The Search Sets Pace For B. H. S.

The inquiring student, never content with mere "being," shall never cease to strive toward the highest ideals. With relentless drive, he questions and reappraises his present state, striving continually for his fulfillment. He is not afraid to knock on the door of tomorrow, to face the demanding challenges of the future with unfaltering courage. Bangor High School—its students and its faculty—have joined in this search, stepping forth with conviction and firmness.

We of this school, with the receiving of the Pacemaker Award, have been rewarded with a visible testament of the thoroughness of our quest. Our hearts soar with happiness as we witness this, a step toward the fulfillment of ourselves. But our search shall not end here. New goals, higher goals replace the old; the inquiring mind remains insatiable. For what is more noble than a searching soul?

Mr. Dana M. Simmons, Principal, concludes his work as another industrious day at Bangor High School draws to a close.

Monumental Question Of Accreditation Faces Administration

With a successful year in the new Bangor High School completed, the monumental question of whether or not the school and its programs would be rated as accredited remained to face this year's Administration. Under the Administration's supervision, the teachers of Bangor High spent much time compiling a comprehensive evaluation of the new school—its facilities, staff, student body, and the programs and courses offered. The study, covering over 260 pages, was presented to a committee of twenty-three New England educators to be examined and evaluated.

Mr. Dana Simmons, as principal and head of the Administration, was also faced with many responsibilities in the second year of keeping the new school running smoothly. He was assisted in his work by an able staff, including assistant principal Mr. Rodney Bartlett and secretaries Mrs. Wanda Owen, Mrs. Ruth Snyder, Mrs. Alfreda Stevenson, and Mrs. Irene Downes.

Never completely satisfied with the education offered the students, the Administration is constantly seeking and experimenting with improvements and changes in the curriculum. Already, Mr. Simmons and his staff have many new courses planned for next year's student body.

School Officials Prepare For Accreditation Committee

School officials this year have been preparing for the coming of the New England evaluation and Maine accreditation committee. Made up of educators who are specialists in specific areas, the committee visited Bangor High School in early May to judge the facilities which would make this school qualified to merit the honor of accreditation. Accreditation, which Bangor High has held since 1931 from the New England committee, is in effect a stamp of excellence which results from outstanding study programs, varied student activities, abundant library facilities, complete guidance and health service, high departmental goals, and staff and administration qualifications, as well as the adequacy of the plant itself. The visitors monitored classes for three days, and reviewed an exhaustive faculty presentation which the staff members compiled over the last school year. Accreditation is highly regarded by colleges, which place a special significance upon the transcripts of students who have graduated from a school bearing this seal.

School Board Recognized As Outstanding In The Northeast

A realization of the dreams, the hopes, and the ambitions of any school is largely made possible through the efficient and dedicated labor of its school board members. As the policymaking unit of an educational system, this group of interested citizens plays an important part in directing the future course of a city's schools and youth. The long hours so unselfishly devoted by the Bangor School Board have resulted in the fulfillment of many of the dreams of Bangor High School, a school for which every student has a feeling of great pride.

The contributions of the School Board are indeed numerous and may be found within any area of high school life. As tangible evidence of the School Board's service, the Bangor High School Band members were fortunate enough this year to receive new uniforms, for which funds were appropriated by the board to help defray expenses. The many new educational concepts and innovations introduced by the board into Bangor High School certainly were instrumental in the receiving of the Pacemaker Award for a progressive outlook and program.

The true culmination, however, of the marked progress and unfailing efforts of the Bangor School Board was the receiving this year of the Thom McAn National School Board Award. Throughout the northeastern United States, where the award is given, local Teachers' Associations may nominate school boards for national recognition for outstanding achievements in areas like curriculum, building programs, or personnel relations. In view of the full curriculum revision that occurred in the moving to the new Bangor High School, the Bangor Teachers' Association nominated the Bangor School Board for curriculum innovations centering around the developments in the secondary schools. For this the board won a certificate of recognition and the gratitude of the faculty and students of Bangor High School.

In grateful recognition of the achievements of the Bangor School Board, the Oracle staff, on behalf of all of Bangor High School, expresses its most sincere appreciation. The board's continuing dedication to the principles of improvements in education has made Bangor High a school of excellent facilities, progressive ideas, and unnumbered opportunities.

Guidance Helps Students Steer Straight Course

With the firm belief that the heart of a good guidance program is counseling, the guidance department this year has sought to establish an even more personal rapport with each student at Bangor High. To achieve this aim, each class was divided alphabetically among Mr. Richard Klain, department head, Mrs. Rubena Pressey, Mr. Gerald Ballanger, and Mr. Salvatore Coco, to remain with the same counselor until graduation.

During the student's sophomore year, the guidance program emphasizes getting acquainted through a private interview, discussion of study habits, and graduation requirements. Juniors receive aid in post-high school plans, information on college entrance requirements, and advice on testing procedures. Seniors avidly discuss graduation, specific applications for further schooling or information about future employment.

The voluminous paperwork that is the natural result of such a busy department falls into the able hands of Mrs. Eva Inforati. Aided by volunteer students who give up study halls to work in the guidance office, she efficiently manages the necessary and important information constantly being processed.

Through filmstrips, pamphlets, and interested counseling, the guidance department strives for the achievement of its ultimate goal to help each student recognize his responsibilities, capabilities, and to achieve self-identity and self-understanding which will stay with him all his life.

Study of English Promotes Human Understanding

Functioning as the heart of the school curriculum, the Bangor High School English Department continues to instill in its students a solid and varied background in the English language. Besides striving for a strong foundation in mechanics achieved through intensive work in vocabulary, spelling, and grammar, the department stresses the cumulative study of American, English, and World literatures. It is the aim of the department to develop students who, when exposed to the world outside, have the ability to think logically, to read with understanding, to write clearly, to speak effectively, and to listen intelligently. The purpose of such a study is to inculcate in the student an understanding of, and a love for, the high ideals which preserve the essential dignity of the human race.

One innovation in the curriculum approved for this year is a type of team teaching. For four weeks in the spring Mr. Wallace Woodcock and Mr. Craig Abbott exchanged two senior literature divisions. Mr. Woodcock taught a unit on modern poetry, and Mr. Abbott taught Russian literature.

Realizing that it is their task to instruct each student in all facets of the English language, the teachers of the department endeavor to produce well-rounded, sensitive young men and women, prepared to enter the adult world with success in their eyes.

Students Gain Experience In Journalistic Career

Rapidly becoming a well-established part of the curriculum, Journalism offered valuable training to BHS students during the 1965-1966 school year. Directed by Miss Jessie L. Fraser, the Journalism students were introduced to the complicated methods and goals of the mass media. The class learned about the commercial communications industry, as well as the production of school newspapers and yearbooks.

The actual writing of news was a major objective of the Journalism class. One of the goals of the course was to teach the students to find and report the facts quickly, clearly, and in an interesting manner. By participating in realistic exercises, the class developed these abilities.

Practical work on the Oracle and Orascope was another accomplishment of the Journalism class. Throughout the year, the students assisted the regular staffs in producing the school yearbook and newspaper. Through these and other practical accomplishments, Journalism has repeatedly established itself as a valuable addition to Bangor High School.

Journalism students Stephanie Strout, Debbie Beers, Renee Bremner, Joan Pomeroy, and Joan Massey work on the activity handbook.

Reading Proves Vital In All Subject Areas

Under a systematic program of instruction presented by Mrs. Charlotte Haskell, head of the Reading Department, grades 7-12, the students strive to improve the fundamental skills of reading. Also emphasized is work in reading for enjoyment, content-area reading, and study skills.

Each student is analyzed daily in these three areas: skills, what each student is doing in reading; reaction, what reading is doing to the student; integration, what reading is doing for the student.

All lessons are designed to provide a variety of reading experiences. Flexible plans allow each student to progress at his own rate, and his record is kept in order so that he may follow his progress. The breadth and depth of word-knowledge are stressed, providing rewarding improvement for each student.

The reading room is well-equipped and supplied with multi-level materials, a controlled reader, several reading accelerators, tapes and a Tach-X.

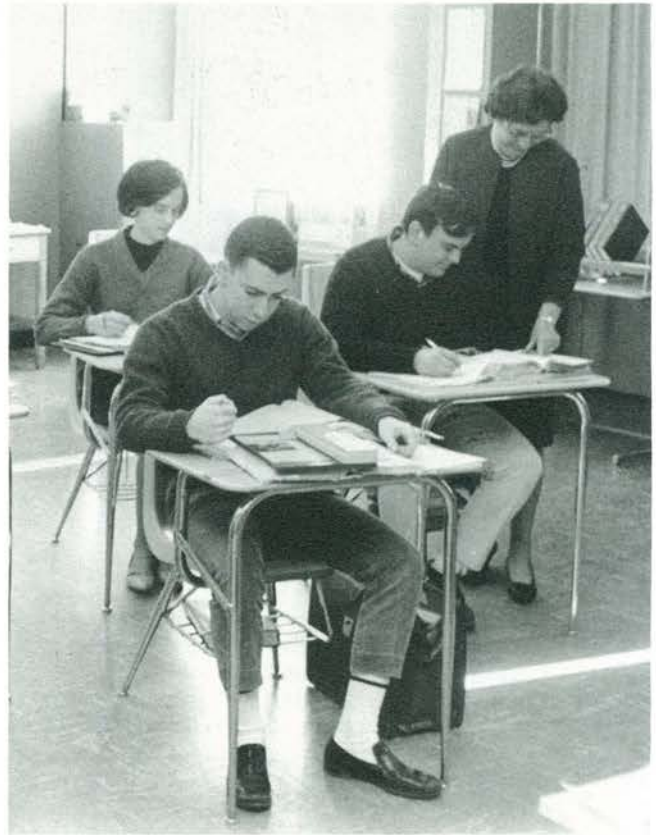

The attitude of the Reading Department is that the learning of reading efficiency never ends; nobody can be overtrained in reading, for it is the most subtle of all subjects. It touches all other subjects and is concerned with virtually all learning. The knowledge contained in textbooks is useless to students if they cannot read.

Psychology Explores Human Behavior

Continuing its work of teaching the basics of psychology to juniors and seniors, the Psychology Department, with Mrs. Helen Gillespie as instructor, explored the complexities of human personality and the factors contributing to human behavior. The purpose of the course is to acquaint the student with the necessary terms used in psychology and to make him more conscious of the causes for human behavior.

Through extensive use of experiments and research, the student is encouraged to participate in psychological experiences. Outside reading and discussion groups on interesting subjects also aid the student to understand the complexities of man.

Besides acquainting the students with the principles of psychology, the course also provides background in the fields of anthropology, biology, and sociology, all factors in man's behavior.

Music and Fine Arts Survey Students Acquire Cultural Background

Offered this year for the second time, the Fine Arts Survey course has permanently established itself as one of the most exciting and interesting parts of a Bangor High School education. Man's cultural development is simultaneously traced from prehistorical times to the present in four areas—art, literature, drama, and music. The course is taught through a team-teaching effort, with Mrs. Lesa Comeau as instructor in the field of drama, C. Robert Jones in historical background, J. Palmer Libby in art, Aime Simoneau in music, and Wallace Woodcock in literature. Through their studies, the students acquire a comprehensive understanding of man through the centuries, a skeletal panorama of human development to which all the specific facts they later learn will be related.

