Breaking Away

A Breakdown of What's Inside

12

Icebreakers

Relive some of your best — and worst — memories and get acquainted with the Oracle.

16

The Back Breakers

Yes, the faculty does sop up prime time with assignments — but they help shape the individual, too.

36

Breaking the Mold

Today's seniors and underclassmen are an exciting, diverse, and successful group.

More and more students are finding that spare time can be productive and rewarding in BHS's activities.

122

The Tie-Breakers

Varsity and JV Sports are becoming increasingly popular — as well as increasingly successful.

Breaking Away

A frank look at the men and women who, along with knowledge, are gaining independence.

Spirited Spirit Week

A full-fledged war marked the first official day of spirit week on Tuesday, October 11 — Cowboy and Indian Day. Cowboys and Indians were seen throughout the halls, some waging war among themselves with bow, arrows, and guns; others just making peace.

Spirit Week continued with Out of Style Day on Wednesday, October 12. Bell bottom polyester pants, pre-historic plaid shirts, wide offensive ties and atrociously bright colors were spotted as almost every Bangor High student was dressed in these horrifying clothes of the past.

Thursday, October 13 was full of strange sights. The farmers were harvesting their crops. Celery was stalking the halls. Pumpkins were squashing lesser vegetables and potatoes were eyeing a bunch of carrots walking in the hall. Students dressed in their farmer jeans and muddy boots or wore costumes of potatoes, carrots, and squash in honor of Farmer and Veggie Day.

Clockwise from above: Jessica Singal, Michelle Ashe, and Renee Pooler celebrate Out of Style Day. Mike Cabosco and Vicki Magee on Farmer and Veggie Day. Steph McKee, Wendy Woodbury, Missie Bowers, Amy Rohman, Cindy Martin, and Lisa Caldwell. Mike Cassidy and Chip Clark on Cowboy and Indian Day.

HOMECOMING 1988

Breaking Away from tradition, Bangor High School students celebrated Homecoming 1988 on Friday, October 14. The departure from the normal Saturday afternoon parade and game marked yet another one of the ways in which Bangor High breaks from conformity and strikes for innovation.

A pep rally served as the hors d'oeuvre for the feast of festivities. Seniors donned well-earned Burger King Crowns and set the standard for the rally as they chanted, "Senior Power, Senior Power! Go! Go!" Later that day, in an event that certainly deserves to be featured on Unsolved Mysteries, students actually returned to school to create individual floats. Again the Class of 1989 strode to the forefront of float fashion by lacing their pseudo-jungle with pin-point lights, and by including a caged, Gardiner Tiger. The Juniors opted to decorate separate vehicles, attaching the features of elephants, tigers, and zebras to cars and vans. The Sophomores and Freshmen placed shrubs, leaves, and jungle paraphernalia to their floats. With a hearty cry of, "A Hunting We Will Go!" the floats moved off to Cameron Field.

Although the Rams suffered a loss, the spirit of the students was not diminished, and they later converged upon the high school campus for a wild, spirited dance.

Stop right here for a moment, only a page or two from the beginning of your journey — a journey that, with only the casual flip of a wrist, will help you relive some of your best (and worst) memories. This portion of the yearbook is entitled "Ice Breakers," and rightfully so. For this section will get you acquainted with the most recent of Bangor High School's yearbooks, the Oracle of the graduating Class of 1989.

The Oracle has its roots firmly planted in the nineteenth century, when it was originally produced as several bound, monthly publications. Each eagerly awaited issue highlighted the school's sports, activities, and students. It was only natural that when Bangor High School initiated the tradition of annual volumes dedicated to preserving precious memories, the book took the name of its prestigious predecessor. Thus, what you now hold in your hands is the product of decades of evolution and experimentation.

This is your yearbook. Pick it up, read it, and re-read it. For here, within these pages, you will find a solid record of the 1988-1989 academic school year.

Welcome.

Back Breakers, those teachers at Bangor High. Evil men and women who have chosen to devote their lives to the continual punishment and suffering of high school students.

