Oracle Is Built On A Solid Foundation

Aristotle, an ancient Greek philosopher built many of his works around the three unities: time, place, and action. This year the Oracle staff is striving to bring these ideas into focus to provide a solid foundation on which to build an informative, yet pleasurable book for everyone. Following Aristotle's plan, the time: 1967-1968 school year, the place: Bangor High, the action: the present.

The 1967-1968 school year started off with much enthusiasm, as usual. There was excitement everywhere as students, faculty, and the entire city watched as the football team roared to an undefeated finish. Yet, the year was quite "typical" in many respects. The senior class staged a tireless dues campaign, measured for caps and gowns, wrote senior essays, and sponsored a fabulous prom. The underclasses proved themselves to be well on their way to promising futures throughout their high school careers.

Bangor High is a school to be proud of, with excellent facilities and a faculty truly dedicated to its profession. The students and faculty have reached far beyond their grasp to achieve an understanding which is beneficial to all. Accreditation, which the school has held since 1931, is solid proof that Bangor High displays excellence in all fields. The students are offered proper guidance and the advantage of studies in many diverse areas. New courses are added each year to meet student demand.

Now that this year's seniors have readied themselves for the world of tomorrow, Bangor High can again be proud of its graduating class. It is hoped that they will not stop with this mere "beginning" but will continue to strive toward reaching higher goals. After being prepared for his role in this complex world, the student will not be afraid to knock on the door of tomorrow, to seek out the wonders of life. The graduating class owes a great deal to B.H.S., for without the thorough preparation that they have received they would certainly not be ready to accept the challenges of tomorrow with an open mind and heart.

Seniors Stand United

"United we stand" is a phrase that could well describe the class of 1968. It seems that ever since they were freshmen at Harlow Street School they have been one for all and all for one in their feelings and endeavors. This one year apart from all other classes gave them time to get to know each other and to learn to work well together. This gave them the basic requirements for a unified, well-organized, and successful class.

As sophomores they were delegated to sponsor a Hootenanny, which they did. Along with the Hootenanny they sponsored a Computer Dance, the first in the area. All the high schools from the area were invited and the affair drew a large crowd. This gave them an excellent start for all future undertakings.

From sophomores they progressed to become juniors, accomplished in many fields. They put their heads together and planned and produced a popular and profitable winter carnival. The 68'ers were well represented at the carnival and together came out as the winners in the outdoor events.

As can be assumed, these vivacious juniors came into their senior year happy, well-prepared, and ready for any new undertakings that should come up. They took on each event as it came along and made it "happen," starting with the first dance of the year, which they sponsored and which was attended by a great number of students. Because of their unity in all of their undertakings the seniors were able to plan a great year for themselves. The 68'ers also established a "senior class day" during which the class was informed of the activities of the senior council.

The class of '68 has shown progress, and originality through the unity of ideas, talents, and personalities. Considering all they have added to Bangor High and to the memories of all those involved, they really deserve the right to say, "68 IS GREAT."

"Funky, Funky, Broadway"!

ACADEMIC

Unity of action, unity of time, and unity of place. . . these unities, of Aristotle in effect, describe life at Bangor High School. They reduce the scope of the play in which man acts to a small scene taking place at Bangor High, its duration to three years, and its purpose to education. They lend concentration and a sense of speed and inevitability to this most-important scene of life—the scene which must serve as a foundation on which to build acts—the scene which must be composed of unity.

Principal Dana M. Simmons reaches to answer another phone call, one of many during a busy day.

Team Administration Is Firmly Established

In a constant effort to provide the newest and most efficient methods of teaching to the students of Bangor High, Mr. Dana M. Simmons, principal, and Mr. Rodney Bartlett, assistant principal, are leading a unique administrative venture. The key to its success is "team administration."

The Curriculum Committee, consisting of the Administrative Committee, the Athletic Committee, the Student Activity Committee, and the Educational Policies Committee, has been firmly established. The subcommittees include the department heads, the athletic directors, the advisors to all student activities, and teacher representatives from each department. Their combined efforts aid in the planning of the operation of Bangor High School.

Bangor High School has reason to be proud of its Administration for providing its students with an extensive and flexible curriculum. Because of the combined efforts of the staff, in several instances Bangor High School has received not only statewide and national recognition, but also international acclaim. Throughout the year Bangor High was toured by several groups of Canadian visitors and also a group from Italy. The purpose of these visits was to obtain ideas to improve and develop their programs of study and to become familiar with the construction of modern school facilities.

During the academic year the administration faced the task of compiling a report to send to the Accreditation Committee on the progress of the implementation of recommendations given by the committee during the evaluation in 1966-1967, at which time Bangor High received a ten year accreditation.

Mr. Dana M. Simmons has not only been honored through the recognition given to Bangor High as a whole, but also individually by an appointment to The National Association of Secondary School Principals' National Advisory Committee on Curriculum.

In order for a high school to function properly, there is a great need for an efficient office staff. B.H.S. has been very fortunate to have the capable services of Mrs. Alfreda Stevenson, office manager, Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Mrs. Wanda Owen, secretaries, and Mrs. Irene Downes, attendance supervisor.

Ass't. Prin. Rodney Bartlett patiently answers the questions of an interested citizen.

Superintendent Wendall G. Eaton

Superintendent Wendall G. Eaton Implements Policies

Mr. Wendall G. Eaton assumed the responsibilities of superintendent of the Bangor school system in March of 1962. Since assuming this position, Mr. Eaton has faced many situations and has handled them fairly and intelligently.

In his position Mr. Eaton has many duties to fulfill. He must carry out the policies of the School Board; this he does by working with the principals of the various schools. He is also the one who must establish rapport between the School Board and the city administration and who must keep the public informed. Not only does he work with the city administration, but he also works closely with the state and federal government on educational legislation.

During the next two years Mr. Eaton hopes to be able to retain the high standards of education in Bangor in the face of any financial difficulties which might arise. One of the foremost items on Mr. Eaton's agenda is to continue to maintain fine personnel relationships throughout the entire educational system. In all the areas in which Mr. Eaton is involved he has shown himself to be a credit to the educational system and to the people of Bangor.

Assistant Superintendent Alvah I. McIntosh Supervises Curriculum

Alvah McIntosh, Assistant Superintendent of the Bangor School System, has the responsibility of establishing the entire curriculum for the Bangor Schools. During the 1966-1967 school year Mr. McIntosh worked diligently to enlarge and rearrange the program of study for the 1967-1968 year.

Mr. McIntosh also works in the area of budgeting and is in charge of setting up the budget for the school system during the year. He works with the federal government to receive new federal grants to allow Bangor to expand its educational system. Mr. McIntosh is the one who introduced the system of "teacher aides" to Bangor Schools.

SCHOOL BOARD—Dr. George Wood, Dr. Richard Gaillard, chairman; David Cutler, Mrs. Anne Brontas, James Halkett.

School Board Establishes Educational Policies

Bangor is extremely fortunate to have such a devoted School Board, willing unselfishly to spend many hours working as the policymaking unit of the educational system. The eminent advancement of education in Bangor is the result of the work of this committee.

The School Board members, who are appointed by the city council, donate their time and energy for the betterment of the school system. The committee has the responsibility of representing the city of Bangor in all decisions concerning the educational system.

Contributions of the School Board are numerous and may be seen in many diverse areas of the high school life. Two years ago the band was fortunate enough to receive new uniforms, for which funds were appropriated by the board. The many new concepts which were introduced into the high school curriculum by the board helped the high school to become the recipient of the Pacemaker Award for progress in education.

This year's school board members are Mrs. Charles Brontas, David Cutler, Dr. Richard Gaillard, James Halkett and Dr. George Wood. The Oracle staff, on behalf of all of Bangor High, wishes to express its sincere appreciation to the school board for the concern and aid given this year to Bangor High School.

Dr. Richard A. Gaillard Is New School Board Chairman

At the January meeting of the Bangor School Board, Dr. Richard A. Gaillard was elected chairman of the Bangor School Committee. He also served as chairman in 1962. This year he begins his eighth consecutive year as a member of the committee.

Dr. Gaillard graduated from Manhattan College and New York Medical College, took his internship at New York Post-Graduate Hospital and his residency in Otolaryngology at New York Hospital. In World War II he was a commander in the Marines.

At present he is on the staff of the Eastern Maine General Hospital, the St. Joseph Hospital and a director of the Bangor Regional Speech and Hearing Clinic. He is also a consultant for Dow and Loring Air Force Bases, Maine Coast Memorial Hospital, Bar Harbor Hospital, Cary Memorial Hospital in Caribou, and Knox County Community Hospital.

With the emphasis placed on achieving rapport with each individual student, the Guidance Department plays a major role at Bangor High. Early in September each student receives a newsletter from the guidance office explaining the general procedures of the department.

Throughout the year the guidance office remains a busy place. Individual conferences are set up between counselor and student. The students are advised on courses to take, many questions are answered, and the students try to solve their problems; the department also administers the various tests that must be taken for college admission.

Under the direction of Richard Klain, Department Head, Mrs. Rubena Pressey, Dean of Girls, Salvatore Coco, and Gerald Ballanger, the department seeks to aid students in becoming responsible adults, who will be able to accept their place in the modern world of today.

Despite the vast amount of work facing the guidance office, it functions smoothly and sets an excellent example of team work. Mrs. Eva Inforati, secretary, helps to coordinate the guidance counselors and the students by setting up appointments and by channeling communications between students and counselors.

The English Department Stresses Involvement

Vitally interested as always in progressive methods of teaching and deeply involved in extra-curricular activities, the English Department continues to function as the center of the academic curriculum.

Members of the English Department have continued in 1967-1968 to experiment with new techniques and approaches in their subject areas. These techniques have included exchanges of classes by Mrs. Margaret Small and Mrs. Elizabeth Trowbridge, Mr. Joseph Sala and Mrs. Rafalina Patterson, and Mr. Wallace Woodcock and Mr. Craig Abbott in order to give the students the benefit of specialized knowledge. In addition, on several occasions English teachers have delivered lectures to students in other subject areas, to give them a deeper understanding of their cultural heritage. Miss Jessie L. Fraser has delivered many lectures on her European travels, especially her trips to England. Besides their regular duties, several teachers in the department participated in programs designed to enhance the relationship between the faculty and the student body: for example, Mrs. Elizabeth Trowbridge and Mrs. Rafalina Patterson took part in a Thanksgiving skit directed and performed by members of the faculty. Highlights of the year were the performances of members of Mr. Craig Abbott's debate team and Mr. James Pike's superb cast in Bye Bye Birdie.

The English Department has been fortunate to acquire the talents of Mr. George MacDonald, a former Bangor High School student and a 1967 graduate of the University of Maine. He has ably taken over Mrs. Lesa Comeau's position as a senior English teacher.

Vitally Important Reading Skills Are Offered

Bangor's Reading Department, under the direction of Mrs. Charlotte Haskell, gives students in grades 7-12 instruction in good reading habits. The program has brought a new interest to Bangor High students by offering ideas for better study habits and correct methods for more pleasurable reading.

Small classes enable the student to receive individual help with his own problems in reading. The students, working at their own rate, strive to improve their study habits and general reading skills. The subject, being one for the benefit of the student, offers no credit, but does improve the student's vocabulary and note taking ability.

Reading is a vital part of all subjects and an integral part of all learning. With well developed reading skills the student can digest and comprehend new material in greater amounts with greater efficiency and in less time than with poorly developed skills. The Reading Department now offers the students of B.H.S. an opportunity to develop these all-important skills to their highest capacity.

Psychology Seeks To Find The Answers To Human Behavior

Modern psychology tries to understand the individual in order that he may be helped and guided to make the most satisfying adjustment. Each individual is unique. He differs from every other human being. The first task of psychology is to describe individuality, the second is to explain it, and the third is to apply it. Under the guidance of Mrs. Helen Gillespie, today's psychology students do just this.

Through extensive use of experimentation and discussion, the student is encouraged to delve into the subject. Interesting class discussions and oral reports aid the students in understanding the complexities of man.

Not only is a background given in psychology, but such fields as anthropology, biology, and sociology are introduced into the course, giving the student a well rounded view of human behavior.

Students Realize The Important Position Of Journalism

Journalism is the business of timely knowledge—of obtaining and evaluating necessary facts, of presenting them to the public and acting on them in a prudent manner. Realizing the great importance of this field, Miss Jessie L. Fraser provides an informative study, in depth, of this vital subject.

The main goal of this course is to instruct the student in finding and reporting the news and presenting it in a clear and interesting manner. These skills are developed in the students, by allowing them to assist in the publication of the Oracle and Orascope.

Not only do the Journalism students study in the area of school publications, they also study the production of newspapers and magazines for the public. A trip to the Bangor Daily News is an annual event. Here, the students see first hand the actual production of a newspaper.

After a course in Journalism, students are fully aware of the essential role the medium plays in the modern ever-changing world.