Student interest in music was stimulated and developed in the classes of Mr. Aime Simoneau, music instructor at Bangor High School. In addition to being provided with an understanding of the basic fundamentals of music, students in his Music Theory Class were exposed to a thorough study of the history of music from the time of the ancient Greeks up to the modern day. With Mr. Simoneau's guidance, the students gained an understanding of the basic musical forms in each historical period and also tried their luck at singing a few of the ancient chants. In the Choral Lab classes, students who were interested in singing were given the opportunity to perform many types of choral music, both individually and in ensembles. They also spent a part of their class time studying the lives and works of several noted composers.

Arts Prove Popular

BHS students who are interested in the fine arts are fortunate in being able to take advantage of a wide selection of courses offered within the Art and Speech-Drama Departments.

Under the direction of Mrs. Barbara M. Browne, speech-drama students this year have brought to successful conclusions many varied and exciting projects. The Oral Interpretation class performed a readers' theatre adaptation of the current best-selling novel Up The Down Staircase, while the Dramatic-Arts class acted out scenes from The Rainmaker, Auntie Mame, Anastasia and Arsenic and Old Lace. The Foundations of Speech classes ran the gamut from informative speeches to pantomimes.

The Speech-Drama Department took many honors in competitive activities. Judith Files won the state finals of the Spear Speaking Contest and James Emery was named alternate to the finals. Bangor High School won more superior and excellent ratings at the Maine Speech Festival than any other participating school. Elizabeth Plumer, Elizabeth Kellogg, and Judith Files received gold medals and superior ratings at the Festival, while Horace Priest and Joshua Cutler were given excellent ratings. In the American Legion Oratorical Contest, Peter McEvoy won second place in the state finals. Tracy Bronson was third place winner in the state finals of the Voice of Democracy Contest.

Encouraging the student to be creative is the duty of Mr. J. Palmer Libby as the instructor of the Art program. The purpose of the department is to develop in each student an esthetic awareness and a realization of an artist's approach to his work.

With approximately 225 students attending daily, art is one of the most popular electives at Bangor High School. Each student works at his own rate, for creativity, not competition, is encouraged. Students learn the fundamentals of art, which allow them to better portray what they see in the world around them.

Foreign Languages Offer Vital Intellectual Experience

As anyone who has gained complete mastery of a foreign language will testify, the knowledge of a language other than one's own will serve as a useful tool throughout life. Even more rewarding, however, is the vital intellectual experience the student gains in the actual learning of the language. The study of a foreign people and their culture through the learning of their language leads the way to increased understanding of the many diverse but ultimately basic similarities which unite men everywhere. Moreover, a heightened awareness and understanding of life is achieved by the student who recognizes his own thoughts and feelings through a language other than his own.

Bangor High School's well-staffed and well-equipped language department, with its modern, pleasant language laboratory, offers the student every opportunity to take advantage of the experience of learning a foreign language. French and Spanish are each offered on a three-year basis. The important role both France and Spain have played in the cultural heritage of our country, as well as the influence these countries exert on our present day political and economic life, clearly indicates why the study of these languages is included in the curriculum. Three years of Latin plus a course in Classical Civilization are offered. The fact that Latin serves as a basis for the language spoken today, in addition to the contributions of the Roman Empire to the present American way of life, prove the value of the study of Latin. To achieve the full potential of these languages, BHS teachers place equal emphasis on both the spoken and written word.

The language department at Bangor High School is very fortunate in having the contributions of the Franco-American Cultural Services and Educational Aids Company of New York. The interesting and educational films which the company sends once a month, plus a colorful poster exhibit sent quarterly, greatly enhance the benefits and enjoyment of everyday class-work.

With an eye to interesting more students in taking languages, the language department hopes to introduce into the curriculum next fall the study of German and Russian. In promoting interest in these new areas of study as well as improving the teaching of French, Spanish, and Latin, language teachers at Bangor High School are constantly striving to keep pace with the increased proximity to foreign peoples caused by improved methods of communication in the modern world.

Social Studies Emphasizes Awareness

Continuing its policy of keeping the students of Bangor High School conscious and alert to the world around them, the Social Studies Department sponsored a speech by Republican Senator Margaret Chase Smith who spoke to an audience of approximately 800 Social Studies students in the Peakes Auditorium. During the April vacation, the Department sponsored a visit from three members of the State Department who spoke on American Foreign Policy and the State Department. Other attractions this year were Mr. Robert Jones' bulletin boards and the Department's display of Civil War weapons.

Two new teachers, Mr. William Fleming and Mr. William McCalmon, joined the staff last September to round out the department. Interclass debates were held on such topics as the United States policy of containment, and speeches were given on controversial subjects. Role playing was used often and effectively to dramatize units being studied.

Lt. Colonel Walter C. Franzen, who was stationed in Viet Nam, talked to the Foundations of American Freedom Class on the problems involved in U. S. relations with Viet Nam and showed a film entitled "Why Viet Nam?"

Progress Is Password For Science Department

Tuned to the recent changes and newly-created needs of the science world, Bangor High School's Science Department has maintained a progressive outlook, as shown by its expansion in many areas. In addition to having many new opportunities within the curriculum offered, Bangor High School science students were fortunate in having even more modern equipment for their use than they had last year.

The regular courses offered in the areas of biology, chemistry, and physics encompassed a large number of students in their instruction, while other science-oriented pupils took advantage of the classes more recently included in the science program. CBA Chemistry, BSCS Biology, and Advanced Biology—all introduced last year—were continued in the science curriculum, although they were expanded to offer instruction on a wider scale. CBA Chemistry was taught to two classes, and BSCS Biology was expanded to include both the green and yellow versions. The Bangor High School Science Department can also boast a Special Material Biology class, the first of its kind in the state. This course required a special orientation program for Mr. Frederick Cushman.

Through such advances as these, the science instructors at Bangor High School continually strive to stimulate in every student an even greater interest in the world of science. The Science Department has proved the immediate value of its training to the many students who have won science awards or have placed in the Regional or State Science Fairs. The long-enduring excellence of this department, however, will be realized even more by those students who will, in the future, take up a career in science, well-prepared and inspired by their high school experience.

New Math Compels Students To Think For Themselves

This modern age which stresses the importance of science must necessarily emphasize the field of study which is the fundamental for all the sciences-mathematics. The future holds unlimited opportunities for the person who is sincerely interested in the study of math. In addition to the increasing importance of mathematics in the Space Age, the fundamental role which math plays in all aspects of daily life serves as a constant challenge to the Math Department at BHS to keep in step with the times.

With the introduction and application of the "new math" concepts, BHS math students are being compelled to think for themselves. Only then, math teachers maintain, can students proceed to conquer the problems and theories placed before them.

The Math Department offers a variety of courses, ranging from general mathematics for non-college preparatory students to geometry, algebra, and advanced pre-college math for those who are college bound.

To aid in college math, seniors may take advantage of the program offered in calculus. The experimental TEMAC method of self-teaching was discontinued after two years of use at BHS. This year's calculus class was instructed by Gordon Smith. With Mr. Smith's guidance, the students still proceeded at the rate at which they could comfortably comprehend the advanced concepts.

Again this year, a Bangor High School senior who is especially interested in math may enroll in a math course at the University of Maine.

Business Department Prepares Students For Commercial World

Designed to develop responsible students with an appreciation of the world of business, the Business Education courses at Bangor High School offer valuable training in business skills and work habits. Stressing responsibility, cooperation, and awareness, teachers help students to acquire a healthy attitude towards business life and the many opportunities it offers. Information on occupational choices is made available, and attention is drawn to career possibilities in local and state business establishments. In-service training is also made possible for junior and senior students, who provide volunteer service for the faculty and administration.

Business Education classes cover a wide and varied field, developing a general understanding of the business world as well as the skills necessary for commercial employment. Proficiency and accuracy are emphasized in shorthand and typing, and the principles of good bookkeeping are taught. General Business helps the student to understand business organization and the characteristics of the American economic system, while

Business Law acquaints students with the place of law in one's personal, as well as business, life.

There is a rapidly changing atmosphere in the Business Department these days. Aware of the developments that are taking place in new fields, teachers are alerting students to the changes in the modern office. It has been said that "The office today is not what it once was and will not be that again." This necessitates new information pertaining to business operations. Through their teachers, students are being made aware of these new challenges as well as being trained to meet the needs of business in today's world.

Automation is growing rapidly in the Business Department, and machine skills are needed more and more. With the help of skilled and capable teachers, business students are becoming aware of these needs and are preparing themselves for this change in progress. With such guidance, young people in the business field will be able to gain an understanding of business today and to prepare themselves for the commercial world.

Students Acquire Valuable Job Training

Distributive Education, in addition to affording a basic academic training, is designed to provide senior students with an opportunity for on-the-job training in either retail or wholesale distribution. Offering a variety of work experience in an occupational area that is of interest to the student, the program enables the student to develop by graduation a sufficient skill in this area.

Students participating in the Distributive Education program are given access to excellent work experiences as the result of a thorough investigation of any opportunities within the community. The available jobs are carefully examined and selected according to which fulfills to the greatest degree the occupational objectives of the student. Supervision of members at their jobs determines the proficiency of their work and the variety of the experience they are gaining. Individual and group guidance also serves to direct the student in planning his future course.

The work experience system provided for by the Distributive Education course has proved its value both to the students and to their employers, since mutual benefits are certainly enjoyed. For while the work training program is teaching students the necessary skills, it is also preparing for the community a class of experienced and proficient graduates.

Students Gain Training From Work-Oriented Special Class

Special Class

Bangor High School's Special Class, now in its fourth year, has proved a most successful program in helping member students to develop to their full capabilities. The eleven students in the class this year participated in a practical academic and work program under the direction of Mrs. Christine McEwen. In addition to their own class, they enrolled in such courses as ROTC, Driver Education, Art, Transportation, and Home Economics. Junior year students had on-the-job training in the school, while seniors worked part time outside of school in the types of work for which they were best suited. It is hoped that the goal of the Special Class will be achieved for each of its students; that is, to help them become worthwhile and responsible people, able to lead productive lives as assets to any community.

Homemaking Courses Aim For Better Future Homemakers

Improvement of home and family living is the basis of the Homemaking Department. The program is divided into five distinct units: personal and family relations, child care and development, housing and home decorating, foods and nutrition, and clothing and textiles. Areas of management and consumer buying, and family health and safety are integral parts of these units. The program offers a three year sequence to all girls majoring in Homemaking. Senior Special, a comprehensive survey course covering all areas, is intended for business and college bound students with no previous study of high school Homemaking.

Karen Rich, Bangor High School senior, was the winner of the Rural Electrification Quiz Contest. In state competition Karen was a second place winner. Elinor West was Bangor High's winner of the Betty Crocker Homemaker's Award. She also competed at state level.

The department has undergone many changes this year. The curriculum is set up so that the five major units are offered on a semester basis. This allows more girls to take advantage of the program, and enables them to choose areas of specific interest. Plans are underway for a nursery school to be held at the school in connection with the marriage and family, and child development units.

The possibility of adding two more semester courses concerning family relations and consumer buying, is being considered for another year. These units would be opened to both boys and girls in their senior years; they will make the Homemaking Department even more beneficial to students at Bangor High.