But are they? Are they really? Undoubtedly every student would agree that if he had a choice between slaving over yet another math assignment or lounging in front of the television with a bag of Doritos, that Calculus worksheet would simply go unfinished. And there are some who refuse to believe that the ability to recite Chaucer will ever come in handy (unless they just happen to be surprised in a dark alley by a burly mugger with an acute appreciation for English Classics). But the faculty's simple persistence and unfailing patience in convincing the student that yes, this chapter of American History is truly important, should be enough to convince him that there might be some truth buried in those words. Down deep. Beneath layers of earth and concrete and kryptonite.

The English Department has dedicated countless class periods (some teachers have argued — quite successfully — that the actual linear time unit is 'months') to the pursuit of the student's appreciation of literature. Embodied in that spirit is the insistence upon good writing. From the "copious notes" of Mr. Milliken, to the deep conversations with Mrs. Kornfield, to the Oh-My-God-My-Hand-Is-Cramping timed writings of Department Head Mrs. Farthing, the English Department is dedicated to moving students onward with the ability to think, speak, and write critically.

Although some pupils never progress beyond a "Salve,"

"Buenas dias," or "Bonjour," the Foreign Language Department offers students the chance to master the tongue of a foreign country. The proximity of Canada justifies the study of French; the incredible increase of Spanish Americans almost demands a working knowledge of Spanish; and the study of Latin could come in handy if a student ever visits Latin America (Solum per iocum — C'est une blague — Lo decimos en broma). From the cheer and good humor of Senora Carson, to the wealth of knowledge from Soror Elizabeth, to the fluency of Madame St. Pierre, the Foreign Language Department grants students the invaluable ability to appreciate others' lands and customs.

Science: the very word gives some students nightmares about demonic vectors and periodic charts. But the Science Department is committed to giving students a solid foundation in this increasingly complex field. Teachers such as Bangor Vice's very own Mr. Don Johnson, Mr. "Kahuna" Emery, and Mr. "Save A Tree Today" Harrington prove to be exciting mentors in guiding students to an understanding of the physical and biological principals of our world.

Grab a straight edge and pray that your teacher will permit the use of a calculator, for you have just entered the Math Zone, that rare plane upon which all students form 90 degree angles with their seats and pass notes coded in binary. The Mathematics Department prides itself on its continued dedication to the education of its students. Although many students have initially found geometric theorems and algebraic equations impossible, a tireless teacher has been shown to make all the difference. Instructors such as Thank-Goodness-She's-So-Patient Mrs. Grant, Mrs. "Pascal" Lord, and Department Head Mr. Godsoe exude the kindness and concern characteristic of the Mathematics Department.

History and the workings of our government fall under the guardianship of the faculty of the Social Studies wing. Additionally, this intrepid band of teachers is responsible for convincing students that Central America is not made up of Kansas, Nebraska, and Colorado. (It isn't?). The friendly remarks of Mr. Jones ("Duh-football!") and the helpfulness of Miss Houlihan ("Yes, I am the advisor for every known school organization!") launch students to an appreciation of the past, present, and future.

Truly, then, all of Bangor High's teachers have for their dedication to students, earned the respectable title of . . .

Principal's Message

Dear Members of the Class of 1989:

The 1989 edition of the Oracle, like other yearbooks of the past, provides a recorded testimony of many segments of school life at Bangor High. It is, foremost, a tribute to our seniors, members of the Class of '89.

As years pass, the Oracle, perhaps as no other single vehicle, will have the power to bring into focus memories of four years spent as part of the B.H.S. family.

It is our wish, that as the Oracle is read and re-read, pictures scanned, and then studied, that the intangibles of four years of one's life will be remembered.

In retrospect, much of what has been experienced these past four years will assume new dimensions. Nonetheless, you have made your mark. You have contributed to and shared in the life of B.H.S. Hopefully, our relationships have been mutually beneficial.

We wish for each graduate the very best life can bring; we want for each, the realization of potential, strength of character, dedication to high physical and moral standards, good health and much happiness.

Principal

The student at Bangor High School . . . what a rare breed! For just when you think you have him classified, just when you believe you can accurately describe her, a new and excitingly different aspect of that student is revealed.

Just who is the BHS student? Perhaps he is the devoted Key Clubber who helps to raise money for the prevention of teen suicide. Perhaps she is the determined guard on the basketball team who, in pre-adolescent years, used to shoot baskets in her driveway and dream about starting high school games. Or, perhaps, he is the ROTC member who, through fierce dedication and an unflinching sense of commitment, has never failed inspection.

