This yearbook is dedicated to the students of Bangor
High School who care about our changing world.

Every man partly is and wholly hopes to be. -- Browning

In some special way,
each person completes
the universe -- Loew

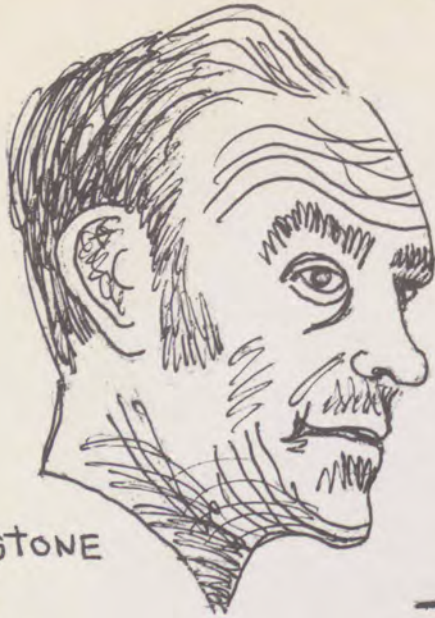

You are what you do, not what you think or say -- Fields

Deep inside of everyone there's a bigger person who is trying to break out --

Mr. Lundquist

. . . it is not just Bangor High School that is changing
 . . . the whole society about us is changing . . . and rapidly, too . . . it used to be that a mere title . . .
 principal . . . was enough to get you accepted by people
 . . . but now it is not enough . . . what is necessary is that you be accepted because you are somebody . . .
 you understand . . . you are a human being . . . and that is where the role has changed as principal . . .
 he is no longer the father image . . . he either gets with it in a helping role to make things go . . . or he is going to stand on something trivial and be broken

. . . and that is where my role has changed . . . to trying to understand the problems and the human . . .

. . . But what's different?
. . . Hard to put your finger on it as far as something specific . . .

. . . Interesting change is the office . . . kids come and go . . . get to the essence of the task at hand . . .

. . . One to one contact, here it is, available to any student . . .
we recommend an appointment . . .

. . . this year has made beginning teachers of us all
. . . often leading to an incomplete coverage of material . . .

. . . often is working very well . . . it is best when covering something challenging . . . students using teachers . . . freewheeling discussions and bull sessions . . . but it is difficult to teach when the students need no help.

. . . some students are . . . adept at meeting the changes . . . abundance of writing . . . outside work . . . in depth study . . . work done at will . . . but it is all a matter of human nature . . .

. . . students need more information . . . direction . . . than we have been able to give them.

. . . our change has been exciting . . .
complicated . . . and not without errors

. . . through the changing system . . .
we have been able to cover at least as much subject matter . . . as in previous years . . .

. . . the math department has not differed as much as many others . . . but . . . fast moving unipacs . . . separate testing room . . . have been beginning to show advantages . . . the development of . . . responsibility . . . to secure an education . . . on the part

. . . a new development is that of . . . a new, student-teacher rapport . . . opportunity for people to get together . . . on an informal basis . . . outside the classroom situation . . .

. . . the major innovation over the long run . . . has been the moving from the idea . . . that the important thing is the gathering of facts . . . to an idea that in the social studies process . . . you must have a better idea of what is going on today . . . and of what went on yesterday . . .

. . . the science department has undergone innumerable changes . . .

. . . in biologyII . . . the students are given . . . the option . . . of a lap-based course . . . or a project . . . to work on throughout the year . . . with student initiated innovation . . .

. . . chemistry . . . is two distinct courses . . . one technically oriented . . . the other, for the non-scientifically directed . . . a plan of practical application . . . new system of open labs . . . a series of take-home quizzes for self-evaluation . . .

. . . in physics . . . with wide use of the self-test . . . small size of class has always made individual contact available . . .

psychology

psychology . . . has remained largely unchanged . . . in that only the means of studying has differed . . . curriculum has remained the same . . . but has been adapted . . . to being written up in basic laps . . . which are supplemented by frequent discussions . . . students learn about themselves . . . through the administration of several personality tests . . . the course . . . will be expanded in the future . . . with possible use of more outside activities . . .

reading

MRS. HASKELL

. . . reading is a completely individualized course . . . each student, working on the skills on which he needs improvement . . . vocabulary . . . speed . . . comprehension . . . progresses at a different rate . . . it is a non-credit course . . . but is now partially incorporated into the english department in the form of reading skill requirements . . . written into the laps . . . this helps many students who would not have been reached if their teachers had not required such skills in their laps.