Industrial Arts Students Explore Personal Abilities

Knowing the important role that industry plays in the American economy, the Industrial Arts Department at Bangor High School strives to develop in each student a skill in performance and a knowledge of the related principles and theories. Through the study of the materials, careers, and processes associated with this technological age, students gain an understanding of industry in modern society.

Since each student has his own individual abilities, the Industrial Arts program also takes as its responsibility the discovering and exploring of these talents and the development of a mature mental attitude in each student.

Emphasizing a problem-solving approach to the industrial arts, teachers give students the chance to employ creative thinking and to apply industrial techniques and mathematical computations in the solution of problems. This mental maturity is augmented by the knowledge of the safe use of tools and machines. It is through planned activities that students are able to acquire these valuable technical skills.

The wide range of courses offered demonstrates the desire of the Industrial Arts Department to stimulate the potential of every student. Six modern shops allow students of all classes to work with new equipment, machines, and materials under the finest conditions and in the industrial area most inviting to each individual.

Drafting, or Mechanical Drawing, presented on three levels, investigates many areas of drafting, emphasizing the size, shape, and description of inanimate objects. Students learn to read blueprints and to use correctly the drafting equipment.

Students in the Electricity course, which is also offered on several levels, are exposed to the laws and principles of electronics through lectures, films, and demonstrations. In addition, they gain valuable practical experience in electronic construction and repair.

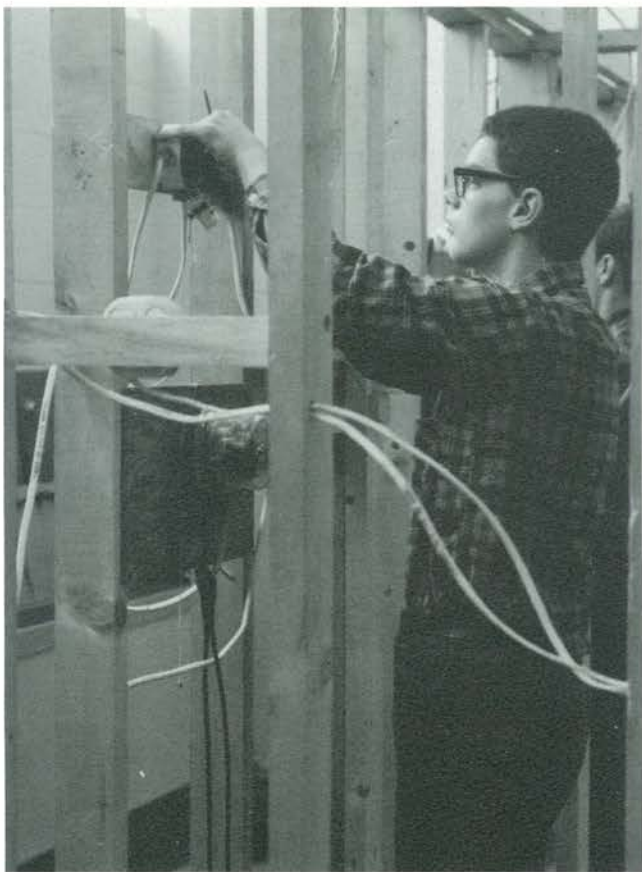

The Graphic Arts program has become well-established at Bangor High School due to the services this class has performed for many school organizations. The students in this course, which covers the fundamentals of printing, have produced many well-designed programs, tickets, and other printed matter for school groups. In addition to a general graphics arts course, offset lithography is also taught.

Under an expanded program, the Metalworking courses now bring welding, forging, art and sheet metal, foundry, and new machine tool operations to the shop. Students develop an understanding of the metalworking industry, as well as safe work habits when using tools and materials. Advanced students also explore such fields as electric and gas welding and strengthen their knowledge by applying the theoretical principles they have learned.

Through studies in Power Mechanics and Auto Mechanics, the Transportation course attempts to develop in each student a knowledge of the technical operations and skills in the power-transportation industries. Power Mechanics acquaints the student with energy sources, while Auto Mechanics provides a basic understanding of the design, operation, and services of automobiles. Experimentation and practical work supplement classroom learning.

With the help of new equipment and techniques, students in the Woodworking courses find work in wood and plastics very interesting. An understanding of, and skill in, the use of related materials develops in each student an appreciation of good workmanship and design.

Through these various shops, students explore their individual talents and acquire a comprehension of industry's place in today's world.

Students Gain Practical Education

By creating an environment in which each student is encouraged to explore his individual interests and abilities, the Practical Arts Department attempts to provide an educational program suited to the needs of all the boys and girls involved. Each student learns, with the help of able guidance, to develop and channel his special aptitudes, which in turn causes him to experience a feeling of successful achievement. Students also analyze their individual problems and accordingly decide on an acceptable course to follow.

Aimed at teaching the students to develop and maintain a sound body and a wholesome and inquiring mental attitude, classes include Physical Education, Health Education, Current World Problems, and U. S. History. In addition to these courses, the Practical Arts program provides valuable practical training through a work program and classes in cooking and shop.

Learning for the PRA student is not restricted to the classroom, however. Through their daily association with each other, in class and at work, these pupils acquire training in living in a democratic society and develop a respect for the dignity of each individual. From their relationships with each other grows a desirable social attitude toward the family, school and community.

Through the PRA program, the boys and girls involved develop an understanding and an appreciation of our historical and cultural heritage and gain a knowledge of the economic processes essential to each individual. Thus the Practical Arts course trains students to build for themselves their own individual success and to participate in, and contribute to, the world around them.

"Well, if they're going to cook, we'll learn to paint!" declare J. Tinkham and M. Fessenden.

Innovations Spark Interest In Physical Fitness

Girls' Physical Education, with Miss Patricia Stratton and Miss Dorothy Radeuge as instructors, made many advances during 1965-1966. In addition to the traditional subjects of field hockey, archery, basketball, volleyball, and softball, such subjects as speedball, gymnastics, badminton, and modern dance were taught. The usual physical fitness tests were administered in the spring and fall.

The Leaders Corps, an important innovation, was formed for aiding the instructors. Chosen from girls who are interested in athletics, the leaders assist in class by taking attendance, leading calisthenics, and checking showers.

Through the introduction of different programs, the Girls' Physical Education Department stimulated new interest in physical fitness.

Boys Physical Education Develops Skills

"Ready, begin, 1-2-3-4, 1-2-3-4," echo the walls of the gym as every day male students of BHS participate in the Boys' Physical Education program. Included with calisthenics for pound-trimming and muscle-building are weight-lifting, fundamentals of collegiate wrestling, tumbling, apparatus, basics of track, and softball. Many boys take advantage of the intramural program, which besides developing skills instills in the teams respect for fellow players and sportsmanship. Volleyball, basketball, and candlepin bowling were offered this year as inter-class competitive sports. Drill was given to bring better results on the physical fitness tests given each year in the fall and spring. For a short time in the winter the boys and girls combined forces for square dancing, a respite from the normal program. Joining in the fun were instructors Mr. Gerry Hodge and Mr. Arthur Miles.

R.O.T.C. Stresses High Goals

Bangor High School has retained an "Honor School" standing in the Junior ROTC Program of the United States Army again this year.

The program of education stresses the development of each student's leadership potential, his oral and written expression of ideas, citizenship responsibility, knowledge of multiple military subjects, and opportunities for community and national service.

Some of the subjects a cadet studies include military organization and customs, first aid, weapons, small unit tactics, map reading, rifle marksmanship, and methods of instruction. Advanced students in their second and third year instruct the Sophomore Cadets in drill, manual of arms, and rifle marksmanship with all cadets firing the 22 calibre rifle as part of their annual proficiency requirement.

The Senior Cadets are given objectives of proficiency for their units to attain and they in turn plan and supervise the accomplishment of the task. Periodically the Professor of Military Science and the Non-Commissioned Officer instructors perform formal inspections of 100 percent of the cadets, judge their skill in dismounted drills and each company competitively. In the spring the professor of military science designates as "Honor Company" the company that achieves the best overall results.

Outstanding Sophomore and Junior Cadets compete for the selection as "Cadet of the Month" and eligibility for several of thirty-two annual awards is predicated on a cadet's achieving this distinction.

With the initiation of the Army ROTC Scholarship Program, many of Bangor's High School Cadets are able to groom themselves for one of the 400 annual college scholarships as well as the military academy appointments.

As a complementary portion of the ROTC Program of Instruction, interested students can become members of the ROTC sponsored rifle team, cadet drill team, or the girl drill team. Annually the ROTC Department sponsors a formal Military Ball and the Annual Parade and Review.

Driver Education Promotes Safety on the Road

Making good drivers of Bangor High School students is the duty of Mr. Lloyd Rhodes and Mr. David Finkelstein as instructors of the Driver Education program, open to members of all classes. The purpose of the course is to teach students the fundamental skills involved in driving. Not only are such basics taught as turning, backing, and parking but also the rules of the road and an essential understanding of auto mechanics.

With the opening of the new school last year and the addition of twelve driv-o-trainers, the Bangor Driver Education Department has become one of the most modern in New England. In addition to the classroom periods held two or three days a week, practical training is gained by actual on-the-road experience.

Library Provides Pleasing Academic Atmosphere

Under the new independent study hall program, the library has become an even more popular place in which students may further their academic pursuits. The facilities are ever expanding, with the addition of 3,000 books in the past year boosting the total to 10,000 volumes. Thirty-five student assistants help arrange books which arrive weekly. They also take turns at the desk, allowing the two librarians, Miss Paulene Dunn and Mrs. Isabelle Croxford, to answer the numerous reference questions or come to the aid of a puzzled student.

Several hundred students take advantage of the excellent research facilities at the library during school hours; one tenth of the student body checks out books daily. The students and the faculty appreciate the library facilities; all books and magazines are made possible by the Bangor Public Library.

Custodians Keep School Looking Beautiful

Bangor High School students often take for granted the necessity of having a clean and sanitary school building. This huge task is carried out diligently by a large crew of able custodians. At all hours of the day and often until late at night they can be seen cleaning desks, walls, and floors in the building or outside performing the work necessary to keep the trees and grounds surrounding the school building beautiful.

George Hayes as head custodian has a large crew, including Raymond Arnold, James Clark, Vince Connors, Richard Hardy, Lawrence Leighton, Douglas Shields, Donald Small, and Edward Tozier.

Cafeteria Staff Provides Nourishing Lunches

- Bangor High School's able cafeteria staff provided nourishing hot lunches for an average of 350 students each day, while students who preferred a choice of foods were able to take advantage of the wide selection provided in the a la carte line. To facilitate the preparation of lunches, new equipment, including a large pressurized cooker, was added this year to the already modern and well-equipped kitchen.

This year's cafeteria staff included Mrs. Winifred MacLeod, meat cook and manager; Abbey Whitney, general cook; Lois Johnson and Madeline Kimball, pastry cooks; and Josephine Novak, helper. Marie Harris and Jeanette Gary held the cold lunch line while Vince Connors keeps the tableware spotlessly clean.

Student Council Charts A Successful Course

With Bruce Moore as president and Mr. C. Robert Jones as adviser, the Student Council successfully directed school activities for the year 1965-1966. Reorganization of the internal committees set Student Council representatives to work early in the fall, and they pursued their duties diligently all year. Many afternoons, members could be seen spending hours in the Student Activity Room organizing rallies, dances, and assemblies.