Or is she the student government representative, who helps to bridge the gap between her peers and the faculty? He could be the young artist, whose life revolves around a

High School is distinctively different, alarmingly adult, and wonderfully alive. To attempt to pin more specific titles upon him would be in vain. But this, too, we can add: the BHS student is

A Special Note

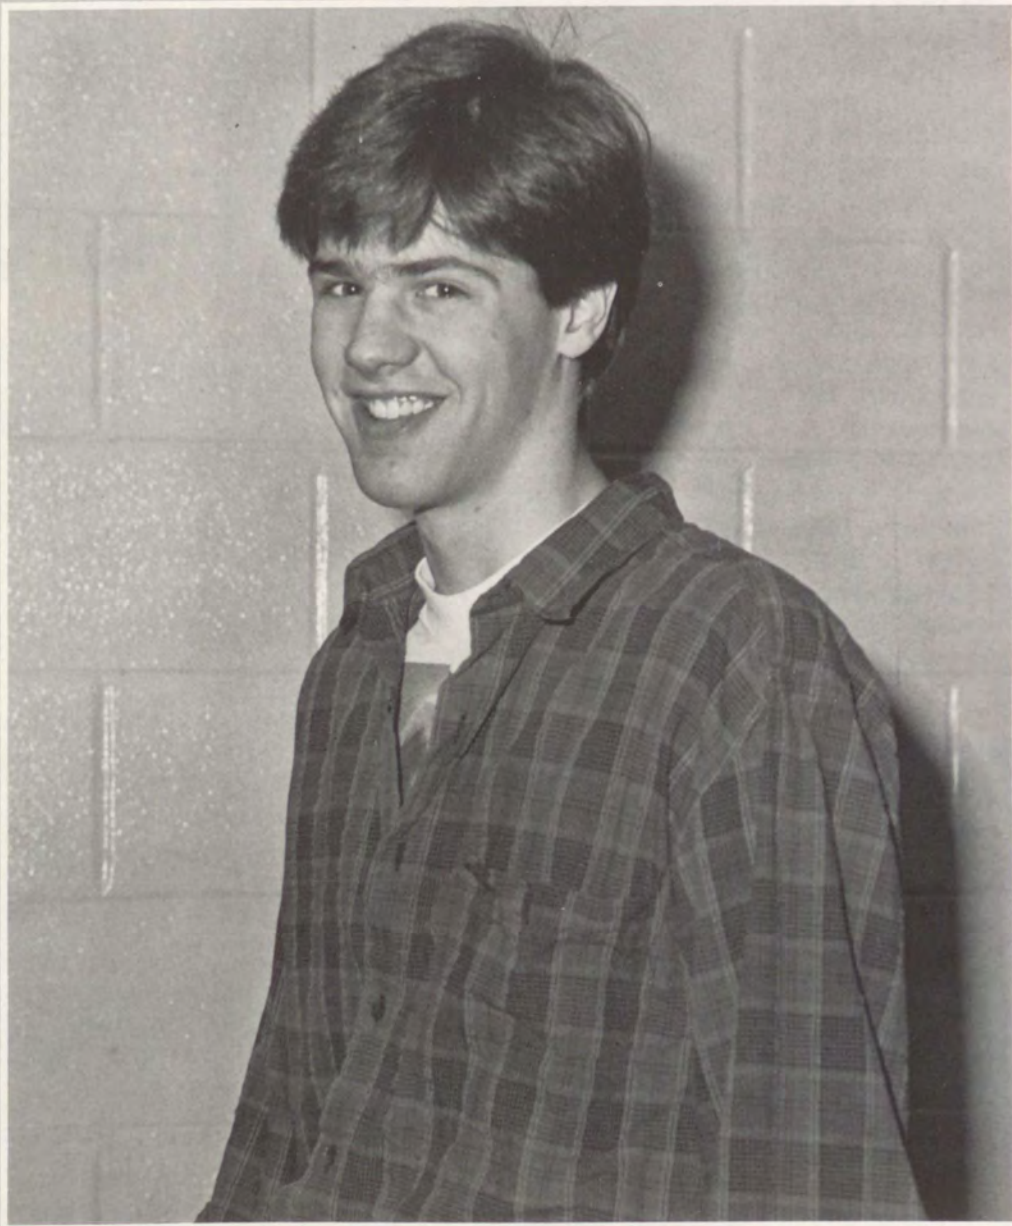

Dr. John J. Fahey, Bangor High School's principal for the past sixteen years, has announced that beginning in September of 1989 he will leave his present position and take on new responsibilities within the Bangor public schools. The entire school community will miss him.

