Bookplate of the
Edward Ellison Fund

The Edward Ellison Fund

The fund originated in a bequest made in 1918 by Mary Harris Ellison Curran (Mrs. Nicholas F. Curran), librarian of the Bangor Public Library from 1888-1913, in memory of her father Edward Ellison, who, as the donor said in her will, "in his lifetime loved and honored the City of Bangor."

It is for "the purchase of books, other than works of fiction" of which only one copy is to be bought and that "may never be taken from the Library." It is one of several funds enjoyed by the Bangor Public Library. See pages 6 and 7 of this report for information about all.

The bookplate, reproduced on the previous page, was finished in September 1937, after the principal of the bequest had increased to the amount designated by the donor. It was designed by Elisha Brown Bird and engraved by Sidney Alabaster. It is one of two bookplates by Elisha Brown Bird and seven by Sidney Lawton Smith used in Bangor Public Library books in grateful recognition of the generosity of the donors of funds or in memory of the individuals for whom funds are named.

Report of the Librarian

To the Board of Managers of the Bangor Public Library:

It is normal for the Bangor Public Library, in its field of books and information services, to keep abreast of public interest or to anticipate it.

In 1941 it was normal for us to do something to help meet abnormal conditions. For business men we added or went on with such continuously up-to-date services as the Research Institute of America's "Business and Defense Coordinator," Prentice-Hall's "Federal Tax Service" and "Internal Revenue Code," and Moody's "Investors Service." For air raid wardens we supplied current pamphlets and such authoritative books as Col. A. M. Prentiss' "Civil Air Defense." For Red Cross first aid students we had the "First Aid Text-book." We gave the use of our lecture hall for many Red Cross classes. For aviators we supplied books on aeronautical meteorology, mathematics, and air navigation.

When our 152nd Field Artillery went to Camp Blanding we offered to mail books to Bangor soldiers—not only in that unit, but also in any other—and to sailors. That very few have yet used this service does not spoil the idea. The offer still stands. When the U. S. Army Engineers began the construction of the Bangor Air Base and, later, when the base was manned by the Air Corps, we extended the full use of the library free to all military new-comers and their families. A total of 405 Air Base men have become borrowers. We have lent a library of 1000 volumes to the morale department for recreation hall T-6 at the base and a library of 300 volumes to the hospital at the base. These are unusual activities, but simply a part of our normal job of keeping up with the times.

We have carried on normally, too, in supplying all accustomed calls for books for recreation, information, and study. Our circulation of books was 405,323, or 13.59 books apiece for everyone in the city. This is a drop of only 2.5% from 1940, our peak year, and is far higher than any previous year except 1939 and 1940. Decreased home use of books was noted in all departments at the central library, though the number of questions answered in the reference department increased 7%, to 11,044. Gains in circulation were at the music branch and in the extension department, principally at the Junior high schools, the Eastern Maine General Hospital, and the Forest Avenue branch. The extension department issued 73,340 books. It had never previously issued more, 1931 having been its former peak year.

Books bought totalled 9200. Withdrawals, because of condition, age, or loss, were 3212. The net gain was 5988. On December 31 we owned 218,181 books.

The Bangor Public Library is more than a million-dollar concern. Our endowment, of which only the income is expended, totals $961,587.91. Our building, books, and other property are insured for $380,000.00. The 31% of our operating costs in 1941 for which endowment income was not available was met by city appropriation of $20,300.00.

Our building is twenty-nine years old, yet all visitors say it looks much newer. That is because of good design and constant attention to maintenance. In 1941 we improved our equipment in several ways. A sixty-foot pole, for which a member of this board, Mr. Benson, gave a large flag, was a major improvement that has had much favorable public comment. Other important additions to our equipment were new step covers for the children's entrance, an automatic starter on the main fan motor, a safety switch tapped off the main switchboard, lamp fixtures on some of the public bookcases, new electric fans for the foyer and the lecture hall, a typewriter, and a new catalog case in the children's room.

Repair jobs were repointing exterior stone work, repainting the historical room, repairing a major short circuit in the electric wiring in the book stack, and re-setting the ornamental fence. The public works department of the city paved part of our driveway, which we appreciate. When we can next afford a much-needed, important repair job, which will not be in 1942, we should install new floor surfaces in the reading rooms, lecture hall, and historical room.

Other items of interest with regard to housekeeping details are that, through careful operation, heating costs were reduced for the sixth consecutive year; that we burn so much light that electric lamp replacements cost $154.17; and that floor soap, an item that few people realize as a part of library maintenance, cost $165.00.

Ben Ames Williams' novel of Bangor, "The Strange Woman," was here the book sensation of the year. We own 33 copies, approximately one for every ten persons who want it. "Berlin Diary" (24 copies) and "Out of the Night" (14 copies) were other great book successes. None rivalled the success some years ago of "Gone With the Wind" of which we had 45 copies.

The tables beginning at page 16 give a detailed outline of that fraction of the library's activities that can be recorded statistically.

Respectfully submitted,

L. FELIX RANLETT,
Librarian.

Certification

To the Board of Managers and Trustees of the Bangor Public Library:

I have examined the accounts of Harry D. Benson, Treasurer of the Bangor Public Library, for the year ended December 31, 1941. The cash income and expenditures of the year were found to be properly accounted for, and the cash on hand as of December 31, 1941 was confirmed by certification obtained by me directly from the Merchants National Bank of Bangor.

The securities owned by the Library are held for safe-keeping by the Merchants National Bank of Bangor. They were produced for my inspection by an officer of that bank; all were accounted for and found to be in proper order.