The Student Council's major accomplishment of the year was the opening of the School Store, located in the Student Activity Room. Here students may purchase articles ranging from paperback novels to BHS beanies.

Among activities staged by the Student Council were the second annual Witch-Ram hunt and football relay, co-sponsored with the Student Council of Brewer High School in conjunction with the Veterans' Day football game. The Brewer witch was burned once again at the annual bonfire rally, held in the student parking lot and attended by a large number of Ram supporters. The Student Council also sponsored the second annual Apple Day to show the students' gratitude to the faculty and administration of BHS. The results of this gesture were the many smiles upon teachers' faces and unusually light homework assignments for many. The Student Council provided enjoyment through "Mid-winter Night's Dream," a semiformal dance.

Besides being presented with class rings, the two foreign exchange students, Ingrid Koenig and Jaime Lopez were made honorary members of the Student Council. They attended many meetings to observe the American system of student government in action.

The Student Council extended this cordial invitation to its rally and dance before the Veterans' Day football game with Brewer.

Always looking ahead, the Student Council voted to send two delegates to the Student Council Summer Workshop Program held at Higgins Classical Institute to gain knowledge of Student Council activities in other schools and to bring back new ideas to improve the Student Council of BHS. Leading the council through its many activities were Bruce Moore, president; Peter McEvoy, vice-president; Donna Bridges, secretary; and Richard Klain, treasurer.

National Honor Society Upholds Traditions

Members of this year's National Honor Society ably continued the high standards of scholarship, leadership, service, and character which have been maintained by Bangor High School's National Honor Society since its beginning in 1930. Selected from among the students who have achieved a scholastic record of 85 or better and who have taken an active part in school life, the members were initiated in a solemn ceremony last May.

Since that time, the society, led by Peter McEvoy, president; Nancy Moulaison, secretary; and Mrs. Elizabeth Trowbridge, adviser, has been busy carrying on old Traditions such as ushering at the Baccalaureate and graduation of the Class of 1965, sponsoring a booth and talent for All-Bangor Night, and delivering amorous little messages through the halls of BHS on Valentine's Day.

Present at one meeting was Mr. Efthim Economu, who spoke to the society on various aspects of France. Through these interesting and worthwhile projects, the members of the National Honor Society, serve as fine examples of school citizenship.

Debate Club Rated Tops In Eastern Maine

Bangor High School's Debate Club, under the guidance of Mr. G. Craig Abbott, has compiled an impressive record of achievements. Their effective debates on the topic—Resolved: That the federal government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor management disputes in basic industries—carried them to the Penobscot Valley Conference in which the team achieved a first place. In addition, two of the club's debaters, Diane Harris and Peter McEvoy, received best-speaker medals at the conference.

Represented by debaters Bruce Bates, Diane Harris, Peter McEvoy, and Marc Owen, the club was rated the top-seated team in Eastern Maine with a record of 7-1 at the Bates Elimination Rounds. The club also participated in the University of Maine's Annual Tournament and the Bates League State Tournament.

Besides devoting much time to perfecting its debating, the Debate Club has also participated in school activities, including a snow sculpture for the Winter Carnival and a booth for All-Bangor Night.

AFS Promotes World Fellowship

Two delightful young people, Ingrid Koenig from Germany and Jaime Lopez from Costa Rica, have made Bangor High their school for this year. Their coming was made possible through the American Field Service program, dedicated to the promotion of international understanding and good will. Both Ingrid and Jaime proved to be charming ambassadors, as BHS students found themselves learning as much from the exchange students as the latter were learning from them.

Under the leadership of Nancy Moulaison, chairman, and Mrs. Louise Hammons, adviser, the energetic club planned a wide program, designed both to entertain and to teach. The members were attentive as interesting programs were presented, such as an explanation of AFS purposes and goals by Mrs. Robert Kellogg, a talk by Sharon Kobritz on her summer in Israel, a two-part lecture given by Josh Cutler who was a summer exchange student in Thailand, and, of course, slide-filled tours of their native lands conducted by Ingrid and Jaime.

A special day in honor of AFS was held on March 11, when AFS students from surrounding areas were invited to BHS for the day and spoke along with Ingrid, Jaime, and Josh at the annual AFS assembly.

The club also sponsored a record hop, a food sale, and with the Bangor Overseas Wives, put on a smorgasbord to augment funds from the famous and well-supported Penny Day, held each Wednesday. With the friendships made and knowledge gained as a result of Ingrid and Jaime's year at BHS, the interested and active club has incontestably shown that... It's a Small World After All.

F.T.A. Explore New Avenues of Teaching

Meeting monthly in the school library, the Marion DuBordieu Chapter of the Future Teachers of America offered its members new and interesting insights into the field of education. The programs were as varied as the avenues that the various F.T.A.'ers will take as they pursue their chosen careers. Education in a foreign country was the topic for an early meeting. A powerful force in modern education, team-teaching was the subject for a film and discussion in January.

The highlight of the year was a panel discussion on "Discipline in the Classroom." Teachers from all stages of education were participants. Mrs. Harold Blood from the Dow Lanes School represented the elementary level, Mrs. Frederick Whittaker of the Union Street Junior High presented the approach used at that level, Mr. Dale Somes of Bangor High School offered his own suggestions for the discipline problems a teacher meets in high school, and Dr. Robert Supple from the University of Maine gave an outline of the entire question. In April, which was Teaching Career Month, the club put up posters concerned with teaching and presented the teachers with flowers in recognition of and in appreciation for their service to the students and the school. In the spring, members were already beginning to plan for the state F. T. A. convention to be held at Bangor High School in October, 1966.

Officers for the year were Carol Brown, president; Martha Frederick, vice-president; Muriel Elsemore, secretary; Judythe Chamoff, treasurer; Marilyn Zoidis, historian; Janet McKenney, librarian; Ann Feeley, parliamentarian; and Cynthia Hillman, songleader. Mrs. Charlotte Haskell was adviser for the group.

Suzanne Averill, President of FTA in 1964-1965, presents Miss DuBourdieu a corsage at a tea and installation of officers in November, 1964.

In Memory of Marion A. DuBourdieu

Miss Marion A. DuBourdieu, for whom the Bangor Chapter of Future Teachers of America was named, taught the students of B. H. S. for many years, the last twelve of which she was head of the Mathematics Department. Her passing last February was marked with sadness by all who had known her. Miss DuBourdieu's magnetic personality and untiring devotion to her position served throughout her long career as an excellent example for all future teachers.

Newly Formed FBLA Proves Worthwhile Organization

Although the Future Business Leaders of America didn't formally start functioning as a school club until February, it has proved a most worthwhile organization. Under the guidance of advisers, Mrs. Hildred Phillips and Mr. Edward Gott, the club has participated in many interesting projects in the short time it has been in existence. The club began its activities with the installation of officers and shortly after inducted new members from the sophomore and junior classes. In May, members of the club conducted a survey to determine the student body's general opinion of the courses offered at BHS, also inquiring how the curriculum might be improved. Plans were made to sell ice cream after school as a means of raising money. As an addition to its regularly planned projects, the club enthusiastically participated in various school activities, building a snow sculpture for the Winter Carnival and organizing a booth for All-Bangor Night. Plans were made to celebrate the year's ending by having a picnic for the club members in June.

Officers for the year were Sharon Kobritz, president; Mary Ellen Knowles, vice-president; Sharon Rogers, secretary; Cynthia Lancaster, treasurer; and Marjorie Griffin, corresponding secretary.

Membership in the Future Business Leaders of America has proved a worthwhile opportunity for students to learn more about careers in the field of business. This newly formed club at BHS hopes to continue its activities for next year's student body.

"Charlie's Aunt" Provides Amusing Entertainment

"Charlie's Aunt" provided amusing entertainment and enjoyment for a large and receptive audience at Peakes Auditorium in February. Presented by the Student Council and under the directorship of J. Palmer Libby and Wallace Woodcock, the play proved to be one of the big hits of the school year.

The cast included Ricky Hunt as Jack, a college boy in love with the shy Kitty, played by Liz Plumer. His friend and companion Charlie was played by Steve Cook. Other members of the cast included Nancy Southard as Amy, Rob Rolsky as Sir Francis, Melanie Cyr as Donna Lucia, Margie Carson as Ela, Joe Smith as Brassett, and Jim Emery as Spettigue. Steve Butler, the comedy hit of the show, played Lord Fancourt. Marilyn Ornstein as Assistant to the Directors and Mary Buckley as Co-ordinator both aided in the preparation and performance of the play.

Bangor High School students and faculty members, as well as local residents, have continually enjoyed the plays which are presented annually after many painstaking rehearsals and much hard work by the directors, stage crew, and cast. This year's fine performance of the amusing "Charlie's Aunt" proved to be no exception to the rule.

Juniors Participate in Model Government

Each year delegates from all over the State of Maine are selected to attend Dirigo Girls' and Boys' State, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary Department of Maine.

The state of Dirigo provides each delegate with a sound knowledge of how our state government works, and informs each of his duties, rights, and responsibilities as a citizen. Dirigo is set up exactly like the State of Maine: delegates are divided into political parties and live in mythical towns. Any citizen may run for office on the local, county, or state level. Vigorous campaigning is carried on, and a governor of both Boys' State and Girls' State is elected.

This year Boys' State will be held on the University of Maine Campus from June 18 to June 24. Delegates from B. H. S. are Donn Tyler, Tom Sawyer, James Emery, and Philip Downes. Clarence Snyder, David McLeod, and Frederick Woodman are alternates. Girls' State delegates Elizabeth Kellogg, Gail Covert, and Sharon Peters will attend the program at Colby College in Waterville. Their alternates are Sharon Hartstone, Deborah Coupal, and Jane Trowbridge. All delegates were chosen on the basis of leadership, character, courage, honesty, scholarship, cooperativeness, and physical fitness.

Tom Sawyer, Philip Downes, Clarence Snyder, Donn Tyler, and James Emery form B. H. S. delegations to Boys' State.

Orascope Keeps Pace With BHS Life

To keep up with the demands of an ever-increasing pace at BHS, the Orascope staff has continued to present to the students and faculty a first-rate periodical filled with items of interest. Working under adviser Miss Jessie L. Fraser, the compact and efficient staff has produced several informative and amusing newspapers.

The staff, composed mainly of sophomores, pooled its literary skills to maintain the Orascope's high editorial standards and to write several novel articles. Showing a highly tuned sense of humor, the group put out one newspaper worthy of particular note. The second edition, due for distribution on April 1, was sprinkled with various April Fool jokes, including the feature article about the pending arrival of the popular British singing group, the Rolling Stones, in Bangor. Before the secret was out, many BHS students were planning a mass run on the box office.

Much of the skill required to put out a successful newspaper is learned in Miss Fraser's journalism classes. Working on the Orascope is also a great boost in experience needed for the publication of the Oracle, staffed by seniors. By making full use of the publication's facilities, co-editors Jane Trowbridge and Donn Tyler and the remaining members of the Orascope staff have kept up with the life at BHS, and have created a lively testimony to BHS activity.

Co-editors Donn Tyler and Jane Trowbridge consider a new idea for the Orascope.

Art Club Enjoys Busy Year

Of great assistance to many organizations, the Art Club undertook many useful projects this year. Among the tasks assumed by the club was scenery for the three-act play and for All-Bangor Night. Club members also lent a hand to the Student Council in preparation for a dance and in making posters for the Pops Concert.

