware of the value of his ideas, opinions, and feelings. Class discussions and role playing are utilized to aid the student's expression of self.

Special Education

Mr. Crocker

The Job Exposure Training Program is designed for less academically inclined students who will be entering the world of work directly after leaving high school.

The program consists of basic academic training at the high school, learning practical living skills at a house located at Capehart Housing Development and job exposure and training at over sixty community work stations. The teachers are Mr. Barry Crocker and Mr. Herbert Morang.

Guidance

Mr. Klain

You may ask, "what can the Guidance Department do for me?" Besides being a place to find someone with a sympathetic ear, the Guidance Department provides a number of services. The library facilities consisting of catalogues, college directories, and occupational information are easily accessible. Guidance also is here to help students with their educational, vocational, and personal development. The services are not intended to guide or direct, but rather to offer a wider range of choices through which it is hoped an intelligent decision will be made. The Guidance Department has been experimenting with the teacher-advisor concept in hopes of relieving the burden of the extensive guidance services available.

Society expects its young adults to provide this unsure old World with new and exciting ideas and imagination. But!! Class of 1973, don't expect this unsure old society to take kindly to your trying to put these ideas into action. You'll have a fight on your hands every time you try to improve our lot. Society will buck you every step of the way.

However, as my old grandpappy once said, "If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen." I believe you adults of the Class of 1973 CAN stand the heat and NOBODY is going to get you out of the kitchen.

This year brought some new faces, eager to take their places at Bangor High School. As the underclassmen, we did our utmost to have a year full of activities such as dances, caroling, ice skating, a ski trip, and perhaps a concert. Together, Nancy Quinn, President; Heather Hallsey, Vice President; Jee-Jee Diamond, Secretary; and Priscilla Clapp, Treasurer, and the ten representatives making up the Sophomore Class Council, did their best to make the first year at Bangor High stand out in the minds of all Sophomores. Power to the Class of '75!

Juniors

A lot has been said about "apathy" at Bangor High. It is not what I would say is a most pleasing topic to discuss, but it is one that cannot be ignored. For those who feel they must complain, the Junior Class Council has taken upon itself the task of trying to do something about the situation. Apathy begins within the student himself, and the only way to solve this problem is to get that student interested in his school and friends. This year, the Junior Class Council has a great deal of activities planned such as Winter Carnival, thus getting more students involved and hopefully erasing this so-called "apathy" from our school. We have a fine council this year and a lot is being accomplished.

You're about to take a giant step forward into your future. We think we can make it the bright one you want it to be at New England Telephone. With a job that's every bit as big as your ambition. You see, we need people. With all kinds of talents. And especially, people who really want to get going with their future. And want to be rewarded with automatic raises. If you want a job and a future that's tailored to your talent... along with unusually generous fringe benefits, stop in and see your guidance counselor. Ask when and where you can apply for an interview with the people who want to make your future as happy as you want it to be.