Creative Thinking Promotes Creative Writing

First among the goals of the Creative Writing class, taught by Mrs. Rafalina Patterson, is stimulation of creative thinking, which results in creative writing. Creativity is developed in the student by various techniques; such as, group discussions and the publication of a literary anthology, entitled Rampages.

The informality of the class emphasizes the importance of the individual while he strives to reach a peak where he expresses himself as clearly as possible in poetry and prose.

In its second year, the Creative Writing course has proved to be of great value to the students concerned. Through the publication of the Rampages, the ideas of the student are spread throughout the school. It seems quite plain that this course is well on its way to becoming an integral part of the curriculum at Bangor High.

Art Plays Important Role In Teenage Development

Directed by J. Palmer Libby, Bangor High's Art department is most influential in the development of teenage minds. For conveying emotion or thought, art is a mode of expression as essential to human beings as is music, speech or writing. Keeping these ideas in mind Mr. Libby seeks to instill in his students a desire to express their innermost thoughts by pictorial means.

Students learn the fundamentals of art, better to portray the world and people around them. Each student works at his own rate with one objective in mind—creativity. The department also encourages students to participate actively in all aspects of school life, which give practical knowledge.

The Art Department has shown willingness to aid the other school departments with art work; there is always a display of student art work in the case outside the art room. This year another project was born; Mr. Libby and his students worked on a set of murals depicting the B.H.S. mascot, the ram, in various phases of school life.

Music Department Stresses Fundamentals

Again this year the Music Department of Bangor High School headed by Miss Marian E. McKenney, had much to offer the student. Several opportunities for advancement were offered to students pursuing musical education. For the beginning students, Aime M. Simoneau's Music Theory class proved beneficial. The goal of the class was to teach the fundamentals of music such as chord structure and keys. The second semester Mr. Simoneau accomplished this in a new manner. He used guitars as classroom work materials. Students not only learned the important fundamentals of music but many also learned how to play the guitar.

Instrumental and Choral labs were given both for credit and non-credit and for the enjoyment of the music students. Several students who already were proficient on one instrument learned a second under the watchful eye of Mr. Simoneau. Practice and experience in small groups was available not only to the students of instruments but also to the choral students. Miss Kathleen Hewes, the Choral director, helped to develop some talented Bangor High School voices.

As always, all during the football and basketball seasons, the Bangor High School Band looked striking in their maroon and white uniforms. The band members, directed by Mr. Simoneau, not only supported the team, but also provided the student body with musical enjoyment.

Together the music groups, in March, put on a splendid Pops' Concert, which was appreciated by all who attended. Bangor High music groups represented their school by way of small groups in the "Music Hour." This innovation is an hour long concert combining the junior high and high school music program. The performing groups are limited to not more than eight to give the students valuable experience. The first concert, which was an outstanding success, was held at the Fruit Street School in February.

Foreign Language Department Promotes Understanding Through Knowledge

In order to understand, one must have a basis of learned facts on which to build a solid foundation. Bangor High's language department has unofficially donned its mason suit and piled up the bricks and mortar, all ready to lay in a solid foundation for each and every language student in Bangor High. This foundation is not merely a means of learning to speak a foreign language, but is a starting point for many future adventures. It opens the doorway to a myriad of experiences. The self-awareness of a student's inner self and surroundings is a result of hard work put into this learning experience.

Every opportunity to take advantage of the experience of learning a foreign language is offered the student at Bangor High. Individual students and classes as a whole put on skits, sing songs, and have conversations in the language which they are studying. Regular sessions in the language laboratory along with records, tapes, and special guests bring new interest and life into the classroom.

Spanish and French are offered on a three year basis. A new program in which Bangor High sophomores, who have taken French I as freshmen and now take French II, has become part of the curriculum with the eventual result that French IV will be offered to seniors starting in 1970. Two years of Latin are offered to juniors and seniors. The influence of the Roman Empire on the world of today, and the fact that Latin is a basis for the English language are the major factors for the continued study of Latin. German and Russian are now being taught on a two-year basis; and next year the language department hopes to continue the program by adding a third year German course. These languages have become an integral part of Bangor High School's efforts to keep up with the ever increasing complexity of modern living. Bangor High School has succeeded in bringing understanding to its students through knowledge by creating knowledge through understanding.

Science Department Keeps The Pace Of Progress

As the world of science opens new fields through progress, the Bangor High School Science Department is keeping up with the fast pace. Each year more modern equipment is provided for science students and new courses are introduced to stimulate interest. Many students are taking advantage of the CBA Chemistry and BSCS and advanced Biology courses which were introduced only three years ago.

The field of science is the most outstanding in this day and age. A great number of new fields of research are opening, which provide many new career opportunities for this generation. Bangor High's students are fortunate to be able to study in almost any area in which they are interested, since nearly all areas are covered in the science department.

The Science Department strives to stimulate an interest in the world of science and prepare those interested for careers in this field. But the real excellence of this department will be appreciated in the future by those who are successful in these careers, having been inspired by their high school experience.

Mr. Douglas Stafford, head of the Science Department, is presented with a farewell gift from Gail Warner, Sherri Sprague, Steve Butler, and JoAnne Dauphinee. Modern Math Is Brought Into All Classes Of Mathematics

Bangor's Math department has reached a peak throughout the city. The children in elementary schools, when brought to the high school, will understand more quickly and easily the continuous discovery of new ideas in the fields of mathematics. More is expected of today's math student, and this early teaching will better prepare students for that which is expected of him.

Bangor High School's program provides a wide range of math courses for college and job-bound students alike. At Bangor High, college-preparatory geometry, algebra, and advanced pre-college math, along with Math II and Math III, for students with no plans for college, are offered. For aid in college math, students with the correct background may take a program offered in calculus which this year was directed by Gordon Smith. The students are urged to advance at their own rate, so that they can fully understand the new ideas. The TEMAC self-teaching method is used as a supplementary aid in calculus.

A study of college board scores shows a significant improvement since the arrival of the "new math" in 1962. Students in the new program received higher scores than those with the traditional background.

With today's world continuously developing in the constant rise of mathematics, it is important for the student to have a good understanding of math. Bangor's program is now giving its students opportunities to learn these new concepts. Learning is programmed at a comfortable rate, and a test is required after Algebra I to insure that a student doesn't get in "over his head." Courses are designed to meet the challenges of higher education and the business world.

As in previous years, a senior who is interested in a math career may elect a math course offered at the University of Maine.

Social Studies Focuses On Modern World

In order to make the students of Bangor High School aware of the ever-increasing complexity of both the national and international scenes, the Social Studies department has altered those courses which had antiquated characteristics, and has taken on a modern concept of teaching. Modern and Medieval History has been reduced to Modern History, along with the acceleration of the United States History courses, making it possible to spend more time on the post-Civil War period. Problems of Democracy and Current World Problems also continue in this aspect. Both courses depict problems in government that the average student would not normally be aware of.

A series of lectures such as those on the development of the Arts given by Mr. Wallace Woodcock, head of the English department; Mr. Aime Simoneau of the Music department, and Mr. Palmer Libby, head of the Art department, have continued to enlighten the students of the team teaching program in United States History. The four teachers who took charge of this program in its second year were Mr. Philip Gonyar, Department Head; Mr. Robert Jones, Mr. James Quine, and Mr. William Fleming.

Foundations of American Freedom, a double period class taught by Department head Mr. Philip Gonyar, strives for understanding through individual research projects and intimate class discussions. Operation "Backhoe," introduced during the past year, is designed to give its students a full understanding of the world around them. In this 90 minute course the practical aspects of history are taught in such a manner that the students may apply them to everyday life.

In the latter part of January, Mr. Philip Gonyar and Mr. Robert Jones attended an assembly on Anthropology at Phillips' Exeter Academy, Exeter, New Hampshire, to consider the possibility of introducing a course of this type to Bangor High School's expanding curriculum. This course may be introduced as a separate course or as part of an already existing course.

There seem to be many innovations in the field of teaching.

Business Department

Educates Students For

Practical Careers

Even though automation is replacing many office positions, business continues to need a great number of beginning clerical workers and employees with the traditional office skills. To meet this need, the business department of B.H.S. offers training in typing, stenography, bookkeeping and in the use of various office machines to a degree that prepares for initial employment.

Students enrolled in this course receive a general business education that is basic to personal living and good citizenship; as, for example, how the American free-enterprise system operates and how the intelligent consumer uses money. Instruction is also given in what is expected of employees in the way of grooming, manners, and general office behavior.

Success in the business world as taught to the students at B.H.S. is more than just skill and knowledge of business operations. To be successful one must acquire satisfactory attitudes and work habits, respect for others, courtesy at all times, and the ability to work efficiently and effectively. All of these important factors are to be considered when seeking any position.

Students Learn While They Earn

Distributive Education is a vocational program providing instruction in marketing and merchandising for those engaged in retailing, wholesale, and service businesses. The program is offered for seniors in high school. Under the direction of Mr. Byron Perry, students make use both of the facilities of the school and the marketing and merchandising resources of the community. Co-operating businesses supplement the school instruction by providing supervised work experience. This co-operative plan is a significant method of instruction directed towards the needs of the students as they experience employment and as they plan for their initial full-time employment.

Distributive Education's meaningful and purposeful instruction gives movement to one's further direction. Each student selects an occupation to which his interest and energies are directed. The attitudes of the students may change before they complete the high school program, and this course is a chief aid that helps to determine their goals. Career development, therefore, becomes the goal for terminal students; the instruction will have a greater meaning and importance for the student when he realizes its significance to him after graduation.

Special Education

Special Class Learns From Work-Study Program

For the sixth year Bangor High School's Special Class aimed to realize the potential of each student as a dependable member of the community. Under the leadership of Mr. Barry Crocker, students were taught the four major goals of a responsible citizen: civic responsibility, economic independence, personal adequacy, and social responsibility.

The program, which is keyed to practical life situations, emphasizes a work-study education. Students gain work experience by working in school and, in the last year, by working three-fourths of a day outside of school. Aside from their own class, students participate in courses such as Art, Metal Shop, Electricity, Physical Education, Home Economics, and ROTC. With such a practical and diversified program, students are prepared to become active, responsible members of the community.

A. Kingsbury, T. Hasenbank, G. Zitaner, and A. Farris take up a unit on the newspaper with Mr. Crocker.

Today's Homemaking Students Are Tomorrow's Homemakers

Preparing students for the future is the aim of the homemaking department of Bangor High School. The department realizes that its students come from all walks of life and that they need assistance in many different fields. Therefore, courses are offered, not only in the usual cooking and sewing, but also in such fields as personal and family relations, child care and development, housing and home decorating, foods and nutrition, clothing and textiles, and marriage and family life. These fields include the areas of safety, family health, home management, and consumer buying. Students, interested in majoring in Homemaking, are allowed, during a sequence of three years, intensive study in all of these fields. Seniors, who have had no previous instruction in Homemaking, are offered Senior Special, which covers all of the major areas of homemaking. A free discussion period has been added to the curriculum this year. Students discuss any topics they wish, according to their interests and their needs.

In order to allow more students to take advantage of the many courses offered, the curriculum is set up on a semester basis. Thanks to the Homemaking Department, the students of Bangor High will be able to go out into the world, knowing that they are capable of caring for a home and a family when the time comes.

Marriage And Family Life Invites Discussion

Marriage and Family Life, a new course set up last year, is offered to both boys and girls, and is designed to cover all aspects of married life. The course is available as a semester subject to enable more students, especially seniors, to take advantage of it. Since many high school students marry in a relatively short time after graduating from high school, Marriage and Family Life is being offered to students whether they are in the homemaking program or not.

The first week is spent getting the students acquainted with each other. After the class exchanges personal interests and problems, informal discussions of pertinent topics cover various aspects of married life; safety, home management, and family health are brought into the curriculum. Throughout this course the students are subjected to hypothetical situations making them more aware of the complexities of marriage, hopefully enabling them to be better able to cope with these problems.

Health Class Complements Physical Education

In the interest of building sound, healthy minds, as well as sound healthy bodies, Bangor High School has incorporated a Health class into the Physical Education program. Students are familiarized with communicable and non-communicable diseases, personal cleanliness, sex education, grooming, family relationships, and good eating habits. Films and slides on the hazards of smoking and drinking and other aspects of maintaining good health are interesting as well as being valuable training tools.

All juniors are required to take the Health course for graduation. This is the second year the course has been in full swing with a complete schedule. The class is rotated with the gym class, so that a junior is taking a semester of gym and a semester of Health. The importance of maintaining good health for a happier life is stressed.

The health course is designed to help each student get a better understanding of his environment and learn to keep himself well.

Mr. White leads his class in a discussion of the inner workings of the body.

Physical Education Offers A Well Rounded Program

Since moving to the new high school the Physical Education Department has been constantly on the move. The department now has the facilities to offer all students a modern, well-rounded program of instruction and practice in team and individual sports. A staff of two men teachers and two women teachers provides instruction for all the students in school. Football Coach Gerald Hodge and his assistant, Arthur Miles, plan and direct the boys' program, while Miss Dorothy Raduege and Miss Elisabeth Arnold plan and direct the girls' program.