But—art is not confined to paper and paint. The club went outdoors this year to receive honorable mention for its snow sculpture in the Winter Carnival. For personal encouragement, the club ventures into the fields of oil painting, still life, and mosaics. Under the guidance of Mr. J. Palmer Libby, weekly meetings were led by Katie Rankin and Ronnie Fleming, co-Presidents; and records were kept by Diana Freese, Secretary.

Ham Radio Club Puts Hobby To Good Use

Amateur radio operating is an opportunity for increased understanding among citizens of different states and countries of the world, as well as a constant source of enjoyment. Members of the Bangor High School Ham Radio Club fully realize the value and pleasure of their hobby. New at BHS last year, the club has made tremendous strides under its adviser, Mr. Herbert Bridges. With a membership of ten hardworking, energetic "hams", this year's club has built several projects, including a T. V. camera and receiver, and a Ham Radio Station.

In addition to working on its projects, the Club has proved to be of invaluable service to the students and other clubs of Bangor High. The Club members took charge of setting up the record player and serving as disc jockeys at each of the school dances, along with erecting the loudspeaker equipment at the rallies. Thus the Ham Radio Club has successfully put their hobby to work.

Mr. Bridges works on a radio transmitter with Ham Radio Club members T. Cleveland, R. Clark, J. Mann, W. Smith, L. Roak.

S. O. S. Proves Invaluable In School Service

S. O. S., the Student Organizational Service, has been accepted by the administration as one of the most trustworthy, responsible, and helpful organizations at Bangor High School. Under the auspices of Mrs. Arline Peakes, the club strives to serve the administration as guides, office help, corridor monitors, and department assistants.

With approximately fifty-five members this year, the club performed duties such as serving at lunch breaks, assisting department heads, hosting special conventions and conferences at the school, and providing tours of the new high school for visitors. S. O. S. members, with President Mary Hillman, Vice-Presidents Dawna Johnson and Cindy Hillman, Secretary Darlene Andrews, and Treasurer Sue McInnis, enjoyed a very busy year.

Students Aid in Operation Of Library

Many responsibilities are assumed by the library assistants in helping Miss Paulene Dunn and Mrs. Isabelle Croxford, the librarians, to maintain a well-organized library. Their duties include the shelving, slipping, and checking in and out of library books, the checking of library permits, aiding the students, and the care of the library itself. An additional job of the library assistants is the arrangement of the periodic displays, pleasant additions to the atmosphere of the library. Among the most impressive of these were "Books A Go-Go" and an exhibit on Shakespeare.

In addition to learning about the operation of a library, the student library assistants acquire a respect for the privileges and opportunities offered by the library.

The officers for the 1965-66 season were Cindy Hillman, President; Francie Helmke, Vice President; Louise Perkins, Secretary; and Marcia Bennett, Treasurer.

General Chairman Josh Cutler, Booth Chairman Lynne Porter, and Stage Show Directors Judy Howard and Marc Owen meet to discuss plans for All-Bangor Night.

Route 66 Is Scene Of Annual Event

"Route 66" offered to the students of Bangor High School an evening of fun at the annual All-Bangor Night, held in May. General Chairman, Josh Cutler, had excellent workers—Lynne Porter, chairman of the booths; Judy Howard and Marc Owen, directors of the stage show. The event, sponsored by the Student Council, is a major highlight on the school calendar, and this year was a tremendous success.

The booths, which were set up in the Senior Lounge, ranged from the Cheerleaders' "Pokey," where students could jail their friends and teachers for a small fee, to "Dunking the Candidates," sponsored by the Student Council. The Art Club offered for sale its own creations which were on display in a gallery booth.

The stage show presented an impressive tour of the United States, traveling along Route 66. Performers included Mr. Nat Diamond, who blew his "golden horn" in St. Louis; Mary Hillman, singing "Wouldn't it be Lovely" in Doolittle, Missouri; and Batman, who was featured in Gotham City, Arizona. The Crickets presented songs from "Oklahoma" in Oklahoma City and the Wayfarers sang in Santa Fe, New Mexico. The grand finale took place on Sunset Strip in Hollywood, and climaxed a spectacular All-Bangor Night for 1966.

Orchestra Develops Fine Musicians

Sounds of music filled the auditorium several times during the past year when members of the B. H. S. orchestra performed at the concerts held throughout the year. In December, the orchestra participated in the annual Mid-Season Concert sponsored by the B. H. S. Music Parents' Association. It also played Christmas music at the final assembly held before the holidays. Together with the band and choruses, the orchestra performed in the annual "Pops" Concert in March, which this year had as its theme "Prelude to Spring". In May, the orchestra participated in the All-City Fine Arts Festival at the Bangor Municipal Auditorium with Mr. George Cavanagh as guest conductor.

Rehearsing weekly on Tuesdays after school and Wednesday evenings, the orchestra members have practiced music of many periods, from Baroque to modern show tunes. Because ninth-graders are once more back in the junior high schools, the orchestra was somewhat smaller this year, numbering about thirty-five.

Miss Marian McKenney, as music supervisor and orchestra director, taught members to improve the skills they had already acquired. Experience gained in the orchestra paid off for twelve string players and three wind players, who were among those accepted throughout the state to participate in the All-State Concert Festival held in Yarmouth during the last week in March.

The high school musicians, through their work in orchestra, develop an appreciation of all types of music and a mature attitude towards musical performance.

Miss McKenney acknowledges the audience's applause after the Christmas Concert.

Band Boosts School Spirit

Having aroused school spirit, the B.H.S. Band provided enjoyable entertainment for the members of the community as well as for the student body. Playing at all the home football and basketball games, the band helped to encourage the teams, and their lively numbers were the background for many snappy routines by the cheerleaders. At rallies they were always present to create crowd enthusiasm in abundance.

The band also played for many civic activities, such as, the Thanksgiving, Halloween, and Veterans' Day Parades. Their music also was added to the proceedings at Armed Forces Day at Dow Air Force Base.

The Band was one of the most active groups at B.H.S. this year. Along with participating in the Pops Concert and marching for the ROTC Field Day, they supported the Stetsons and Stetsonettes when they competed against the group from Lubec High School. In order to earn money to pay for their new uniforms, the band sponsored a dance.

Mr. Aime Simoneau's first year as band director has been successful; the B.H.S. Band has developed into a commendable musical group. It has proved itself this year as a vital asset to our school and an organization worthy of the highest praise.

GIRLS' CHORUS—First row: M. Harris, J. Farwell, M. Mitchell, J. Green, N. Warnar, J. Horton, V. Manzer, L. Dunnett, C. Weymouth, L. Soulas. Second row: C. Smith, B. Brown, D. Lieberman, M. Jinks, P. Girls' Voices Resound In Concert

Blending nicely, the sound of over fifty girls' voices filled the air with music on several occasions during the past year. The members of the Girls' Chorus gave their first performance at the annual Christmas concert, where they joyously ushered in the Yuletide Season with the presentation of "The Bells of Peace," "Softly, Softly," and the lovely "Sanctus." In March the chorus, composed of sophomore and junior girls and directed by Miss Kathleen Hewes, proved capable of captivating an audience at the spring Pops Concert.

A specially-selected ensemble of nine girls was chosen from the larger group to perform for various civic groups during the year, as well as to appear in concert. The girls' ensemble also traveled with the Mixed Chorus on its exchange concert to Presque Isle in April. The ensemble and the Girls' Chorus were accompanied by Paula Downes and Julia Green.

GIRLS' CHORUS ENSEMBLE—P. Downes, K. Wood, M. Pinkham, N. Boyington, N. Miller, M. McCarthy; J. Green, accompanist.

MIXED CHORUS—First row: D. Beers, E. Shapiro, M. Hillman, J. Pomeroy, J. Massey, D. Hewes, C. Hillman, J. Averill, M. Carson, W. Silverberg. Second row: J. Howard, J. Trowbridge, R. Delano, C. Sawyer. Seventh row: R. VanArsdale, B. Shaw, G. Connor, F. Fitch, J. Correll, B. Roberts, J. Lopez, E. Rice, W. Mosher, J. Haskell, R. Klain.

Mixed Chorus Delights Audiences

Under the direction of Miss Kathleen Hewes, a Mixed Chorus of over sixty voices enjoyed a very active schedule. The Christmas season was heralded in by "How Lovely Are the Messengers", by Mendelssohn; an ever-popular Christmas medley along with unusual renditions of "Deck the Hall" and "Noel," and climaxed by the traditional "Hallelujah Chorus."

The versatility of the group was aptly shown when, at the annual Pops Concert, the lovely "Frostiana" was followed by two energetic selections, "Zum Gali Gali" and "Gonna Build a Mountain." The chorus was accompanied by Brenda Hess and John Haskell.

Highlighting the year was an exchange concert with the Presque Isle Mixed Chorus. The combined groups performed at both Bangor and Presque Isle in April. Blending well, the two choruses sang several selections of both popular and traditional natures. The chorus also performed, along with other school-aged music groups, in the All-City Music Festival held in May.

Mixed Chorus and orchestra give dual performance.

Young Musicians Represent BHS At All-State

Early in April thirty students from Bangor High School traveled to Yarmouth, Maine, to participate in the annual All-State Music Festival. Miss Marion McKenney, Miss Kathleen Hewes, and Mr. Aime Simoneau accompanied the musicians. The three groups represented at the festival—band, orchestra, and chorus—presented an afternoon and an evening concert in which both light and classical music were presented.

The three groups consisted of some of the state's finest instrumentalists and vocalists, selected for All-State in November by a panel of judges. The festival provided the musicians with a chance to broaden their musical appreciation and experience.

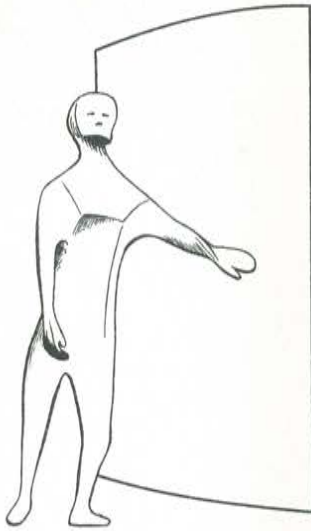

The band was under the direction of Mr. Richard E. Strange, Associate Professor of Music at Carnegie Institute; the orchestra was conducted by Mr. Natham Gottschalk, Professor of Music at the University of Hartford; and the chorus was directed by Mr. Allen Lannom, Associate Professor of Music at Boston University.

All-State Chorus—First row: C. Pressey, M. Eaton, J. Trowbridge, W. Silverberg, N. Moulaisorff, M. Pinkham. Second row: W. Mosher, J. Emery, R. VanArsdale, J. Haskell.

Lt. Col. Walter C. Franzen discusses the Viet Nam situation.

To You Who Must Pass In Review

I am the Infantry—Queen of Battle! I meet the enemy face to face . . . will to will. For two centuries, I have kept our nation safe. . . I am the day of reckoning; to the suppressed, the hope for the future.

I am the Infantry! Follow Me!

With great pride, this portion of the yearbook is dedicated to our Commander, Lt. Col. Walter C. Franzen, who has endured and achieved the heights and goals to which we all aspire. He has endured the trials and difficulties under which lesser men have failed.