While serving as our principal, Dr. Fahey has guided thousands of students through their last four years of mandatory education on to college, vocational school, military careers, and the world of work. Students and faculty alike have looked to Dr. Fahey for leadership and guidance.

As Dr. Fahey moves into his new assignment we can only wish him the best and thank him for making our school a better place for us all.

The Bangor High Community
June, 1988

Motivation and a determination to succeed on several different planes mark the student at Bangor High School. So it is with no surprise that one finds students involving themselves in any number of extracurricular activities. Taking a break at BHS means not plopping down in front of the television to catch Star Trek: The Next Generation, but grabbing a bunch of friends and assisting the community in some manner.

Members of the burgeoning Key Club are committed to serving their school and community, collectively completing hundreds of hours of service. Class council members represent their fellow students and arrange for social events and an eventual graduation. Reminding their friends about the imminent dangers of mixing Vodka and Volvos, the members of the Peer Support Group encourage students to sign Contracts for Life. Band, Chorus, and Orchestra members tune their instruments and voices, filling the air with notable notes. Elected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and service, National Honor Society members serve their school and neighborhoods. Student Council members attempt to bridge the gap between concerns and desires. Cast members of the annual school play practice daily, an effort that culminates in two highly entertaining performances. And members of the Debate, Math, and Speech teams represent the school in various competitions throughout the state.

So don't be surprised if you see that one student abandons a bag of Cool Ranch Doritos and General Hospital for a club's activities. This commitment to certain activities is not an aberration (and certainly not some genetic defect!) — it's just our way of . . .

National Honor Society

This year's National Honor Society provided its services to the community by providing Thanksgiving baskets during the fall, helping BMHI during the Christmas season, and ushering at local events. The annual lollypop sale again proved successful, contributing to the scholarship fund for a graduating senior.

Key Club is the world's largest high school organization. Dedicated to service and the philosophy "Caring — Our Way of Life," Bangor High School Key Clubs perform community service projects and raise money for district charities. The year's events culminated in a trip to the New England Convention in Springfield, MA, and substantial gifts to both the Kiwanis Pediatric Trauma Institute and Samaritans, a teen suicide hotline.

SPEECH

Mr. Erickson's Speech Team compiled one of the best records ever this year, winning trophies at every event it competed in. The team has quadrupled in size over the past four years, making it the largest ever in BHS history. The team is expected to grow and place higher next year as most members will be returning.

The five girl and the five boy candidates selected from the Class of 1989 spent a week during the past summer learning about their duties and rights as United States citizens. During the week each learned of the practical applications of Americanism and good citizenship. After the week ended, Jason Price won by popular vote the distinguished position as Governor of Maine's Boy State; Joson ran unbacked by a party and won.

Students at Bangor High School are extremely lucky in that their school can afford them the widest range of sports activities in the area. Varsity, junior varsity, intramural, and student-organized club teams meet regularly to prove themselves in competition. Perhaps the most dominant of these sports, occurring on varying levels, are football, cheering, field hockey, cross country, golf, soccer, indoor track, ice hockey, basketball, swimming, baseball, softball, track and field, and tennis. The high school campus itself and surrounding areas offer extensive facilities for training and for competition.

whom the thrill of competition and the roar of the crowd are reward enough for the work and effort . . . and for whom participation — not necessarily winning — is the real joy. The BHS athlete has drive, desire, and determination.

Welcome to the Tie Breakers.

00:14, 00:13 . . .

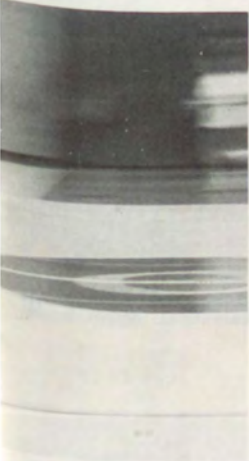

A surprisingly large number of students take part in organized sports (laying to rest, at last, the popular "jock equation"), and even more students turn out regularly at home games. This year's team was captained by Jennifer Parady, Angela Tennett, and Wendy Woodbury. It was an enjoyable season and the last for Coach Barbara Kelley who will be greatly missed by the team members. Four members of the team, Clara Baker, Ginny Farrington, Jennifer Parady, and Marie Pechinski were selected for the PVC All State second team.