The intramural sports program has probably been the most popular phase. The boys may participate in intramural volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, badminton, weight training, and wrestling. The girls may participate in field hockey, intramural volleyball, basketball, gymnastics, tumbling, badminton, softball, and track.

Varsity sports present a challenge to the athletic mind at Bangor High. Basketball, football, baseball, swimming, track and cross country were offered this year and in the near future varsity sports such as soccer, archery, and tennis may be offered.

The gym, which features horizontal bars, parallel bars, bucks, still rings, balance beam, uneven parallel bars, wall parallels, climbing ropes, traveling rings, a horizontal ladder, and wall pulley rings, has been designated as an official fitness demonstration center for this part of the state.

Industrial Arts Program Offers Varied Course Of Study

Knowing the importance of the role industry plays in America, the Industrial Arts Department strives to develop in each student skill in performance and a knowledge of the related principles and theories. In the Industrial Arts Department the courses are many and varied. These courses are presented on a semester basis. This allows for more students to take advantage of this program. At the present time this department offers approximately twenty-five courses.

Each shop is equipped with the most modern machinery and facilities available. No effort has been spared in selecting and setting up each shop area.

Students learn to read blueprints and to use drafting equipment correctly.

Students in the Electricity course, which is offered on four levels, study basic electricity and electronics, residential wiring and small appliances. They also gain valuable experience in electronic construction and repair.

The students in the Graphic Arts program learn about the printing industry, and in the process produce much printed matter for the various school organizations and departments, as well as doing printing for their own personal needs. Study in offset printing and developing of pictures is also part of the curriculum.

With the addition of much new equipment, the Woodworking courses include, not only work in wood but also in plastics. An understanding of related materials develops in each student good workmanship and design.

There are four main courses offered in the area of Transportation. Power Mechanics is a course in which the students work on small engines. Auto Mechanics is a course designed to meet the need of automobile drivers. Another course is Auto Electricity. The final course is that of Aerospace. With a strong background in high school, many of these students will eventually attend a vocational school.

Metal Working courses now offer experience in welding, forging, art and sheet metal, and foundry. Advanced students are able to work in electric and gas welding.

Through these various shops, students explore their individual talents and acquire a knowledge of industry's place in the modern world.

Safety Is The Key Word In Driving

Safety is the key word in the world of drivers today, and this is what is mainly stressed in Bangor High's driving course. The job of teaching students good driving habits belongs to Mr. Lloyd Rhodes and Mr. Walter Perry. The course is open to students of all three classes and provides them with the basic skills of driving; such as, backing, turning, parking and learning the necessary rules of the road.

When the new school opened in 1964, the addition of driv-o-trainers made Bangor High School Driver's Education Department one of the most modern in New England as well as being the first school in Maine to use driv-o-trainers. Since then many other schools are adopting the idea.

The main purpose of the department is to acquaint the student with driving, through classroom experience as well as actual on-the-road experience. In the classroom, filmstrips are used along with the driv-o-trainer during which the student experiences actual situations in traffic. Through the use of these experiences, on the road and off, the instructors hope to make alert and defensive future drivers.

Military Department Prepares Students For The Future

ROTC (Reserve Officer Training Corps) is a program to develop student leadership, teach citizenship ideals, develop an understanding of the opportunities existing in the military services of the U. S. and assist the institution in the development of mature, self-disciplined, responsible citizens.

The program emphasis is on leadership training. For the student in ROTC to become a leader, he must know the academic subjects taught in the two hours of classroom instruction each week and have an opportunity to practice effective leadership. The "Drill Day" on which all cadets wear their uniforms and participate in co-ordinative military drills gives each cadet leader an opportunity to exercise and demonstrate his sound judgment, the traits of a leader, and proficiency in his ROTC subjects.

The curriculum is one prescribed by the Department of the Army for the more than 400 high schools in the nation that have the ROTC program. The first year includes the basic subjects of courtesies and customs of conduct, hygiene and first aid, ROTC organization and procedures, leadership, drills, weapons and marksmanship training. The second year and the third year of the program build upon the student's basic knowledge by teaching map reading, methods of instruction, small units, tactics, military history, and practical work in leadership and exercise of command responsibilities.

Library Has Proved To Be Favorite Study Area

Each day several hundred students take advantage of the excellent facilities that are offered in the B.H.S. library. The conference room, one of the newer innovations, is extremely popular with both students and faculty. There are stacks of magazines, a typewriter, and tables and chairs in the room. The conference room is greatly appreciated by all who make use of it.

Thirty library aides assist Miss Paulene Dunn and Mrs. Isabelle Croxford in the various activities that keep the library running smoothly. The aides work at the desk and are also in charge of keeping the stacks in order. For the student with a problem, Miss Dunn and Mrs. Croxford are always available to help find the solution.

The facilities of the library are always in a state of expansion and its capacity of 55,000 books should soon be reached, considering the rapid rate at which it is now acquiring materials. All books and magazines are made possible for B.H.S. by the Bangor Public Library.

Speech And Drama Students Learn To Communicate

It is obvious that the ability to communicate with one's fellow man is of prime importance. And because speaking is more common than all other forms of communication, it is important to speak well. Students taking courses in the speech arts learn to speak in both informal and formal situations.

The Foundations of Speech course gives the student the opportunity to converse to organize, and deliver his own talks and provides an introduction to the areas of oral interpretation, group discussion, interviewing, and pantomime. As a result of group discussion, guest speakers from the community were invited to share ideas with the students.

Oral Interpretation offers individual and group training in re-creative speech whereby the student learns to communicate to an audience the ideas and feelings expressed in the various fields of literature. Audio-visual aids including guitars, bass drums, slides, recorded music, and lighting effects gave impact to the programs.

The Dramatic Arts course helps the student to develop an appreciation of past and present dramatic productions by providing him with practical experience in the art of play production. This year the class met two days a week in the Peakes Auditorium and learned a respect for and a working knowledge of the theatre. Student directors and actors created scenes from a variety of plays.

Members of the department have participated in many competitive activities. Ilene Wittner won a hundred-dollar bond as the winner of the local Voice of Democracy Contest.

Speech-drama students have provided programs for several organizations in the community. Mrs. Barbara M. Browne is the instructor of all speech courses and extracurricular speech activities.

PRA Paves The Way

The PRA program was originated to give the student a chance for academic as well as on-the-job training. Much of the success of this program goes to its coordinator, Mrs. Charlene Popham and her assistant, Miss Sheila Dowd.

In his sophomore year, the student is required to take part in a full daily program which usually consists of six subjects. In his junior year the student attends four classes daily and for the remaining three periods he works somewhere in the school. Finally, in his senior year the student participates in only three classes and with more than a half a day ahead of him, goes out to work at whatever job best suits him in the community.

Boys and girls in the PRA program are offered the widest possible range of studies; including Foods (offered to both boys and girls), Wood Shop, Power Mechanics, Sheet Metal, and Sewing. Adding to these courses the required English, Social Studies, and a special lab-oriented Biology class for juniors, the Practical Arts student gains a well-rounded education.

Thus, the sophomore year is a building year where the student is concerned mostly with his academic program. The junior year is a stepping stone to the senior year which paves the way to excellent work experience that will be of value to the student in the near future.

“Vale, Magistra.” Miss Copeland Leaves Warm Memories At B.H.S.

The news of the retirement in June of Miss Mary L. Copeland was received regretfully by both faculty and students. For the past twenty-two years, Miss Copeland's vital energy, her sense of humor, and her infinite patience have won for her the love and admiration of countless students to whom she has been friend and counselor, as well as teacher. Those who have been privileged to sit in her Latin classes have acquired not only competence in the language, but enrichment in their lives, and the inspiration to seek a deeper knowledge in further study. In her other classes, her skill and patience have been a source of encouragement to many to whom high school presented problems.

Miss Copeland began teaching in Lincoln, but most of her early career was spent in Shrewsbury, Massachusetts, where she remained for twenty years. During her time in Shrewsbury, she traveled extensively and studied at the American Academy in Rome, Italy. Upon her return to Maine in 1946, she joined the faculty of Bangor High.

There will probably never be another Miss Copeland at Bangor High—there are few like her anywhere. May her retirement years be happy ones!

“Teachers have homework too!” smiles Miss Copeland.

Pancake Supper And Open House Prove Successful

In April the Bangor High School cafeteria was filled with the tantalizing aroma of light brown pancakes as the Student Council sponsored its second annual pancake supper. Student council members and courageous mothers manned the grills to prepare a feast that satisfied even the most hungry pancake lovers. Overall chairmen for the event were Wendy Porter and Judy Brookings who did a fine job of making sure the supper was well publicized and organized.

Members of the B-Club once again took the part of singing waiters and gave unique renditions of "old favorites" that were a delight to all those attending.

Another high point in the evening was the Open House. This project gives the public an opportunity to learn what is going on at Bangor High through imaginative exhibits and impromptu discussions with the teachers. There were a number of special attractions, including a volleyball tournament and exhibits from all departments. One of the most popular attractions was the voting machines in B-lobby. These were borrowed from the city and gave everyone over the age of sixteen a chance to vote on the Vietnam war, their presidential favorite, and the question of continuing Open House. The entire evening was a full and busy one that lived up to the traditionally friendly B.H.S. hospitality.

Susan Sinclair and Stephanie Seguino await their turn to use the mock voting machine at the Open House.

Custodians Stress Neatness For Everyone

Students at Bangor High often take it for granted that the school is always kept as neat as possible. They should stop to consider the amount of work that goes into keeping the school in good condition. This duty is handled by a very capable crew of custodians, headed by George Hayes. The job of a custodian is never done. He can be seen at all hours of the day, cleaning desks and floors or taking care of the grounds around the building. The custodians are relied upon to fix lockers that won't open, to open windows that are jammed, and among other things, to unlock the door to the ski room. B.H.S. owes a great deal to its custodians.

Mr. George Hayes pauses during a busy day for a brief refreshment.

Cafeteria Offers Students Excellent Meals And Service

Managing a cafeteria the size of the one at B.H.S. could pose a problem; yet, Mrs. Winifred MacLeod, cafeteria manager, keeps things running smoothly. Each day the students are provided nourishing hot lunches or a variety of foods for those who prefer a cold lunch. Cleanliness is the by-word in the kitchen, which is equipped with modern machinery to facilitate the entire process.

Spaghetti and "Sloppy Joes" have been on the top of the best selling list this year. The entire student body has eaten over 1,000,000 freshly baked rolls.

ACTIVITIES

Extra-curricular activities at Bangor High School are co-ordinated so that each student can be sure of finding at least one to suit his taste. Activities are an integral part of life at B.H.S. and provide not only pleasurable times but also enlarge a student's outlook and help support school unity.

Student Council Has Busy Year

The Student Council, led by President David Cheever, certainly had a busy year. With the help of C. Robert Jones, Student Council Adviser, the 1967-68 Bangor High School Student Council took a closer look at the student and his problems.

One of the main topics of the year was that of hair length. To get the opinions of other schools, the Student Council wrote to various schools throughout the country asking about their individual policies on hair lengths. After many discussions and conferences with Dana M. Simmons, principal, a new Bangor High School policy on hair was approved.

To aid school spirit, the Student Council purchased athletic letters, and sweaters for the pep club, Ram Rousers. But perhaps the true novelty of the year was the renting of a "live" ram to boost the Bangor High School football team at the games.

From September to June, the Student Council was kept moving with its various activities. In November the Student Council designated one day to be Oracle day to stir up yearbook enthusiasm. In December the musical

Once again in April, the Student Council held the Pancake Supper and the Open House. Because of the good times had at last year's Pancake Supper, this year's Student Council decided to carry on the tradition.

Another annual event, All Bangor Night, was held in May. This being the biggest event of the school year, it was also sponsored by the Student Council.

Throughout the year, B.H.S. students have had the opportunity to hear many guest speakers at assemblies. The Student Council has tried to obtain a variety of informative as well as entertaining programs for the benefit of all.

All in all, the 1967-1968 Student Council accomplished a great deal by promoting school spirit, providing educational programs, and sponsoring entertainment for Bangor High students.

Debate Club Rated Tops In Eastern Maine

Once again, the Bangor High Debate Club, with the coaching of Mr. G. Craig Abbott, compiled an impressive record. The debate club has seen action from Ellsworth High School to Dartmouth College. The club participated in several interscholastic practice tournaments, the University of Maine Tournament, the Dartmouth Tournament, Penobscot Valley Conference, and the Bates College Finals.

At the University of Maine Tournament, represented by the varsity teams of Glenn Warner, Al Freedman, Martha Blinoff, and Joe Seale, Bangor ranked fifth in New England. Bangor High, represented by the same teams, received top honors in the Penobscot Valley Conference and tied with Rockland for top honors in the first elimination rounds of the state championship. The topic was: Resolved that Congress should establish uniform regulations to control criminal investigation procedures.