We ask also that when we pass in review, in whatever future lies ahead that we not forget our Commander, who by his devotion to duty, his patience, and his outstanding leadership prepared us to shoulder the new and more demanding task that lies ahead.

Always ready. . . Then, Now and Forever. I am the Infantry—Queen of Battle. . . Follow Me!

Regimental Staff—Cdt. Sgt. Major D. Siegel, 1st Battalion Sgt. Major; Cdt. Lt. Col. J. Grant, 1st Battalion Commander; Cdt. Sgt. Major J. McEwen, Regimental Sgt. Major; Cdt. Col. C. Pickelhaupt, Regimental Commander; Cdt. Sgt. Major P. Downes, 2nd Battalion Sgt. Major; Cdt. Col. D. Cross, 2nd Battalion Commander.

R.O.T.C. Trains Leaders

The primary mission of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps program at Bangor High School is to give the cadet a broad military education necessary for his continued development throughout a career in the United States Army. Through its wide curriculum that includes tactics, first aid, military organization and customs, weapons, and methods of instruction, the cadet is given a basic orientation to a military career.

The R. O. T. C. program stresses the development of leadership in the cadet. As the cadet demonstrates greater capabilities, he is given more rank and more responsibility in the cadet regiment.

Special classes, rifle marksmanship, and drill teams are offered to the cadet who wishes further to broaden his knowledge and abilities, with extracurricular activities.

The student of the R. O. T. C. training program, is a cadet who is not only prepared for a military career, but is also aware of the world around him and is better prepared for the problems that he must face in the complex adult world.

Cadet Captain Charles Pickelhaupt promotes Cadet Alan Harrington to Private First Class.

Stetsonettes Step Off

Over thirty members of the Stetsonette Drill Team have provided entertainment, competition, and inspiration during the year. The Stetsonettes performed at a number of school and public activities, starting off with a half-time performance at the first home football game. They also entertained five times at home basketball games, and supported the team at Waterville, Maine. They travelled to Lubec in March where eight of their members, under the command of Joanne Jackson, competed with the Lubec Powder Puff Light Infantry. Participants were Carol Furrow, Lois Wilson, Becky Blocher, Mary Lou Parks, Cathy Jameson, Sue Lobley, Louise Perkins, and Brenda Dyer. Following the competition, the entire squad of thirty-two gave a drill demonstration under the command of Linda Wilson.

In March the two squads met again, this time at BHS. As before, the Stetsonettes won the judges' decision.

In May the Stetsonettes journeyed from BHS for Fort Devens, Massachusetts, where they hoped to repeat the performance of the 1964-65 Stetsonettes who brought fame to the school when they won the New England ROTC-sponsored Drill Competition against five other New England high school drill units.

Stetsonette officers for the past year were Linda Wilson, president; Sue Lobley, vice-president; Carol Furrow, secretary; and Becky Blocher, treasurer.

Stetson Rifles Move Forward

Commanded by Cadet Lt. Col. Dennis Cross, the Stetsons continued to move forward toward the goal of perfect precision drill sponsored by the ROTC Department and under the guidance of S. Sgt. Daniel F. Kuck.

The Stetsons provided the Color Guard at football games, during school activities, and performed at half-time periods during the basketball season. The drill team participated in two parades, a competition and drill demonstration at Lubec High School and furnished a firing squad for two military funerals and the Veterans' Day ceremony.

In December they performed the Honor Guard for the visit of Senator Margaret Chase Smith to BHS and served as a color guard at Brewer High School.

In May they journeyed to Fort Devens, Massachusetts, hoping to capture the New England ROTC-sponsored Drill Competition for 1966-1967. Competing against many other teams, the Stetsons showed that they too could perform under great pressure and successfully come through.

Bangor Rifle Team Continues Tradition

Under the direction of Team Captain Charles Pickelhaupt, Co-captain Robert Wheeler, Treasurer Robert McGlauffin, and Secretary Bernard Geaghan, the team continued the winning tradition of the BHS ROTC Rifle Teams.

Participating in matches throughout New England, the Bangor High School ROTC Rifle Team added to its more than forty trophies won in marksmanship during the past eight years. This year more than twenty individual trophies were won in the Pine Tree State Four-Positions Match and Prone Match, the Hampden Junior Rifle Match, the Cumberland Rifle Match, the Northeastern Rifle Match in Massachusetts, as well as the annual U. S. Army Match.

The new 3-point firing range, located between A and B wings of the school, provides a readily available means of practice for the team's thirty-two members. A team member must be one of the top five firers on the team in order to receive a letter in any given year, and a maximum of five "B" letters are awarded each year under present rules. Rifle teams are under the direct supervision of SSgt. Daniel F. Kuck and Sgt. J. Edward Anderson.

Officers Prove Active Off Duty

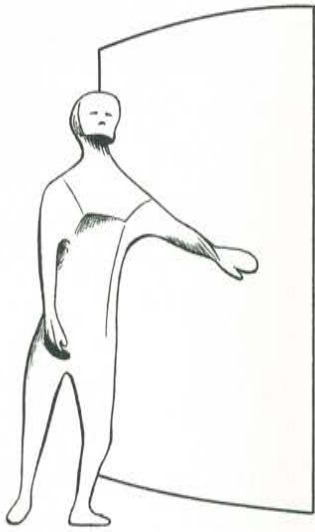

The ROTC Officers' Club, sponsored by Lt. Col. W. C. Franzen, provided a social activity environment for the cadet officers of the Bangor High School Regiment. This year they sponsored successfully both a school dance and the forty-seventh Annual Military Ball. The theme of the Military Ball was "On the Maine Coast." Lobster traps, buoys, and nets set the scene for the former Queen of the Ball, Mary Speirs, to step down and let the new Queen, Susan Twitchell, take the throne.

Under the leadership of President Charles Pickelhaupt and Secretary Don Sanborn, the club entered a snow sculpture in the Winter Carnival and worked out details of the Annual Review and Award Ceremony in May.

Rams Play Solid Football

A team that never lacked enthusiasm, nor was taken lightly by any opposition finished in a fine season of football. Co-captained by Ronnie Watkins and Mike Bryce, it compiled a record with four solid victories. The Bangor team was represented on the All-State squad by the versatile Joe LaChance.

The football season started with a 7-7 deadlock with Rumford followed by a 12-0 loss to South Portland. The next two games resulted in 31-7 and 20-8 losses to Lewiston and Edward Little. However, the Rams bounced back with a 7-7 tie with St. Louis, followed by a 20-0 win over Waterville, a 14-6 verdict over Portland and a solid 19-7 victory over Deering of Thornton Academy turned back the Rams.

The season ended with a 19-7 victory over Brewer in the Regional Veterans' Day clash. With this, another memorable season under Coaches Gerald Hodge, Arthur Miles, and Norris Nickerson was completed.

Cross Country Has Building Year

With only two returning lettermen, Coach G. Vincent Cuozzo as Cross Country leader at Bangor High School faced one of the toughest jobs in his fine career. The returning lettermen, both seniors, were Captain Nick Collins and Mike Swenson. Seniors Jim Locke, who finished first in the Sectional Meet, and Jerry Mangawang earned letters this year. Junior lettermen were Captain-elect Dave Bassi, Gary Jewell, and Paul Lord.

Other squad members were seniors Bruce Moore and Eddie Rice; juniors Tom Hall, Fred Lancaster, and Ben Scott; and sophomores Pete Bassett, Ed Gallagher, Rick Moulton, Bob Pilot, Barry Porter, Barry Rumery, Joe Seale, and Tim Weaver. The managers for this year were Lance Segal and Richard Grant.

Swim Team Breaks Records

Undeclared in four years by any high school team in a dual meet, the BHS Swim Team completed a successful year under Coach William McCalmon. His extensive training schedule built a powerful team which copped second place honors at the State Swim Meet, losing its first place position in the last event by only five points. During the dual meet season, Bangor was defeated only by the Bowdoin frosh and Hebron Academy.

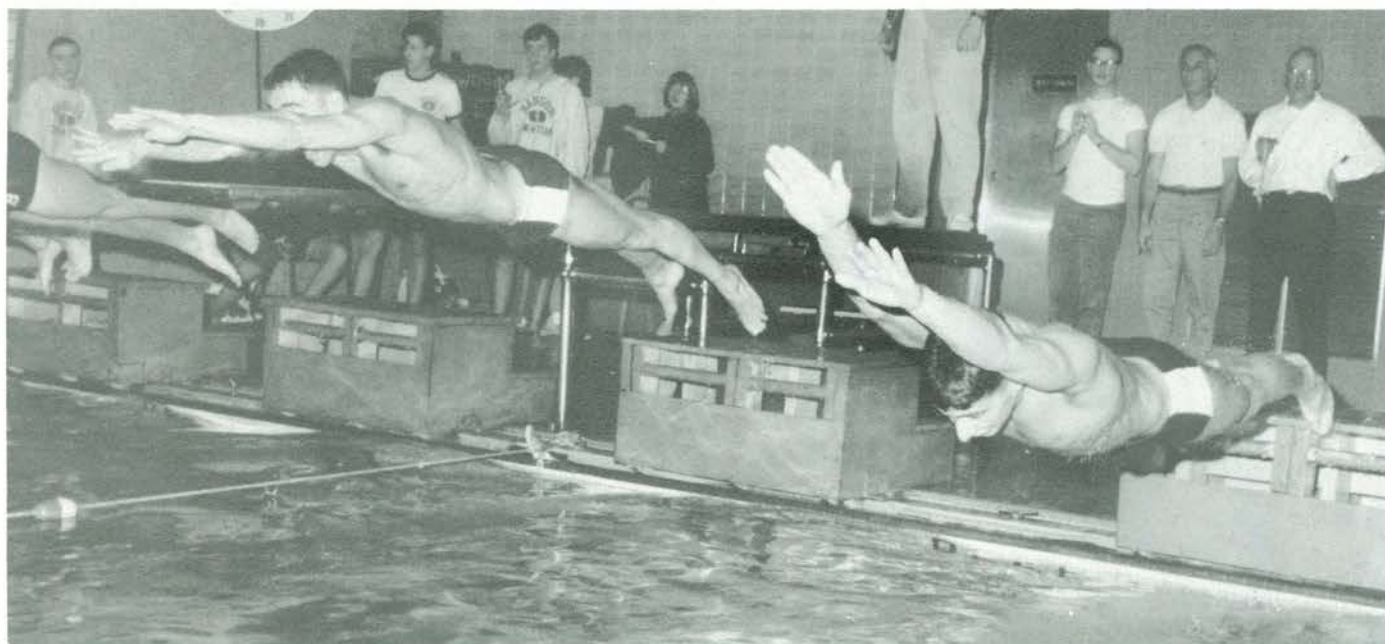

Among the outstanding mermen deserving special mention are Barry Goldsmith and Dick Klain, both seniors. Goldsmith set a new state breaststroke record at the New England Swim Meet where he placed fifth in the event. Klain, who is the state champ in the 200 and 300 yard freestyles, set a new record in the 100 yard freestyle. Tom Newman, a sophomore, won the 50 yard freestyle at the State Meet and anchored the medley relay which the Ram team finished in record time. Steve Emery, Peter Gross, and Tom Rice were additional bulwarks in leading the Rams to victory.

