SINGING CLASS HYMN.

WORDS---MABEL MARTIN.

MUSIC---FRED W. ADAMS.

The wished-for day has come at last,
And merry school days now are past.
But yet our joys are incomplete,
As bitter mingles with the sweet.
Now we have gathered jewels rare,
As we've worked with earnest care.

Thus we have gazed from lofty heights,
Ever viewing strange delights.
As kindly teachers led the way,
With patience, when we went astray;
To whom most hearty thanks we bring,
As our parting song we sing.

And to the thoughts of school days past
We'll bind a mem'ry firm and fast;
To guide our steps in ways of right,
And fill our hearts with truth and light.
That by its influence so true,
Our life course we'll persue.

O dearest classmates, as we part,
May kind affection fill each heart.
And memory ever with us dwell,
Which echoes now our last farewell.
May we rejoice in heaven above,
Each guided by God's love.

Benediction.