The debate club also extended itself to participation in other school activities including a booth at All Bangor Night and an exhibition debate for the junior high schools.

"We Love You, Birdie"

Under the direction of James H. Pike, the Student Council's presentation of "Bye, Bye Birdie" was performed in December to an enthusiastic audience. Heading the cast were Steven Butler who portrayed Albert, the sentimental coward, and Lenore Grunko who played the role of the vivacious Rosie. David Emery and Martha Pinkham were Mr. and Mrs. McAfee, the distraught parents. Monica Harris as Kim, their typically irrational teenage daughter was a good foil to the much idolized Conrad Birdie as portrayed by Swift Tarbell. Richard Dyer was the delightfully witless Randolph; Robert Bridges was Hugo, the dejected suitor; and Diane Hewes was Albert's irrepressible whining mother. Janet Hanner and Zelda Chamoff also excelled in their supporting performances.

Although the entire cast performed with finesse, the show could not have been the great success that it was without the creative settings designed by Palmer Libby and the music played by Julia Green.

Horse Club Has Active Year

In the first full year as an organized club at Bangor High School, the Horse Club has attained many of its goals. The main purpose of the meetings, which were held twice a month, was to share information and spread interest in horsemanship. This goal was achieved through lectures given by members of the club on such subjects as saddle cleaning and stock seat riding; by guest speakers including Mrs. Brayley Gray from Newburg, Maine, who spoke on various aspects of horsemanship, including the hunt seat; and by sending delegates to the clinic on riding held at the University of Maine. “Dirigo” Builds Leaders

Delegates to the Dirigo model governments, held for one week during the end of June each year, were chosen from Bangor High School on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and character. The Boys' and Girls' States are organized and run by the American Legion in an attempt to familiarize potential leaders with state government procedures, and to instill in them an interest in government. Although the delegates are divided into two political parties, Nationalists and Federalists, the students live in towns which elect officials without regard to political convictions. Party caucuses are held when state officials are being elected. The week is filled with valuable learning experiences as well as many happy memories.

Delegates to Girls' State, to be held at Colby College, are Patricia Carlisle, Maria Miragliuolo, and Deborah Webster, with alternates Cathy Hammond, Kathy Kimball, and Carlene Jacques. Delegates to Boys' State, at the University of Maine, are Timothy Tsoulas, Jonathan Sprague, Glenn Warner, Alfred Frawley, Thomas Halkett, with alternates Robert Leeman and Larry McNally.

AFS Promotes World Unity

Bangor High School's chapter of the American Field Service is proud of its past years' achievements and this year is no exception. The club's purpose, which is to further relations among other nations and to learn to live with the ideas of others, was expressed in a variety of ways.

As always, the AFS attempts to have one or two students from foreign countries and to send some Bangor High students abroad for either the summer or a full school year. BHS's guest for this year was an Italian student—Georgio Tamburlini. Everyone at Bangor High has enjoyed his high spirits and great personality.

The annual dance, sponsored by the AFS, was a splendid success. The student body also deserves recognition for their cooperation and support on "Penny Day." On AFS Day in March members held an assembly for the school in which exchange students from the surrounding area participated. To top it off, "goodies" were sold during the lunch waves.

As for the more serious side of AFS, the annual Smorgasbord was a refreshing event. The student organization worked with the adult committee to raise funds for both organizations. AFS'ers owe a great deal to Mrs. Anne Brann, one of the advisers. Replacing the retiring adviser, Mrs. Louise Hammons, she took up the reins and guided the club, with the help of Mr. Efthim Economu, on to bigger and better ideas and "happenings." The AFS has truly proved the theme of unity to the world.

"You sure can't beat Italian cooking!" says Georgio Tamburlini.

"Ugly Duckling" Goes To Rhode Island

Ambitious Bangor High students under the direction of James A. Pike, assisted by J. Palmer Libby, presented a one-act play entitled "The Ugly Duckling", by A. A. Milne. Members of the cast were as follows: D. Emery, M. Harris, M. Perrow, S. Cook, W. Stone, D. Cheever, C. Gross, and J. Hassis. The first step on the long road they were to follow took place at Orono High School, where they won the sectional title with ease and then the following week went on to regional competition at the University of Maine where they captured the regional crown. After a short rest from competition, the cast and directors set out for Bowdoin College and state competition. At Bowdoin, Bangor took second place and the right to go to the New England Drama Festival at Kingston, R. I., in April. It was during the competition at Bowdoin that David Emery was chosen all-Maine actor by the panel of judges. The next, and possibly most important, step for the "Ugly Duckling" was the stiff competition at the New Englands. There were no winners chosen at this competition but Bangor's thespians made a fine showing in that Monica Harris and David Emery were named all-New England actress and actor. Dramatics at B. H. S. has had an exceptional year and seems to be headed for many more.

Orascope Keeps BHS Informed

To present students of Bangor High School with an accurate picture of the events going on, the Orascope staff put out three copies of the school newspaper during the 1967-1968 school year. With the help of Miss Jessie L. Fraser, adviser, the editor, Mindy Browne, and assistant editor, Cindy Broder, worked with an efficient staff in making several changes in the traditional newspaper. Among these were the addition of letters to the editor, and more student and teacher interviews. With the aid of newspaper skills learned in the journalism class, the Orascope staff gave the students of Bangor High a greater insight into the people and activities of the school.

Self-Expression Is Achieved By Art Club

Along with daily art classes, Bangor High has had an active art club which is chiefly concerned with art as a means of self-expression and realization of the inner emotions. With the advice and leadership of Mr. J. Palmer Libby, the members of the Art Club have further enriched their interest in art. Mr. Libby demonstrated various art techniques using watercolors, crayon, tempera, and charcoal; students served as models.

Lectures and advice on art schools also take up some of their time. When the members of the Art Club aren't working on props for the school plays, snow sculptures, or wall plaques for the school cafeteria, they find time to work on individual projects such as yarn tapestries on burlap, or giant sized teddy bears. Learning by doing is what these students are practicing and their efforts have brought reward to themselves and to the entire school. Officers for the 1967-1968 year were Reva Rolnick, president; Mickey Spellman, vice president and secretary.

Students Help Out In Library

Library aides volunteering their spare study hall time to help the librarians, Miss Paulene Dunn and Mrs. Isabelle Croxford, are a group of students who keep the library in order. The nearly thirty assistants shelve returned books, check on new book orders, keep attendance records, and arrange attractive seasonal displays in the showcase.

This working group periodically held entertaining meetings. At the autumn meeting, Crystal Ramsey gave an interesting talk on her summer in Haiti. Georgio Tambourlini, the foreign exchange student from Italy, discoursed on his homeland at the Christmas party. The Valentine party featured Page Booth, who talked about life in Thailand. An annual picnic was held in the spring.

The library assistants learn how a library functions while cultivating respect and interest for the materials it contains. Gretchen Miner and Charles Proctor were co-presidents for the 1967-1968 year with Crystal Ramsey as secretary.

S. O. S. Helps School

Bangor High School is fortunate in having an S. O. S. Club, Student Organization for Service, which renders various services to the school. Under the direction of Mrs. Arlene Peakes, the organization endeavors to assist members of the faculty in any way possible. President Marcia Bennett conducts the weekly meetings at which JoAnn Dauphinee, secretary, records the minutes.

Included in the club services are assisting in the guidance and attendance offices, and aiding teachers from the various departments. As a special service, the organization worked during the annual Future Teachers of America Convention.

Future Teachers Of America

Under the guidance of Mrs. Charlotte Haskell, the F.T.A. Club meets on the second Wednesday of every month in the B.H.S. library. The purpose of the F.T.A. Club is to increase interest in and to become better acquainted with the teaching profession. This year the club went on field trips to the University of Maine where they visited the Planetarium and the E.T.V. Station.

In October all the F.T.A. Chapters throughout the state of Maine met in New Brunswick for a convention. During this convention the members attending heard speeches about their chosen profession.

Presiding as officers this year were Caryl Weymouth, president; Constance Carson, vice-president; Anita Warner, secretary; and Linda Dunnett, treasurer.

"Guess what?" says Anita Warner, "I'm going to be a teacher."

All Bangor Night

"To Bangor With Love" was this year's theme for All Bangor Night, sponsored annually by the Student Council. It told the story of the activities—such as studying and sports—of a typical student at Bangor High School.

Highlights included a skit from each of the class councils and several modern musical numbers. The students were also entertained by the Paxton Backstreet Carnival during the stage show. At the dance afterwards, the Doll-fins and the Barracudas provided music for the dance.

Louise Sawyer was the stage show director. The committee was comprised of Julie Green, Swift Tarbell, Lenore Grunko, and Steven Butler.

French Club Widens Students' Horizons

Under the supervision of Mrs. Bernadette Daigle, the Bangor High French Club, chartered last fall by the Student Council, began achieving its goal of widening the horizons of the French student in French culture. To reach this goal the students listened to guest French speakers, put on skits, learned French songs, and held parties based on the customs of a French province such as Provence. The members planned a booth and a skit for All Bangor Night.

All meetings were conducted in French by President Marlene Chason. Other officers for the 1967-68 school year were vice-president, Georgio Tamburlini and secretary, Deborah Rice.

Orchestra Shows Promise

Providing students with a program to learn the finer technique of music, the orchestra worked to achieve a sound of the highest quality. Having produced music of a lighter type, the Bangor High School orchestra participated in the annual Pops Concert in March. "Serenade to Spring" was the theme carried out in the decorations and program.

Under the leadership of Miss Marian McKenney, the rehearsals were held on Monday and Thursday afternoons. This year for the first time the music department rewarded each student who worked diligently and obtained two hundred practice minutes a week with one half a Carnegie unit. Among the many selections rehearsed were "My Fair Lady," "Lucille," "Serenade to Spring," and "Blue Tango."

Following six weeks of intensive competition, six students of Bangor High were chosen to represent B.H.S. at the All-State Music Festival in Caribou in April. In addition, four members of the orchestra performed outside the school on various concerts. A violin solo by Donald Hawkes accompanied by Margaret McCarthy took place in February, while in March Daniel Earle and Louise Sawyer played a cello and flute duet at the Fruit Street School "Music Hour."

Bangor Band Has Active Year

Under the leadership of Mr. Aime Simoneau, band director, the Bangor High School Band aroused enthusiasm and school spirit this year at school and civic activities. The band was present at all football and basketball games and attended all rallies. Our band had the privilege of going to the state championship football game at Bowdoin College in November.

Representing Bangor High School, the band marched in the Veterans' Day and the Memorial Day Parades. Along with the choruses and orchestra, they participated in the Pops Concert in March.

Girls Shine In Concert

Walking through the music wing on a Monday afternoon, any Bangor High School student could have heard the dulcet tones of the Girls' Chorus. Miss Kathleen Hewes worked with the girls as a group and individually to prepare a successful singing group.

The girls were invited to join the Mixed Chorus in song at the annual Pops Concert in March. The combined girls sang popular show tunes such as "Hello, Dolly," "More," and "The Sound of Music." Having had a small group this year, Miss Hewes looks forward to a larger chorus next year.

Voices Blend In The Sound Of Music

"The Sound of Music" filled the air each Thursday at 2:45 as the Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Miss Kathleen Hewes, rehearsed diligently. Singing popular show tunes, the talented group delighted its audience at the annual spring Pops Concert at Peakes Auditorium in March. Representatives from each of the musical groups decided upon the theme for the concert. The boys' dynamic bass voices contrasted with the high notes of the sopranos blending in perfect harmony and providing enjoyment for all who heard them sing.

Several members of the chorus were rewarded when they were selected to go to Caribou in April to participate in the All-State Music Festival. Each member of the chorus dedicated one free period weekly to rehearse separately with Miss Hewes.

Members of the double mixed trio R. Bremner, K. Wood, M. Pinkham, N. Boyington, C. Boyington, and S. Hayes rehearse with Gretchen Miner for a public performance.

BHS Represented At All-State

Fifteen musicians were selected to represent Bangor High School in the annual All-State Music Festival held in the city of Caribou in April. Auditions for All-State were held before a panel of judges in November; in January the results were announced. The three groups, band, orchestra, and chorus, consist of some of Maine's finest musicians. Through their participation in the All-State Music Festival, these young instrumentalists and vocalists are given the opportunity to enrich their musical knowledge and talent.

Science Club Is On The Move

At 2:45 p. m. each Wednesday afternoon, enthusiastic members flocked to B-109 to assemble for the weekly reunion of the Science Seminar Society. Scientific interests were discussed in various fields ranging from UFO's to LSD. At the close of the meeting refreshments were provided and served by Mr. Frederick Cushman, adviser to the Society. Many members then worked with the lab's extensive equipment.

The Society's main interest this school year was the preparation for and participation in the Regional Science Fair. Only projects of the highest calibre were admitted into this highly competitive contest. Various endeavors included the following: an investigation of cancer in plants by Louise Reid, a galactic stellar population made by Charles Thomas, the building of a rocket by John McLeod and Robert Sutton, and experiments in holography by Tom McCormick.