Bangor sent six team members to the New England Swim Meet held at Southern Connecticut University in New Haven. Barry Goldsmith, Steve Emery, Tom Emery, Tom Rice and Tom Newman combined to put Bangor in a three-way tie for ninth place. Thirty-five schools participated in the meet.

Although Tom Emery and Barry Cohen will be the team's only two members returning as seniors, Coach McCalmon says the prospects for a successful 1966-1967 season look extremely good.

The Ram Five Soars

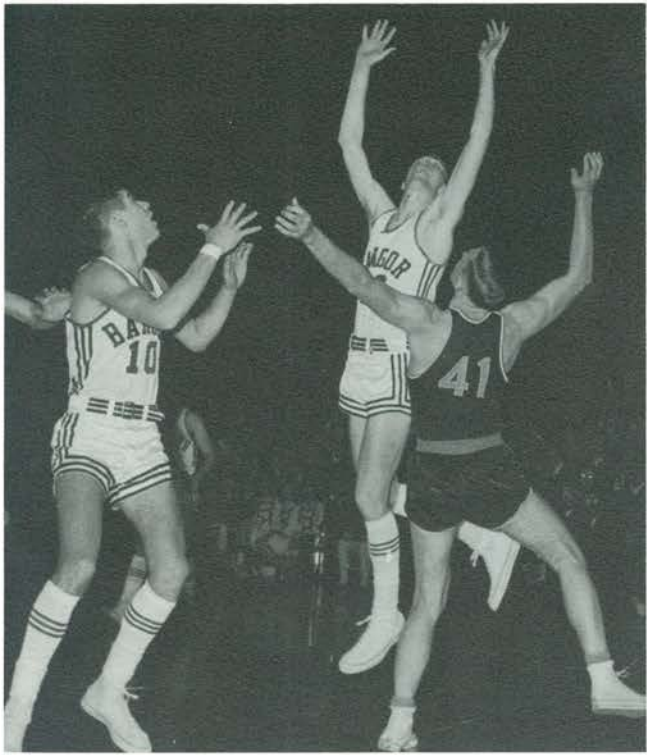

The most impressive basketball squad is one that plays as a team. This was "Red" Barry's Rams this year, who compiled an impressive fifteen and three record for the regular season. They placed third in the point standings in one of the closest battles among all teams that Eastern Maine has ever witnessed. The Rams finally succumbed in tournament action to Cony High which was eventually State Champion.

All State Guard Jock McKernan was the Rams' leading scorer setting a B. H. S. record of over one thousand career points. The front court positions were handled extremely well by seniors Dick Cole, Bob Magee, and Jerry Mangawang. Junior "Gabby" Price and senior Tom Lynch proved a playmaker is still a very important addition to any team.

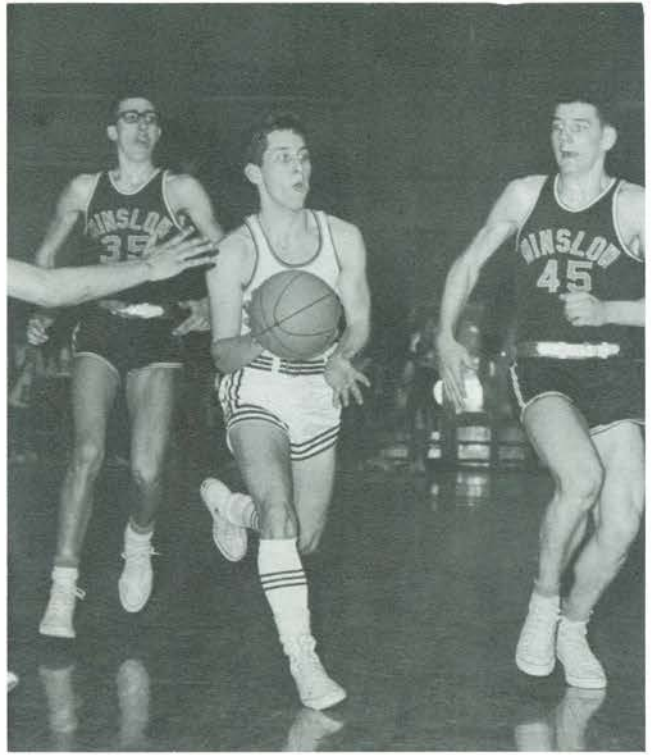

The only losses sustained in the regular season were to Houlton once and Stearns twice, once by one point. Two of these contests were on the opponents' home court which can have more of an effect than most people realize.

A man who deserved a great deal of credit was Assistant Coach Gordon Smith. If one were to have watched a Ram practice, he would have witnessed his patient and adept handling.

The Rams defeated Winslow High in the opening round of the tournament and then lost to Cony. The whole picture is that the 65-66 Bangor Rams were a never less than impressive and extremely successful team.

Jayvee's Complete Winning Season

For the third straight year, the Jayvee Basketball Team under Coach Arthur Miles enjoyed a winning season. The team, led by high-scoring guard Gary Cole and forwards Jerry Wellington and Andy McClellen, won nine games and lost only five. Two of these losses were to the State S Champions, Jonesport High School and the Eastern Maine Class M Runners-up, Sumner High School. The Junior Rams also defeated the John Bapst Jayvees for the first time since 1962.

Track Excels In All Ways

Coach Cy Perkins organized an impressive B.H.S. track club in the spring. Returning lettermen Nick Collins, Wayne Mosher, George Osler, Dave Bassi, Dennis Cross, and Paul Weaver added plenty of depth to the Ram team, while a promising crop of new turn-outs filled in the remaining positions.

The team had a varied schedule which ranged from M. C. I. of Pittsfield to the University of Maine and Colby freshmen clubs. The big event of the season was the state meet which was held at South Portland this year. Important assets to the team were Dennis Cross with the shot put and Paul Weaver, throwing the discus. The team as a whole had a well-coached, successful season.

Students Enjoy Skiing

Skiing was thoroughly enjoyed by Bangor High School students this year. Under the direction of Mr. Ralph Baxter, beginning skiers were taught the fundamentals of the slopes, while the more advanced practiced their parallels and stem-christies.

The purpose of this activity is to interest students in the exhilarating sport of skiing. A large turnout showed up at practices held Mondays and Wednesdays after school. Each Friday a bus took the skiers to the slopes of Hermon Mountain where they tried out their techniques.

“B” Club Represents Bangor Athletes Well

“B” sweaters were seen this year on fifty-three Bangor High boys as members of the “B” Club. The honor of wearing a varsity letter is earned by each boy in any of the sports of football, cross country, swimming, basketball, track, baseball, and golf.

The “B” Club proved of great service to the school through ushering at home games, where the members were usually seen at the entrances. Keeping up tradition, the club teamed with the cheerleaders to promote a dance and sponsor a booth at All-Bangor Night. Members also participated in the humorous GAHC-“B” Club game at the second annual Winter Carnival.

Club leadership for the 1965-66 season was president, Jock McKernan; vice-president, Bruce Moore; secretary-treasurer, George Osler.

Intramurals Have New Look

There were more intramural sports than ever before at Bangor High this year. Opportunities were presented for all boys to participate in any of the sports of basketball, volleyball, ping-pong, softball, bowling, gymnastics, and weight lifting. A three divisional basketball system for sophomores, juniors and seniors was climaxed in a tightly contested tournament. Volleyball had an added attraction of members of the faculty on teams. The most unique addition, however, was ping-pong.

With the new additions to the intramural program, much more interest was shown in intramurals at Bangor High.

Second row: H. Leighton, J. Garland, J. LaChance.

Girls Enjoy Intramural Sports

In the modern age of automation, physical activity has been proved to be a necessity for everyone to relieve the stresses of everyday living and to help maintain a strong, healthy body. Participation in the intramural sports provides the opportunity to fill spare hours with fun and stimulating competition. Even though the demands of academic and social life leave little leisure time for some students, many BHS girls were able to take advantage of the fine girls' intramural sports program offered this year.

A wide variety of sports was offered in the program including basketball, volleyball, softball, bowling, badminton, and gymnastics. The State Gymnastics Contest, held at the Bangor High School gymnasium in April, provided girls who had developed skills in gymnastic feats the opportunity to display their ability. The annual Olympic Sports Day, held in May at Garland Street Field, gave girls a chance to participate in track competition.

The girls' intramural sports program has proved an invaluable asset to BHS school life. As girls who have participated in it will readily testify, the variety of sports offered has provided many stimulating hours of enjoyment and valuable exercise.

G. A. H. C. Develops Leader Corps

Symbolizing the highest athletic honor any girl can receive at Bangor High School are the armbands worn every Wednesday; the blue worn by officers and the red worn by the other members. The girls are members of an organization which strives to promote interest in girls' athletics—the Girls' Athletic Honor Council.

New members are taken into the council usually twice during the year, at the middle of the year and each spring. Girls are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership, dependability, and good sportsmanship.

Awards are presented by the council to girls taking part in intramurals: basketball, volleyball, gymnastics, and track. Other activities include the All-Star basketball game with the B-club during Winter Carnival. The Leader Corps was also developed, consisting of capable leaders to help Miss Patricia Stratton and Miss Dorothy Raduege in gym classes and intramurals.

Officers for the 1965-66 Council were Kitty LaBree, president; Lynne Porter, vice-president; Sue Shapero, secretary; and Nancy Moulaison, treasurer. Miss Raduege served as adviser.

The JV Cheerleaders Boost School Spirit

Energetically led by Captain Carole Hawkes, the Jay-vee cheerleaders proved a bundle of enthusiasm in promoting school spirit at the Jayvee basketball games. In addition to the many traditional cheers, the girls provided the Rams with several new routines, as well as participating with the Varsity in pre-game activities.

The Jayvees cheered at all the home games during the basketball season and also traveled to Brewer, Old Town, and Waterville. Well supervised by their adviser, Miss Patricia Stratton, the girls were a vital spark to school spirit as they helped out at school rallies and Pep Club projects.

Varsity Cheering Adds Enthusiasm

With many peppy new cheers and a great deal of enthusiasm, the Varsity cheerleaders spurred the BHS teams on to victories while arousing much school spirit. Led by Captain "Buzz" Files, the girls cheered at all the home games as well as many away games of both the football and basketball seasons. With the aid of their enthusiastic adviser, Miss Patricia Stratton, they planned several rallies which were most successful in promoting student and faculty participation. Working closely with the band and Pep Club, the Varsity cheerleaders created several routines to which the students responded well.

In conjunction with the B-Club, the cheerleaders sponsored a school dance and also acted as hostesses at the Regional Gymnastics Meet and the Girls' Olympic Sports Day. As their contribution to the Student Council, they sponsored their traditional "Pokey" at All-Bangor Night.

RAM ROUSERS—First row: C. Hillman, Sec.; M. Buckley, V-Pres.; S. Edwards, Pres.; P. Pitts, Treas. Second row: B. Campbell, M. Wetzler, A. Harriman, N. Moody, S. Abbott, P. Flanagan, I. Koenig, M. Ram Rousers Create A New Spirit

A new and moving spirit hit Bangor High when the Ram Rousers were organized. The group was designed not only to provide pep at athletic contests, but also to increase school spirit on the whole. It was led in a most organized manner by its adviser, Miss Patricia Stratton, and its officers, president, Sue Edwards; vice-president, Mary Buckley; secretary, Cindy Hillman; and treasurer, Pam Pitts.