MRS. BROWN

library

. . . the library . . . like all other aspects of this school . . . is changing . . . it is no longer enough to remain but a place to find books and magazines . . . plans are being made to convert it to a complete resource room . . . containing reference materials . . . films . . . records . . . as well as its present contents . . . already the practice of freely circulating materials throughout the school . . . has begun . . . departments are able to accumulate necessary reference materials within their own resource centers . . . making it easier for the student to obtain what he needs. . .

MRS. HENDERSON

vocational work experience

. . . the vocational work experience program is, in essence, a new program . . . for the first time we have received federal funding for the course . . . which combines students from the Distributive Education, Trade and Industry, and the Practical Arts program . . . and is reorganized into Vocational Work Experience

. . . students are taking programs of regular academic subjects combined with graduated degrees of work experience . . . which is not concerned with vocational training . . . but with teaching attitudes, acceptance of responsibility . . . necessary working qualities . . .

. . . we've opened up a new program for the college bound students. . . an opportunity to take interest area courses for no credit . . .

. . . all students now can concentrate . . . on the topics interesting them the most . . . completing only required time in other shops . . .

science seminar

Every Wednesday in B-23
The staid science department resounds with glee!
Science Seminar is meeting --
We're dispensing good cheer,
Sharing diverse knowledge --
A real think-talk-tank here.
We've done lots of discussing -- Running around . . .
From chem. lab to bio. lab
And all over the town.
All over the coast, too --
Eck's Isle we toured;
We parried noise pollution
When our motley music was heard!
Our goal for this year
Is to teach a few things --
A pollution assembly,
And the awareness it brings.

student involvement

. . . student involvement . . . is a program set up so that individuals might participate in the community . . . incorporating over 85 participating students . . . each providing their own transportation . . . leaving through resource centers at various times throughout the week . . .

. . . it has shown the people of Bangor that the students of our school are responsible and are aware that there is a service they can perform for their community . . .

. . . it involves such agencies as Family Planning, Day Care, Head Start, Community Organization, Cerebral Palsy, Eastern Maine Friends of Retarded Children, and the State Hospital . . .

. . . the future of this program will depend on the student . . . for there are no definite plans to incorporate it into the curriculum . . . but the students have proven the pre-mise that service can be rendered to the community and rendered successfully . . .

memorial for stephen

Life is like a neon light. When one is first instilled, it is literally perfect and shines a bright, steady light. The color of the neon tubing varies and some colors are more pleasing to the eye than others. Some are bright and happy, while others are dim and sad. The tubes twist and curve about like a child's uncertain scrawling, though, on the whole, the tangles do make some sense. Many neon tubes hum or buzz loudly. They are like insecure children, trying to attract attention.

As they get older, the tubes might get a little black at the ends, as if they had collected a little evil in their life span. Other neon lights, however, may lose flecks of paint here and there, and one can glimpse the summer sunlight imprisoned inside. After another period of time, the light begins to flicker and struggles to keep shining. There comes a day when the light will not shine, and darkness reigns for a short while. Then a newborn light shines forth, and the old one is forgotten, fading in memory.

You're about to take a giant step forward into your future. We think we can make it the bright one you want it to be at New England Telephone. With a job that's every bit as big as your ambition. You see, we need people. With all kinds of talents. And especially, people who really want to get going with their future. And want to be rewarded with automatic raises. Your High School diploma is all the experience you need. If you want a job and a future that's tailored to your talent... along with unusually generous fringe benefits, stop in and see your guidance counselor. Ask when and where you can apply for an interview with the people who want to make your future as happy as you want it to be.

I. thoughts about the hereafter

(or . . . is there a life after graduation?)

Seriously, graduation isn't the end, you know. It's just the beginning. And it could be the beginning of one of the most challenging and fulfilling times of your life. At New England Telephone. It could be, that is, if you want a job with a challenge as big as your ambition. We need people at New England Telephone -- all kinds. People who are sincerely interested in the future. And who are looking for more from their job than just work!

Your starting salary is good and you get automatic raises. You don't need experience. Your advancement is tailored to your talents. And you get exciting fringe benefits.