Meanwhile, as the Society's members strived for competition and perfection of their individual projects, new scientific material, films, and equipment were obtained for the further advancement of science. The Science Seminar Society, a recent member of the National Science Clubs of America, employed a democratic mode of conduct where new ideas were welcomed. The year's officers were John Merritt, Chairman; Robert Sutton, Assistant Chairman; Louise Reid, Recording Secretary; Charles Thomas, Corresponding Secretary; Steven Wong, Librarian; and Charles Proctor, Curator.

D.E.C.A. Gives Students Practical Experience

Every student enrolled in the Distributive Education program automatically becomes a member of the Bangor High School chapter of the Distributive Education Clubs of America. As the Distributive Education course requires for credit outside training in the stores of Bangor merchants, meetings are conducted during class hours and activities are extremely limited. The community greatly benefits from the foresight and interest taken by the organization to prepare its future citizens for industry's fast moving pace.

In March the club participated in the annual state convention of DECA held in South Portland. There the members enjoyed refreshments, various contests, and reunions with friends. Serving as state treasurer for the 1967-1968 school year was Tom Plummer of Bangor High. The officers of the Bangor Chapter were president, Nancy D'Amboise; vice president, Tom Plummer; secretary, Pat McDonough; treasurer, Sharon Spratt. Mr. Byron Perry was adviser to the club.

National Honor Society Upholds Traditions

As the most highly selective and dignified organization at Bangor High School, membership to the National Honor Society is the goal of every scholar and the exaltation of every member. Dedicated to the ideals of scholarship, leadership, service, and character, the National Honor Society sets its standards high. Students maintaining an eighty-five average and participating in extra-curricular activities may be eligible. However, only fifteen percent of the senior class and five percent of the junior class are rewarded with membership.

The Society's activities are limited because of the fact that other school organizations consume most of the members' time. Nevertheless, most students will long remember the colorful Valentine Day Campaign sponsored by the Society. Not only were students and faculty entertained, the melodies were also enjoyed by the Mayor from Trieste, Italy, who was touring Bangor and visiting BHS at the time.

Officers for the 1967-1968 school year were Michael Giggey, president; Linda Brookings, vice-president; Joline Dudley, secretary; and Marlene Chason, treasurer. Mrs. Elizabeth Trowbridge is the adviser. In May, the Society changed hands. This year's seniors will, next year, seek their vocations and expound on the ideals of the organization; this year's juniors will, next year, adopt them. Thus, the National Honor Society preserves and displays its quality.

"Would you be my Valentine, Mrs. Trowbridge???" pleads Dave Snyder.

MILITARY

As an integral part of Bangor High School, the Reserve Officers' Training Corps has always taken pride in its cadets. The ROTC established nationally in 1819, was started at Bangor High in 1860 as a progressive step toward high school military training. This organization develops values such as a sense of harmony, uniformity, and unity.

On the adjacent page the Color Guard, all of whose members are Stetsons, proudly displays the flag of the United States of America and that of Bangor High School. As everyone is united under one flag by his allegiance to his country, so the students of Bangor High School are united by loyalty to the school.

R. O. T. C. Displays A Proud History

As an integral part of Bangor High School, the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, has had a proud history of service to the community. Established as the first unit of its kind in 1861, the Corps has become one of Bangor's most honored institutions.

Concerned primarily with leadership training in preparation for active military duty, the Corps teaches the cadet the fundamentals of military drill and courtesy. If he so elects, the cadet may continue his training as a junior or a senior in more complex areas such as tactics and weaponry.

Outgrowths of the ROTC program such as the precision marching unit, the Stetsons; the girls' marching unit the Stetsonettes; the A and B Rifle Teams, and most recently the girls' Rifle Team have served to involve a large number of students in the ROTC program.

R. O. T. C. Maintains High Ideals

Satisfying the needs of the young men to be educated, the ROTC constantly revises its curriculum to emphasize the dominant values that society considers worthy of retaining, and to fulfill the requirements of the Department of the Army. The cadet's training also enhances his military technical knowledge and skills, develops his appreciation in such areas as the Army's roll in national defense, individual discipline and respect for constituted authority, personal honor and deportment among fellow citizens, habits of orderliness and precision in drill, and performance of applicatory training.

Upon satisfactory completion of the Junior ROTC Program of Instruction, the cadet is well prepared for advancement in his future military obligations and is better equipped to assume his responsibilities as a citizen of the community.

At the end of May, each year, the Stetsons travel to Fort Devens, Ayer, Massachusetts, to participate in the New England ROTC drill competition. The Stetsons performed this year under the command of Cadet D. McMullin, Cadet J. MacLeod acted as vice-commander and Cadet S. Wong as secretary-treasurer.

Stetsonettes Are New England Champions

Stetsonettes were formed in the early 1950's to provide halftime entertainment at football and basketball games. Invited by the Maine State Principals' Association, the Stetsonettes, representing Bangor High School, performed halftime entertainment at the State Championship Football Game at Bowdoin College in 1967. In May they traveled to Fort Devens, to vie for the New England Champions title, which they have held for the past three years.

Performing at three away football games and one away basketball game along with regular home games, the Stetsonettes proved what great champions they really are.

Officers for this year are as follows: president, Rebecca Newton; vice president, Marcia Bennett; treasurer, Gretchen Miner; and secretary, Deborah Frankland.

Boys' Rifle Team Finish Another Successful Year

Directly after school on Wednesdays and Fridays, the members of the Boys' Rifle Club can be found on the practice firing range under "A" ramp. The club is divided into four teams; team A-1, captained by Steve Bateman, is for the more advanced shooters; team A-2, led by Bruce Gray, is also for the experienced shooters; teams B-1 and B-2, captained by Brian Smith, are for the less experienced shooters.

While most sports last only two to three months, the Boys' Rifle Team is unique, in that the boys start practice in early September and carry on competition through the end of April.

This year the boys practiced twice a week from September through January. In February they started competition by shooting in the Pine Tree League, an eight-week session carried on through the mail. In March they shot in the Hampden Junior Tournament, the Cumberland Invitational Tournament and the First Army Rifle Match. In April the teams shot in the Northeastern Invitational Tournament. They also shot a postal match against the Boys' Rifle Team of New Bedford, Massachusetts. This year the boys were given the added privilege of the use of the facilities of the Bangor Reserve Center.

Girls Compete Through The Mail

Captained by Sharon Slep, and under the supervision of S.F.C. Daniel F. Kuck, the Girls' Rifle Team completed its second successful year of instruction and competition since revision of the team in the fall of 1966. The group, which is open to all Stetsonettes, spent the first semester taking classroom instruction on how to care for and use a rifle properly. During the second semester the team participated in postal competition.

In postal competition the team normally receives a letter from another girls' or boys' team in the area challenging them to a formal match. If they choose to accept, and they generally do, each girl who is to fire is given a number and directions on positions to shoot from and the number of targets to shoot. When the members complete their firing, they compile their scores and send them to the opposition. The victor is then determined by a comparison of scores.

SPORTS

Ranging from football to golf, Bangor High's varsity and intramurals sports enable a student to learn the importance of working in unity with others. The participation of the student in these athletics also helps to strengthen the individual unity between the mind and the body, encouraging the fact that athletic ability should go hand-in-hand with good sportsmanship and the will to win.

Rams Roll To Undefeated Record

Rolling over nine straight opponents, Bangor High's football team finished the regular season with its first undefeated team since 1947. The Rams' perfect record of nine wins and no losses gave them possession of State Class A, Division One Champions and earned them the right to meet the Division Two Champs, Biddeford, for the state title.

In the opening game of the season, the Rams dumped Edward Little at Auburn by the score of 26-6. The next game was also played away, at Thornton of Saco. In what turned out to be the closest game of the season, Bangor pulled out a hard fought verdict of 12-7. The action then came to Bangor for the first home game against St. Louis of Biddeford. Although this game was rated as a toss-up, Bangor won 26-13. Waterville's Purple Panthers were the next victims as the Rams opened up their bomb sights and blasted them 41-0. After their easy win over Waterville, the Ram gridders were faced by another unbeaten team, Portland. However, Bangor had too much and proved it by sending Portland down to its first defeat 27-6. Staying at home to play its second straight home game, B.H.S. scored 21 points in the second half on a cold and windy day to defeat the Blue Devils of Lewiston with a solid 21-6 win.

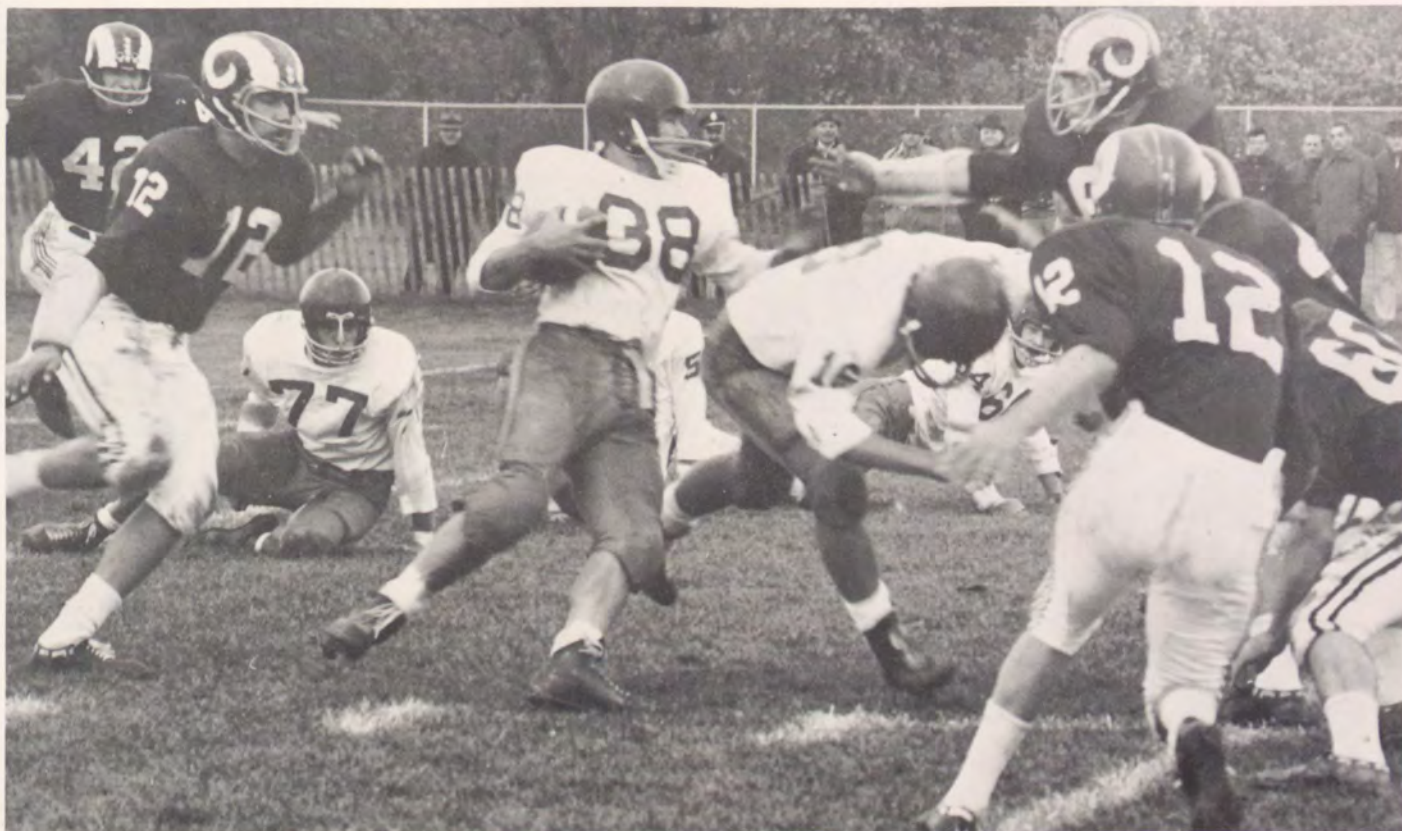

Once again it was traveling time as Bangor's Rams met the Deering Rams at Deering. For the second time of the season Bangor hit the 40 point mark as they stomped Deering 40-16. The final two games of their campaign were played at home. South Portland was stopped as Bangor passed for three TD's for a 21-7 win. Finally, in the game that the players had waited for all year, the Rams avenged their last year's loss to Brewer by rolling over the Brewer Witches 27-7. In the state title game played at Brunswick, the Bangor Rams put up a valiant but losing fight as they were defeated by Biddeford 20-0.