Attendance and enthusiasm for all the games increased because of the club's perseverance and persistent cheering. The girls also sponsored a pre-tournament rally and dance in the evening and a School Color Day, on which all students displayed their pride in the school by wearing clothes of the school colors.

Achieving their goals of school unity and spirit, the Ram Rousers proved themselves to be a capable, worthwhile, and much-appreciated organization.

Sophomores Spark School Life

The Class of 1968 has proved to be a versatile one, involved in all types of activities. Carrying on the tradition of a sophomore-sponsored hootenanny, the Class of 1968 offered a Hootabaloo in March. Just to add an original touch, the sophomores made the dance following the song-fest a computerized sock hop. Clutching their computer cards, students searched the gym for their "ideal mates."

Finding interest and talent in athletics, sophomores were members of the football, track, swimming, and baseball teams and constituted the majority of the Junior Varsity basketball team. Dramatics also seemed to hold some attraction for them. "Charley's Aunt" showed Steve Butler and Steve Cook to be amusing thespians and provided an opportunity for the other members of the class to gain invaluable back-stage experience. Patricia Bianchini represented her class as a candidate for Homecoming Queen in November, while Andrea Harriman and Julia Greene were Queen candidate and talent representative respectively for the March of Dimes Dance.

School government was also an important area of sophomore interest. The ten representatives on the Student Council were enthusiastic and tireless members of numerous committees. The Sophomore Class Council had a busy year, planning many activities for the Class of 1968 and the entire school. Led by David Snyder, president; Monica Harris, vice president; Joline Dudley, secretary; and Jane Pierce, treasurer, the Class of 1968 has proved to be well on the way to an exciting high school career.

Class of 1967 Shows Promise

Responding enthusiastically to the winter weather and to the excitement generated throughout the school, the junior class sponsored the Winter Carnival in early February. Starting Friday afternoon, the weekend offered two basketball games to begin the festivities: Artie's Army challenged the Faculty and the Girls' Athletic Honor Council was pitted against the B-Club. Later that evening, "Snowflake A Go-Go" was the theme for the dance held in the Student Lounge. The highlight of the affair was the crowning of Scott Tilton and Ava Shepherd as King and Queen. Snow sculptures, snowshoe and toboggan races, and skiing events were the order-of-the-day Saturday. The grounds of the Mary Snow School were turned into a skating rink for the party there Saturday evening.

Involved in innumerable activities, juniors were important members of many school organizations. Football, track, swimming, baseball, and both the Junior Varsity and Varsity basketball teams boasted junior participants. "Charley's Aunt" revealed two theatrically-talented juniors, Margaret Carson and James Emery. Others of their class worked behind the scenes of the February production. In November, Mary Speirs was chosen Homecoming Queen; later in the year at the March of Dimes Dance, Ava Shepherd and Mary Buckley represented their class as queen candidate and talent. Tracy Bronson won the regional Voice of Democracy Contest. The world of news was not left unnoticed by the juniors, as they published the "Orascope" under the editorship of Jane Trowbridge and Donn Tyler.

Student government interested many juniors. Not only was this interest evident on the school level, with its hard-working Student Council representatives, but also on the district level, with Martha Frederick's election as President of the Eastern Maine Association of Student Councils. The Junior Council worked hard to serve its own class and the rest of the school. Donn Tyler, president; Tracy Bronson, vice-president; Judith Files, secretary; and Frederick Woodman, treasurer, have led the class through their third year, under the direction of Mrs. Elizabeth Calkins.

Junior Exhibition Speakers Present Annual Event

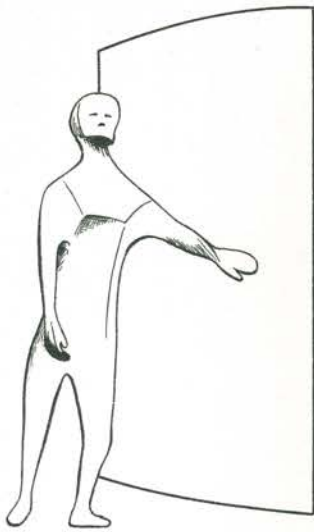

A hush fell over the audience as the opening processional began and heads turned to catch a glimpse of each speaker. The occasion was Junior Exhibition, presented by the Class of 1967, a traditional event, but each year unique in its presentation.

Tracy Bronson, remarkably at ease in the crowded auditorium, began the program by relating a comical excerpt from The Snake Has All the Lines by Jean Kerr. All attention was focused on Philip Gay as he presented his inquisitive speech "Isn't It Remarkable?" by Robert Benchley. Moving and inspiring was Diane Johnson's interpretation of Kahlil Gibran's The Prophet, and Richard Welch presented his selection from The Hairy Ape by Eugene O'Neill with force and feeling. Remarkable talent was demonstrated by Judith Files as she portrayed several characters in a humorous cutting from A. A. Milne's Winnie-The-Pooh.

"Love Me, Love My Man" by Corey Ford was Bruce Verrill's interesting tale, while Elizabeth Kellogg captured the audience with her selection from "Renesance" by Edna St. Vincent Millay. David Siegal followed with a portrayal of A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court by Mark Twain. A selection from Cheaper By The Dozen by Frank B. Gilbreth, Jr., and Ernestine Gilbreth Cary was given by Jane Trowbridge. James Emery climaxed the speaking with a comical rendition of Robert Benchley's "Family Life in America."

Miss Kathleen Hewes directed the Junior Chorus in two musical arrangements accompanied by Bonnie Thomas, and the "Processional March from Scipio" was played by Julia Green. Mrs. Barbara Browne was in charge of the speakers.

Senior Class Puts Premium On Excellence

"... And now, we've just got so much to do!" This statement, so exuberantly and so often uttered by the senior class president, Evelyn Merrick, epitomizes the strong desire for progress and excellence which is embodied in the Class of 1966. The Senior Council, led by five active officers, guided the entire class through an exciting and memorable senior year.

The Class of 1966 has produced leaders in nearly every field. Peter McEvoy won the Regional Oratorical Contest. Jock McKernan was selected to participate in the Seventh Annual Schoolboy Basketball Classic. Eight seniors received awards for their high scores in achievements at the state MTA banquet at Colby College. Nancy Moulaison was named a Merit Scholarship recipient. Bob Magee was presented the Ohmart-Hinkley Award for Athlete of the Year.

Starting the year with the campaign for class dues and culminating the activities with an exciting Senior Week, the class set an example of thoroughness and excellence for which they will long be remembered.

Oracle Captures the Spirit of Bangor High School

The flashing of the photographer's camera, the scurry of reporters rushing through the corridors, and the tapping of typewriters sounding constantly from the publications room have become registered trademarks of the 1965-1966 Oracle staff. Seeking to uphold the honored position of a winning yearbook in national competition, a status earned by last year's staff, they have followed closely each noteworthy event of the school year.

The Oracle season was set in motion with the selection of the theme "The Search," using as a unifying factor the newly-dedicated statue of the same title in front of the school building. The search for news proceeded, and, never having to look too far, the members of the staff succeeded in gathering an abundance of material.

Then came the period in publication which is the most trying but rewarding of all—fitting the information and the pictures on to the pages to make a book pleasing to the eye as well as complete in school coverage. Cries of "I'm an eighth of an inch off!" were mingled with joyous exclamations of "pleasure—" "It fits!" The different departments within the staff thus began to function well, striving to produce a yearbook which will be enjoyed for years after as a treasury of the memories of one's high school years.

ORACLE—First row: Miss Jessie L. Fraser, Adviser; J. Downes, D. Viner, C. McGown, M. Owen, B. Hess, Asst. Ed.; L. Porter, Editor; P. Webster, Business Manager; C. Pickelhaupt, B. Grodinsky, D. Outstanding Seniors Cited

The Scholarship Recognition Assembly, which takes place every year in May, held honors in store for many Bangor High School seniors. Twenty students were awarded the title of Bangor High School Scholar, an honor bestowed only upon those students who have achieved a grade of 85 or better in every major subject for six consecutive semesters. At the annual National Honor Society induction ceremony, thirty-one seniors were taken in as new members, chosen for their character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

Many more Bangor High School seniors were honored with awards in other fields. Nancy Moulaison was named a National Merit Scholar, while William Hunt qualified as a finalist in this area. In addition, eleven students were awarded Letters of Commendation by the National Merit Headquarters. Joshua Cutler, Judith Downes, Martha Eaton, William Hunt, Peter McEvoy, Lynne Porter, Bruce Roberts, and Harvey Segal were presented with trophies by the Maine Teachers' Association for highest honors in their achievement tests. Judith M. Files was awarded a medal for being first place winner in the state in tests given by the American Association of Teachers of French. Bernard Geaghan received the Bausch-Lomb Award for excellence in science for 1966. Scoring the highest at Bangor High School in the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow Contest was Elinor West. The Julius H. Gass Awards for outstanding achievements in clerical and stenographic studies were awarded to Susan McInnis and Alan Waterman. Senior essay winners were Sara Cox, girl essayist, finalists, Martha Eaton, Pamela Harris, Lynne Porter, and Pamela Small; boy essayist, Steven Wilson, finalists, Melvin Fletcher, Harvey Segal, and Russell Van Arsdale. Robert Magee was elected by the student body as receiver of the Ohmart-Hinkley Trophy for the Athlete of the Year. Members of the Student Organization for Service were awarded certificates for their exemplary contributions of hard work to the school. As shown by these many honors presented to individual seniors, the Class of 1966 has proved outstanding for the fine students it has produced.

GRADUATION AND BANQUET SPEAKERS—S. Cox, girl essayist; B. Hess, girl historian; Steven Wilson, boy essayist; John McKernan, boy historian; Peter McEvoy, parting address.

BANGOR HIGH SCHOLARS—Marilyn Ornstein, Lynne Porter, Roberta Upton, Patricia Webster, Sherry Broder, Deborah Viner, Sheila Berman, Susan McInnis, Sharon Rogers, Martha Eaton, Sandra Spearen, Donna Bridges, Pamela Harris, Mary Ellen Knowles, Marjorie Griffin. Absent—Theresa Cormier, Renee Delano, Judith Downes, Peter McEvoy, Harvey Segal.

Before you accept that first job . . .

Look over your employer
as carefully as he does
you

What's the Company like anyway? Would I be proud to work there? Reputation for square dealing with employees? Pleasant surroundings?

Will I be working with others my own age? Are they friendly? Do they socialize after hours?

Will the boss be reasonable? Appreciate good, hard work, but won't explode if I make a mistake?

Will I make a decent week's pay? Have a chance for raises, advancement, more responsibility? How about fringe benefits?

Is the work challenging? I had what it takes to get through high school. Will they give me a chance to use my brains?

Note: Many young men and women in this area can answer "Yes" to these questions. They work for New England Telephone Company . . . New England's largest employer.

Why not talk with our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate? Ask your Guidance Counselor to tell you when and where to apply.

WE'RE HEADQUARTERS FOR THE SCOUT

America's new work or play wonder! The Scout is a whole new idea in low-cost transportation. It's a hardtop pickup that hauls good-sized loads one minute—the next, it's an open-air runabout that carries three passengers in the front and more in the rear. Optional all-wheel drive makes it an off-road workhorse, too. An optional Travel-Top converts it into a town delivery. But no matter where the Scout goes, a thrifty new INTERNATIONAL four-cylinder Comanche engine saves on gas and oil.