The JV team was made up of talented young players under the supervision of Coach Connie Hallett. Amy Chandler and Selina Kimball were the captains of the JV team.

Basketball

This year's Boys' Basketball Team had a successful year. Under third year Coach Roger Reed, the team compiled a 17-1 record with a perfect 14-0 mark in the tough Big East Conference. The team finished first in Eastern Maine Class A before losing in the semi-final game of the tournament. The team was provided with leadership by tri-captains Paul Butler, Jeff Houghton, and Joe Nelson. Butler ended his career being named MVP of the conference and making the All-State team. With many returning players and a strong feeder system, the team looks to be in the thick of things for many years to come.

Swimming

State Champs!

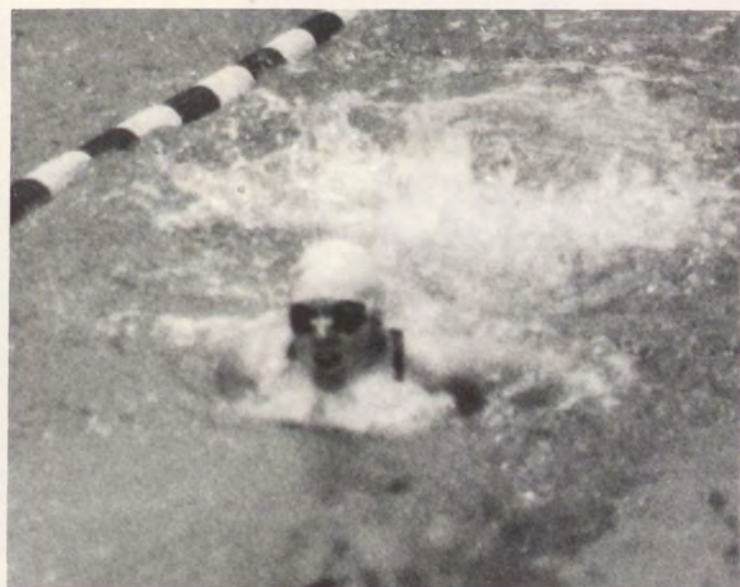

The 1988-1989 swim season was a successful one for the BHS Girls Swimming and Diving Team. They emerged with an unblemished record of 8-0, a PVC championship title and a Class A State Championship. This year's team was led by captains Michelle Ashe, Jessica Singal, Karen Snow and Wendy Woodbury. The team was coached by Connie Hallett, Bob Hale, and Matt Curran. The girls shared a special closeness that was extremely unique. The team exhibited an intense amount of pride and sportsmanship throughout the entire season. They certainly proved to their school, parents, and friends that they had that "Bangor Feeling."