Led by the tri-captains, Steve Crane, Tom Newman, and Bob Reynolds, Bangor was called one of the most completely balanced ball clubs that have played in the state of Maine for sometime. Its offensive team, which was one of the top in the state, rolled across 33 touchdowns for 231 points or a 25 points per game average. The defense team played equally as well by allowing a mere 10 touchdowns during the regular season for only 68 points, best in the Class A league. The offensive line was well played by ends Don Snyder and Tom Newman, tackles Gene Rowe and John Bradford, guards Ken Kissinger and Bob Reynolds, and center Steve Crane. The backfield was placed in the hands of quarterback Joe Higgins, halfback Dave Snyder and Steve Crane, and fullback Steve Glencross. Allowing for the Rams to have a good amount of offensive depth were running backs Dave Cheever, Mike Magee, Jim "Red" Bassford, and Jim Blood; quarterback Joe Stuka; and linemen John Sprague, Spider Goggins, Dick Maidlow, and Steve Collenburg.

Meanwhile, while the offensive unit was chalking up points, the Ram defense was preventing their opponents from scoring. Some of the stalwart members of this unit were Jim Bassford, Steve Crane, Steve Curran, Boyce Gillette, Spider Goggins, Steve Glencross, Ken Kissinger, Mike Magee, Tom Newman, Bob Reynolds, and Don Snyder. A fine job of punting was done by Steve Glencross who was backed up by sophomore Steve Vanidestine. The extra points and kick-offs were placed at the capable feet of Gene Rowe.

When it came time to pick members for the All-State Team, Bangor had no trouble placing four men on the first team and three on the second team. Those who made the first string were tackle Gene Rowe, guard Bob Reynolds, end Don Snyder, and halfback Steve Crane. On the second team were center Steve Curran, quarterback Joe Higgins and defensive end Tom Newman.

Of course, a team would not be a team without coaches, and this year's coaches were great. Joining Head Coach Gerald Hodge and Line Coach Norris Nickerson were Dick Devarney and John White who both played outstanding football at the U. of Maine. Devarney handled the backfield, while White took care of the ends. This year Coach Hodge was chosen as Coach of the Year.

Ram Dalers Finish 8-2 Season

Running over hill and dale, this year's fine varsity Cross Country team compiled an outstanding record of eight wins, one second place and one eleventh place. Led by its able captain, Richard Hoar, the Ram Dalers went undefeated through their regular season as they defeated nine teams in six meets. Some of the teams which saw their dust were Higgins, Ellsworth, M.C.I., Old Town, Brewer and Cony. During these six meets the average Bangor score was 22 points which was quite close to a perfect score of 15 points. After its perfect regular season, Bangor swept the Regionals. The Rams got by four other teams to become Regional Champions. Then they continued their unbeaten way as they became Sectional Champions by upending three other Regional Champs. However their record was not to go unmarred, and they were forced to take second place to Deering in the State Meet which included 12 Sectional winners from all over the state. When the team went to the New Englands, Bangor placed eleventh among the fifteen best teams from five New England States.

The Bangor Cross Country team, coached by Mr. G. Vincent Cuzzo, showed that it has plenty of depth and is well balanced. The score for the Inter-Class Meet was Seniors, 22; Juniors 23; and Sophomores, 73. Letter winners this year were Seniors—Leo Caler, Sid Dunn, Mgr.; Fred Fitch, Jim Freudenthaler, Richard Hoar, captain; Robert Pilot, Barry Porter, and Pat White, and Juniors—Roland Booker, Greg Dunn, Tom Sawyer, next year's captain elect; and Ron Snyder.

Bangor Swim Team Shines

Swimming rings around its opponents, the Bangor High Swim team finished the regular season with an excellent record of seven wins and one loss. The team's only loss came at the hands of Portland High School, a team that later won the State and New England Titles. Some of the teams who were dunked by the Rams were Brunswick, South Portland, Lewiston, and Deering. Two pre-season meets were also won by Bangor. They were both against the University of New Brunswick and showed that Bangor was a team to be reckoned with. In the State meet, the Ram Mermen were runners up behind Portland; the team also captured ninth place when it sent five men to the New Englands.

Leading the team this year were Tom Newman and Tom Rice. Newman was very strong in the 100 yard backstroke as well as being reliable in the 50 yard freestyle and on the 200 yard medley relay. Rice was an iron man in several events. He excelled in the 50 yard freestyle and also recorded excellent times in the 100 yard freestyle and 100 yard butterfly. Several other outstanding team members were Dale Chalmers, 200 yard freestyle; Gene Lenfest, 200 yard individual medley; Zip Kellogg, 400 yard freestyle; Lenny Gordon, 100 yard breaststroke and Bob Sutton, 100 yard backstroke. The team also had two very strong relay teams.

Coaching duties for the team were ably handled by Coach Mark Michelson, who is an outstanding swimmer himself. He was assisted by managers Joe Porter and Jeff Hassis.

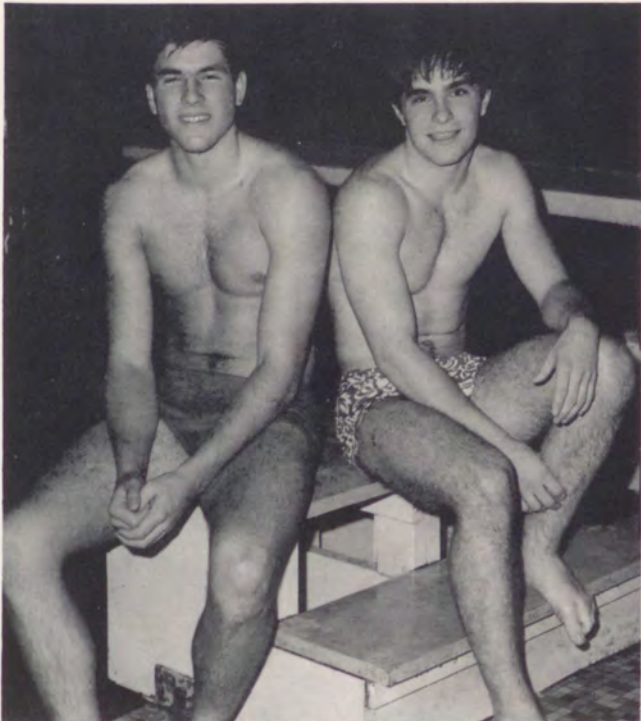

As well as having experienced seniors on the team, there were also many juniors and sophomores who showed promise and ability. These factors gave the team good balance.

Track Team Is Well Balanced

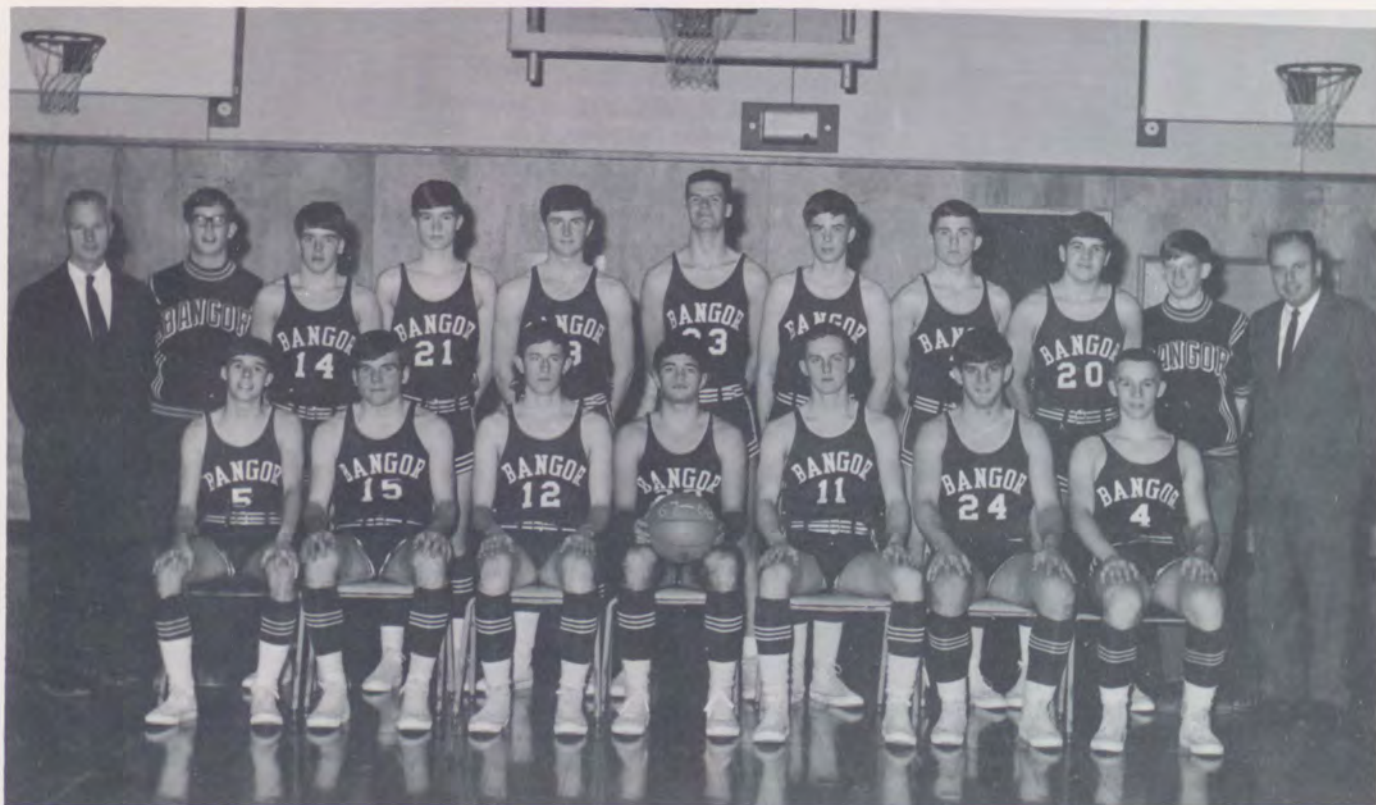

Having one of its largest turn-outs in several years, the Bangor High Track Team was quite impressive. Consisting of over 35 boys, the team had a busy schedule, meeting such teams as Orono, Old Town, John Bapst, Deering, the Colby Frosh, and the Maine Frosh. Highlighting the year was the State Meet held at South Portland in June.

This year's team was a well balanced one with good strength in most of the events. Among those returning from last year's team were Leo Caler, Fred Fitch, Jeff Goggins, Dick Hoar, Rod McDonald, Ron Snyder, and Swift Tarbell who formed the foundation for a strong team.

In his first year, Coach John White proved to be a capable mentor. He was assisted by Mr. G. Vincent Cuozzo and Mr. Cy Perkins who helped out with some of the coaching duties. This year's manager was Joe Haney, who was serving for the second year.

Rams Find Light In A Dark Season

"Watch us next year," Assistant Coach Gordon Smith replied to the Oracle interviewers. Despite Bangor's winless 0-20 season, promising players working with some of Coach "Red" Barry's future innovations promise Bangor supporters something to watch next year.

This young and inexperienced squad of no returning lettermen did much to frustrate their own hopes through mistakes during the first few games. However, once junior playmakers Don Reynolds and Mike Magee gained the necessary game experience, they motivated the ever-learning sophomore potentials, Bill Magee, Bob McKernan, John Rice, Dick Maidlow, and Jon Sutherland to produce a hard-fighting basketball team. With aid from previous Jayvees, Bob Leeman and Doug Cousins, the Rams presented a challenge to every opponent and often had chance to win quite a few games. Yet frustration seemed always present, appearing to jinx one quarter of every game.

Five seniors maintained positions throughout the season, originally to help win games. When it became evident that tournament hopes were very slim, the squad of seniors, consisting of Mike Giggey, Gene Rowe, and Capt. Rod McNally, from last year's squad, and former Jayvee's of 66-67, John Bradford and Don Gerrish, were used as spotters to aid the developing underclassmen. Rather than promote dissension and loss of morale among the team, very possible and sometimes expected from players realizing their reduced part as players, the seniors endeavored to boost morale by creating sharp competition with the underclassmen in practice and by uniting as a team on a game night. Much credit of the team's healthy attitude goes to the patient and adept handling of Coaches Red Barry and Gordon Smith.

With a full season of game experience under their belts, the Rams can certainly promise a few changes, if not a top contender in Eastern Maine. Just, "Watch us next year."

J.V. Basketball Team Gains Experience

A young and inexperienced squad characterized not only the Varsity but J.V. team this year as the "Juniors" compiled a 5-9 record. Despite the record, few teams found the Ram J.V.'s a pushover. Hustle and spirit were the trademarks of this year's squad, after compensating for the lack of experience and height.

Mid-season shuffling between the Varsity and Junior Varsity unstabilized the line-up as team members had little chance to "gel" as a unit. Coach Miles worked long and hard with his players with hopes to prepare his boys to average this year's Varsity record.

Coupled with five sophomores already playing varsity basketball, this year's J.V.'s, or next year's varsity should have enough experience to establish the winning trend again on the floor of the Bangor Auditorium.

Skiers Apply Knowledge On Hermon Slopes

Though hampered by inclement weather, the Bangor High Ski Club completed the fourth year of skiing fun on the slopes of Bangor High and Hermon Mountain. Under the guidance of adviser, Ralph C. Baxter, the club has grown from a small group of twenty-five to an enthusiastic membership of eighty-five.

