PARTING SONG.

By a Member of the Class.

Dear Schoolmates, as the swift hours fly,
And parting with you draweth nigh,
Glad memory, with her pencil bright,
Portrays the past in golden light;
Her pictures are with care enshrined
Within the palace of the mind,
And never shall their beauty fade,
Far from the hand of time safe laid.

CHORUS—Dear Schoolmates, as we sing farewell,
Our hearts review those hours,
Where, evermore, secure they'll dwell,
Adorned with summer flowers.

Dear teachers, as the moments glide,
A noiseless, unrelenting tide,
Bearing us onward, upward still,
Obedient to their magic will,
With gladsome, earnest, hopeful glance
We view them, wave on wave, advance;
Your presence did our doubts remove,
Encourage, aid, and win our love.

CHORUS—Dear teachers, as we sing farewell,
In gratitude to you,
Our hearts with joy and sorrow swell,
With ardent love and true.

Dear classmates, as the records roll,
Thoughts of the past float o'er each soul;
Our studies, plans and hopes repeat,
Our future go we forth to greet
With purpose right, and earnest heart,
We sadly meet, too soon to part,
Yet ever will we keep alive
The memory of glad "Seventy-five.

CHORUS—Dear classmates, softly sing goodbye,
One star, one hope is given
To lure us all from earth to sky,
That we may meet in Heaven.