Swimming

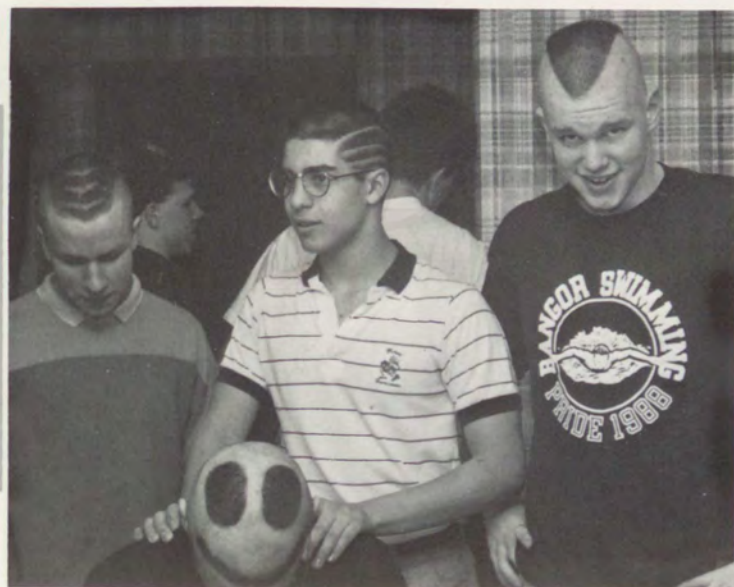

The 1988-89 Bangor Boys' Swim Team had a very successful season. Under the leadership of co-captains Chris Cyr and Nick Voikos, the boys completed a perfect season, winning all seven dual meets, the PVC's and the State Championship. The nine graduating seniors on the team have never lost a high school swim meet, as they have won all dual meets for the past 4 years, 4 PVC titles, and 4 consecutive state titles. During the state meet, Bangor was victorious in the 200 Medley Relay and the 400 free relay and Jason Stern captured a win in the 500 yard freestyle. This year Coach Emery really proved that it is "we" not "I" that makes a team great.

Will I ever reach that purity of being beyond ambition and hope of some undefinable goal, so that I might live and pass away the way wild things die: quietly, without question, without answer, without anguish?

— Senator William S. Cohen

It is surprising just how much we, the Class of 1989, have changed over the past four years. We are taller, have later curfews, make use of a car more frequently, file tax returns. Gradually, we have taken upon our shoulders the burden — and the pleasure of adulthood. We have made the startling discovery that summer vacation is finite, not endless; that money has to be earned, and that junior high school dating tactics do not necessarily work in the real world.

In this, the final section of the 1989 Oracle, you will relive some of the craziest and some of the most touching moments of the year at Bangor High School. Here are the seniors, those who have weathered four years, and the underclassmen, the life, blood, and future of the school. These are the men and women who have grown more independent, have taken on more responsibility; who, in short, are Breaking Away.

It all began four years ago on a windy day in September. The Class of 1989 entered Bangor High School for the first time as Freshmen, a little insecure and nervous, not knowing exactly what lay before them: the Challenger Space Shuttle disaster, baby Jessica McClure's fight for life and freedom from a well, the Chernobyl accident, the Iran Contra Affair, the 25th anniversary of the Kennedy assassination, the 25th anniversary of the Beatles' premier on the Ed Sullivan Show, the construction of the new science wing, the end of the Reagan era and the beginning of President Bush's, the death of Emperor Hirohito, the appointment of George Mitchell to Senate Majority Leader, and the successful launches of manned Space Shuttles again. The events and people who have shared these four years with us have shaped our lives and given us memories that will last forever. Hopefully, the Oracle will serve as a reminder of these events and people who we have spent this time with. It is not only the members of the Senior Class who have made this year so memorable, the underclassmen made this an enjoyable stepping stone into the future. And I would like to first thank the students of Bangor High without whom, this Oracle could not exist.

To Scott and Marie: I cannot say "thank you" enough for your support and help throughout the year. The Oracle is fortunate to have such talented and creative individuals dedicated to its publication. Thanks for everything. To Lorie: When things began to build up, you were always ready and willing to help with anything without a second thought. Thanks not only for your help but for your loyalty and friendship.

To Jen: Your help was invaluable and always present. Thank you for being there when I needed you and never questioning my seemingly mad ideas.

To Jessica: Thank you for your dedication to money and concern with the business end of the Oracle. Without your business sense the Oracle would have a difficult time existing.

To Erin: Thank you for your organization and passion with photography. Without it, the Book wouldn't be quite the same.

To Joe and Joe: Thanks for helping us with the sports. There we would have been lost if we didn't have your help. — Thanks.

Thanks also to Mrs. Bassi for everything — help whenever I needed it; Mrs. Carlson for the use of her treasured photocopier; Dr. Fahey, Mr. Bussiere, and Mr. Nickerson for bearing through the countless announcements and requests; and all the faculty and staff who have supported our work throughout the year.

Thank you to the students who stepped in at a moment's notice, willing to do anything without questioning why: Polly, Jason, Stacey, Len, Leslie, Shannon, Kim, and Karen.

Thanks, finally, to the one person who kept us all in line without our knowledge of it. Mr. Ames, thank you for your devotion to not only the publication of the Oracle, but also for your dedication to us as students. No school could ask for a better first year advisor.

A final thanks to all the people who had a hand in the creation of the 1989 Oracle; it is virtually impossible to name everyone because of the large number involved, but without your help, the Book could not have been completed.

Yours Truly,
Dawn L. Elbrecht