This year the club members worked out and were given lessons on Mondays and Wednesdays at BHS. On Fridays the skiers had the opportunity to go to Hermon Mountain to put into practice what they had learned earlier in the week. To supplement the physical activity of the winter, the ski club sponsored a ski film, "The Incredible Skis," in the latter part of January for the benefit of the student body.

All functions of the ski club are subsidized by the School Department; this support enables many students to participate in club activities.

Baseball Team Defends PVC Crown

Defending its crown as 1967 Penobscot Valley Conference Champion, the Bangor High Baseball team played a full schedule of games this year. Some of their games were with Bucksport, John Bapst, Brewer, Ellsworth, and Orono.

The team, coached by Mr. Ralph Baxter, was solidly built around a hub of returning veterans including Dave Cheever, Steve Cook, Joey Higgins, Mike Magee, Don Reynolds, and Don Snyder. There were also some fine sophomore prospects. Overall the team had a good year as it provided plenty of action for its army of fans.

Bangor Athletes Are Honored With B-Club Membership

Becoming a member of the B-Club is a goal many boys strive for each year. The B-Club is the athlete's honor society; membership requires dedication to sports, school spirit, outstanding athletic ability, and a great deal of hard work and practice. To receive a "B" sweater a boy must earn his letter in any of the varsity sports: football, track, basketball, cross country, baseball, swimming, and golf.

B-Club members are versatile. Not only could they be seen competing in athletic contests throughout the year, but they served during the basketball season as door watchers at the auditorium and in the spring they contributed their unique musical talents to the Student Council Pancake Supper by acting as singing waiters. Officers for the year were Tom Newman, president; and Steve Crane, vice president.

Boys' Gymnastics Team Competes In Regional And State Meets

Under the supervision of Coach Arthur Miles, the Boys' Gymnastics team competed in the regional and the state gymnastics meets. Events at both meets included floor exercise, long horse vaulting, side horse, parallel bars, high bar, and still rings.

At the Regional Gymnastics meet held in Howland in March, seven boys from BHS placed. First place winners were Arthur Tilley on long horse vaulting and the side horse, Walter Anderson on the parallel bars and the high bar, Don McKinnon on the still rings, and Mark Memmelaar in floor exercise. On the high bar the BHS boys took the first four places. Winning them were Walter Anderson, first; Don McKinnon, second; Alan Carson, third; and James Burgess, fourth. The other placeholder from BHS was Flint Reid who took second place in floor exercise.

At the State Gymnastics meet held here in Bangor in March the competitors from BHS were Arthur Tilley, Don McKinnon, Mark Memmelaar, and James Burgess. Arthur Tilley placed seventh on the side horse and fourth in long horse vaulting and Don McKinnon took ninth place on the still rings. As a team, Bangor placed ninth, with South Portland placing first and Cony, second.

B. H. S. Gymnasts

Place In State Meet

Each year more and more students participate in high school sports. One sport, gymnastics, is rising in popularity throughout the state. Starting in October, the gymnastics team, coached by Miss Dorothy Raduege, worked diligently in preparation for regional competition. Several members attended a clinic at Farmington Junior High for those interested in the uneven parallel bars and the balance beam.

The regional meet, held in March at Bangor High, brought gymnasts from several surrounding schools. Five gymnasts from Bangor placed, qualifying for state competition. The five girls and their qualifying positions are as follows: Susan Chalmers, third on the trampoline; JoAnne Dauphinee, third on the uneven parallel bars; Linda Fuller, second in free floor exercise; Beth McEvoy, second on the uneven parallel bars; and Marji Mitchell, second on the horse. These girls then proceeded to the state meet the result of which was as follows: Susan Chalmers took fourth place on the trampoline and JoAnne Dauphinee tied for sixth place on the uneven parallel bars.

"Get up there in the basket where you belong, will ya?"

Is this John Merritt or Pancho Gonzales on the tennis court?

What goes up must come down.

Boys' Intramurals Have Strong Turnout

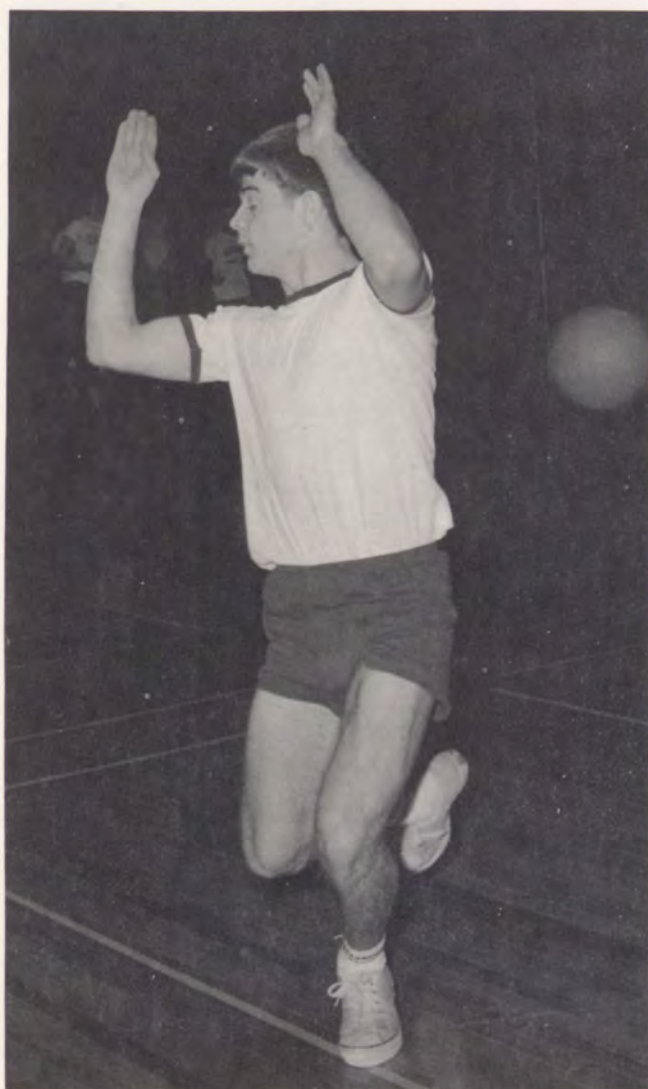

This year the boys' intramural sports program, which previously consisted of the old favorites volleyball and basketball, was greatly expanded. For the first time in the history of the school there were fall intramural activities with 150 boys competing in touch football, soccer, and tennis. Softball and tennis intramurals were held in the spring.

A senior team led by co-captains Don Gerrish and John Cowie deserves special recognition. Calling themselves the "Loafers," they easily defeated the eight opposing teams for the touch football championship. Changing their name to the "Hustlers," they went on to become the soccer champions.

After competing in intra-class games, the two top basketball teams in each class entered the championship competition. One by one the sophomore and junior teams were defeated, leaving the two senior teams, led by their captains Norman Webb and Charlie Hull, to decide the championship. By the narrow margin of 66 to 65, Charlie Hull's team was the victor.

The top volleyball teams in each class competed in the play-off for championship honors. A sophomore team called the "Happenings" was defeated by the "Lovers," a senior team captained by Don Gerrish.

What do you call that step, W. Anderson, the volleyball hop?

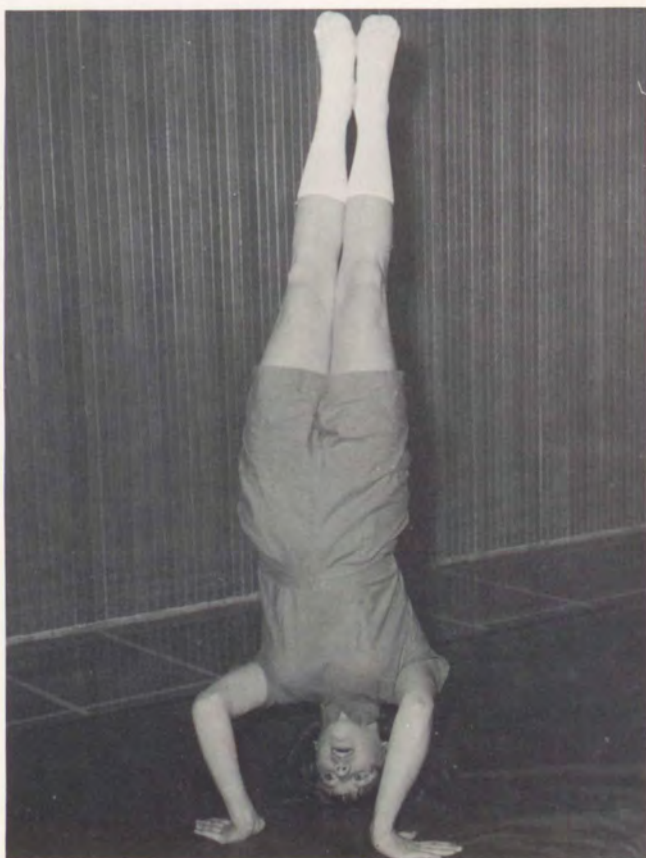

A jump ball signifies the start of the girls' basketball game.

Girls' Intramurals Show Lively Activity

Beginning with tennis and archery in the fall, a full schedule of girls' intramural sports was carried on throughout the entire year. Basketball was the most popular sport, with over a hundred girls turning out. The winning intramural team of the tournament was captained by C. Irwin and consisted of D. Hagerthy, C. Boudreau, D. Larson, K. Feeney, B. Wood, T. Lawrence, and N. McKay.

Volleyball was next on the agenda with two tournaments scheduled. Winner of the first tournament was the team captained by N. Davis; members were C. Hemburg, L. Fuller, S. Neville, C. Winslow, K. Cox, C. Ayer, N. Kelleher, and B. McEvoy. This group went on to become the champions of the Sports' Day in April, defeating teams from Brewer, Hermon, Old Town, and Orono. In the second tournament, "String and the Beans" captained by K. Marley and composed of V. Vose, J. Dauphinee, J. Pierce, D. Rice, D. Seguino, and P. Fuller were the champions. They went on to play a fabulous faculty team. The faculty team members were Miss Dorothy Raduege, Mrs. Rae Patterson, Miss Patricia Austin, Miss Beverley Thorne, Miss Sheila Dowd, Miss Ann Figuredo, and Mrs. Billie Anger. This team proved to be the stiffest competition faced during the year.

Now that's looking at things from a different angle.

Is this anyway to run a basketball game?

The tension mounts as the sprinters await the signal to "go."

Is this volleyball or "Swan Lake?" Who knows?

Girls' Athletic Association Has Varied Plans For The Future

Founded in the fall of 1967, the Girls' Athletic Association at B.H.S. is a subdivision of the G.A.A. of the state of Maine. The main objectives of this new organization are as follows: to stimulate sports activities for girls at B.H.S., to promote wholesome competition, to promote leadership and service, and to give recognition to as many girls as possible for accomplishment in sports activities.

At the organizational meeting the following officers were elected: Kate Wood, president; Wendy Porter, vice-president; and Ann Bradford, secretary. Adviser for the group was Miss Dorothy Raduege. Any girl at B.H.S. with a vital interest in Physical Education may become a member. To date there are 150 members.

Although G.A.A. is still in infancy at B.H.S., it is making great strides. The group has been concentrating on the promotion of recreational activities such as skiing and swimming. In the future there are plans for having a high school sports day involving high schools throughout the area.

High-Spirit Ram Rousers Inspire School Spirit

Those high-spirited Ram Rousers really worked hard this year to inspire their fellow students. The contagious enthusiasm that was shown at the football and basketball games was just a small part of the work that was completed during the year. One innovation of this year's group was "Superscreamer," who made some spirited speeches to the student body. All club members spent many long hours making posters and displaying them around the building, at rallies, and at the games.

JoAnne Dauphinee's efforts as president resulted in the purchase of sweaters for the club members, whose pride in their school proved them worthy of Student Council funds. Other officers for the year were as follows: Vicki Spaulding, vice-president, and Irene Neigel, secretary. Adviser for the year was Nathan Diamond.

Ram Rousers achieved the goal of school spirit and unity. To anyone who attended the meetings or games this year it was obvious that it has shown itself to be a hard working and much appreciated organization.

J. V. Cheerleaders Sport Contagious Spirit

Nine energetic, enthusiastic BHS'ers helped to inspire school spirit in the student body and encourage the Jayvee players on the basketball court, as they carried out the duties of Jayvee cheerleaders during the '67-'68 season. At home they proudly cheered at the games, aided by their mascot Nona Peters. They also followed their team to Old Town, Waterville, and Brewer to back them up through victory or defeat.

The six regular cheerleaders and the two substitutes were chosen from approximately fifty candidates during the early fall; Captain Louise Sawyer was selected the previous spring during try-outs for varsity cheerleaders. All nine girls gained fun-filled memories along with valuable experience during their very successful year.

This year's squad was comprised of the following girls: Brenda Andrews, Helena Loring, Alicia Osborne, Barb Rogers, Ellen Sands, Nancy Speirs, Vicki Taylor, Connie Winslow, and Captain Louise Sawyer. Their adviser was Mrs. Billie Anger.

Varsity Cheerleaders Set Example For The Student Body

"Go-Go, Get 'em, Get 'em, Ugh, Ugh." Yes, that was the familiar sound heard at the games this year. It actually sums up the purpose of a cheerleader. The varsity cheerleading squad reserved the job of creating school spirit and encouraging the spectators to cheer for the team in an organized manner. By leading the students in cheers, songs, and chants, the cheerleaders contributed to the school's enthusiasm at each game.

The main thing that each girl acquires when she becomes a cheerleader is great responsibility. This responsibility covers a variety of subjects from care of her uniform to morals. The cheerleaders are on display at almost every game and are always in the public eye. Dressed in the school colors, they wear it with pride.

This year's varsity cheerleading squad consisted of the following: Co-Captain Martha Blinoff, Mindy Browne, Sally Brown, Dee Campbell, Renee Campbell, Janet Hanner, Cecilia Maher, Sheila Maynard, Joyce Peters, Jeanne Tetreau, and Captain Susan Leeman.

"GO-GO, GET'EM, GET'EM, UGH, UGH," M. Blinoff, S. Leeman, and S. Maynard lead the fans in a cheer at a football game.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Through the years the sophomores and juniors of Bangor High School have worked together to make all of its undertakings a success. In sports, military achievements, drama, and academically they support their school with lively spirit. As each class strives to do the very best for its school, each new group of sophomores and juniors undertakes the job of equalling the previous class if not exceeding it in the quest for success.

Sophomores Show Promising Ambition For BHS

This year's "timid" group of sophomores turned out to be a fine, ambitious group of students, adding to the spirit at BHS. The big turnout at all school activities has proved the class of 1970 to be full of enthusiasm. Several sophomore boys were a big part of the success in football last fall and have shown promise for next year's basketball squad.

Sophomores showed BHS that they could swing with their dances in December and April with sounds of the Freewheelin' and the Barracudas. Their activities in All Bangor Night, including their fabulous skit, were an indication of their young vitality.

BHS is surely going to keep in the swing of things with the class of 1970's new ideas and keen wit. Led by president, William Magee; vice-president, James Bassford; secretary, Ellen Sands; and treasurer, Stuart Chason, the class has shown its ambition to keep BHS up to par.

I don't believe you!

All right, you guys, let's get this settled once and for all. . . Sophomore Adviser Mr. St. Pierre chats with Gary Downes, Pam Smith, Candy Kagan, and Bob McKernan.

Class Of 1969 Adds Color And Zest To B.H.S.

Led by President Glenn Warner, the Junior class worked in all areas of school activities. Working efficiently with him were Linda Taylor, vice-president; Joyce Peters, secretary; and Janet Hanner, treasurer. Advising the class of 1969 were Miss Beverly Thorne and Thomas Robinson.

The outstanding event the entire class participated in was the Winter Carnival in February. Using the theme "Ghost of Winter's Past" the dance was a huge success in both decorations and atmosphere. Crowned as King and Queen of the carnival were Joey Higgins and Mindy Browne.

Bangor High School juniors presented fine representation to many school activities. Allan Freedman and Glenn Warner sparked the varsity debate team on to many victories. Playing key roles in "Bye Bye Birdie," David Emery and Barbara Rogers proved their theatrical abilities. A fine All-Bangor Night performance was arranged by the stage chairman, Louise Sawyer. Susan Laegar and Louise Sawyer were chosen by an A.F.S. selection board as the two finalists for the American Field Service Summer Abroad Program. Mindy Bowne headed the staff of the Orascope with assistance from various junior staff members. Many junior boys have shown outstanding talent in all sports at B.H.S., while the junior girls have proved to be assets in gymnastics.

Participating enthusiastically in all areas of school life, the class of 1969 showed spirit for their class and school.

Juniors J. Gopan, B. Whitehouse, and M. Wadsworth have a motto to live by.

Annual Junior Exhibition Program Presented By The Class Of 1969

As "The Processional March from Scipio" resounded throughout Peakes Auditorium, the junior chorus marched into the auditorium. They were seated and all eyes were focused on the stage as ten speakers appeared from the wings and took their places on the stage. Junior class president, Glenn Warner, welcomed the audience to this annual event which was held in March. The speakers and their selections were as follows: Zelda Chamoff, from The Wizard of Oz, by L. Frank Baum; David Mott, from No Time for Sergeants, by Mack Hyman and Ira Levine; Maria Miragliuolo, from A Tree Grows in Brooklyn by Betty Smith; Jeffrey Braveman, What is it Mrs. Perkins? by Art Buchwald; Melinda Brown, from Caesar and Cleopatra by George Bernard Shaw; Richard Files, Jr., from Soaked in Seaweed by Stephen Leacock; Susan Leager from Medea by Euripides adapted by Robinson Jeffers; John Bronson from I Was a Teenage Dwarf by Max Shulman; Louise Sawyer from I Never Promised You a Rosegarden by Hannah Greene and David Emery from The City Boy by Herman Wouk.

After the fifth speaker, the chorus, directed by Miss Kathleen Hewes, sang two selections "Gloryland" by Eliot and "The Donkey Serenade" by Herbert Marlowe.

The class of 1969 presented its junior exhibition with an interesting production staff, the students from the dramatics arts class, who provided lighting and curtain effects. Mrs. Barbara Browne, assisted by student teacher and Bangor High alumnus Richard Sawyer, directed the speakers. Julia Green and Gretchen Minor were organists. Sally Brown was student chairman for the event. The ten speakers were each presented a Bangor High medal by Principal Dana Simmons.

Louise Sawyer and Adair Price bring their "new" friend, the Bangor mascot, to a football game.

Juniors really swing!

SENIORS

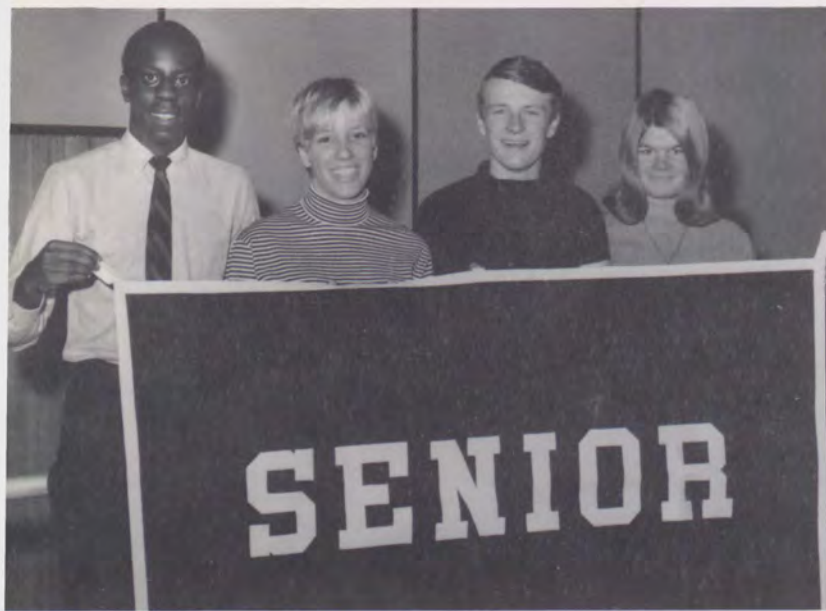

The Class of 1968 has had a successful career at Bangor High because of the strong bonds of unity that began to form when the class first met at Harlow Street School their freshman year. Hopefully this spirit of unity will continue to grow and become a strong influence in the future lives of all the graduates. World unity should be the goal for which each senior strives.

"Class Of '68 Is Great"

This was the enthusiastic cry of the exuberant seniors of 1968. Led by the diligent class officers, the Senior Council guided the entire class through an exciting and memorable senior year.

The class of 1968 has been an exceptionally versatile one, participating in numerous activities. Displaying much interest and talent in sports, seniors were avid members of the football, track, cross-country, swimming, basketball, and baseball teams. Seniors also led the way in dramatics, showing exceptional musical and acting ability in Bangor High School's acclaimed musical, Bye Bye Birdie, and in the Ugly Duckling, this year's one-act play. Debating was still another field in which members of the class excelled.

Seniors, equipped with "68 GREAT" buttons, invaded the Peakes Auditorium on Senior Class Day filled with class spirit and enthusiasm and listened attentively to the plans for the most fantastic Senior Week ever. Throughout the 1967-1968 year, the Senior Class has set a fine example of thoroughness and excellence for which they will long be remembered.

CLASS OFFICERS: Joe Seale, President; Kate Wood, Treasurer; Steve Butler, Vice-President; Monica Harris, Secretary.

SENIOR COUNCIL—Bottom row: Mr. James Quinn, H. Mason, K. Wood, E. Miller, J. Seale, R. McNally, M. Harris, G. Tambourlini, E. Kellogg, Mrs. Muriel Castillo. Top row: B. Cosmos, L. Grunko, M. Blinoff, S. Maynard, S. Butler, S. Tarbell, R. Campbell, G. Tripp, C. Maher, J. Green.

Oracle Staff Seeks To Uphold Tradition

"Yearbooks are our business, our only business." Truer words could not be found better to describe the staff of the 1967-1968 Oracle. Working from early in September until May, the staff sought to produce a book that would uphold the excellent tradition of past Oracles. With the experienced guidance of Miss Jessie L. Fraser, the students overcame the usual and unusual problems of producing this yearbook.

One of the first projects of the year was the selection of the theme "Unity" for the 1968 edition and the designing of the cover. This year the cover was designed by Joel Haney. Next came the actual production of the book—fitting pictures and articles on pages and breathlessly waiting to see the outcome. Thus the various departments set the wheels in motion to produce a memory-filled treasury of the high school year.

ORACLE STAFF—First row: P. Downes, Miss Jessie L. Fraser, R. Bremner, I. Wittner, R. Bridges, J. Merritt. On the ladder: M. Chason, M. Blinoff, K. Marley, H. Mason, J. Dudley.

Ebbtide was the theme for this year's Senior Prom. Under the direction of the Prom Committee, M. Spellman, J. Dudley, chairman; K. Marley, E. Kellogg, M. Jinks, the Senior Lounge was transformed into the mystical world of the ocean floor. Music for the prom was provided by the Jester Holiday.

Under the direction of Julie Green, the senior class presented a skit at All Bangor Night. The students took the parts of various teachers and presented them in a light seldom seen in the classrooms of B.H.S. Members of the cast were J. Green, M. Blinoff, J. Hassis, R. Bremner, S. Glencross, and M. Pinkham.

Seniors R. McDonald, R. Bridges, V. Soule, S. Stark, G. Rowe, and D. Snyder engaged in a bit of Shakespeare, by acting out scenes from Hamlet. The students used their originality to conjure up costumes and atmosphere worthy of Shakespeare.

ADVERTISING

The new Federal Building exemplifies the growth and development of business in Bangor. Urban growth results from the combined efforts of the residents of the community and businessmen. As commercial Bangor has grown, the Oracle has grown over its 76 years of existence because of the fine support it has received year after year from advertisers, residents, and students. With the continuation of the unity, it is the wish of the Class of 1968 that the Oracle will always be a representation of the cooperation which results in progress.

Before you accept that first job . . .

Look over your employer
as carefully
as he does
you

What's the Company like anyway? Would I be proud to work there? Reputation for square dealing with employees? Pleasant surroundings?

Will I be working with others my own age? Are they friendly? Do they socialize after hours?

Will the boss be reasonable? Appreciate good, hard work, but won't explode if I make a mistake?

Will I make a decent week's pay? Have a chance for raises, advancement, more responsibility? How about fringe benefits?

Is the work challenging? I had what it takes to get through high school. Will they give me a chance to use my brains?

Note: Many young men and women in this area can answer "Yes" to these questions. They work for New England Telephone Company . . . New England's largest employer.

Why not talk with our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate? Ask your Guidance Counselor to tell you when and where to apply.

Oracle Extends Thanks To All

The staff of the 1967-1968 Oracle wishes to express its sincere gratitude to the administration, faculty, and the student body for the co-operation given the staff in the production of the yearbook. This co-operation illustrates the unity that exists throughout the school and shows that choosing unity as the theme for the yearbook can be well justified.

But it would be impossible to put out a yearbook without the expert guidance of Miss Jessie L. Fraser. As adviser, Miss Fraser is indispensable. In September when the students joined the staff of the Oracle, they knew little or nothing about yearbook production. Yet Miss Fraser molded this "raw material" into a knowledgeable and workable staff. Many problems, both usual and unusual, arose during the year, but with her omnipresent insight Miss Fraser calmed the staff and the obstacles were surmounted. Working with Miss Fraser has been both a privilege and a pleasure and the staff extends its heartiest thanks for her patience and understanding throughout the year.
